Runaway Soldier Kills 3

GOETTINGEN, Germany (UPI)—A runaway U. S. Army sergeant shot and killed two military guards and a waitress aboard the Alpine Express today, dumped their bodies out the windows and fled with two pistols into countryside near the East German border, police said.

Police helicopters buzzed over the underbrush and busy highways south of this central German town, about nine miles west of the barbed-wire border, in search of Sgt. Thomas De Gregorio, 26, of Hialeah, Fla. and the 1st Armored Division.

Men with guns, dogs and loudspeakers—both police and West German troops—beat the bush on foot and German radios broadcast warnings about "an American soldier on the loose, armed and considered dangerous."

One terrified female motorist told police "a man in uniform, waving a pistol," tried to flag her down on a highway southwest of Goettingen. He got a faceful of gravel and exhaust fumes, she said, but police could not say whether that was their man.

Official police spokesmen sketched this scenario of murder aboard the Alpine Express:

De Gregorio, they said, had been absent-without-leave (AWOL) from his 1st Armored outfit since Tuesday. U. S. military police confirmed he had been arrested Wednesday trying to cross into Denmark and had been picked up by two unidentified U.S. army sergeants at Bremerhaven, Germany, Thursday for return to base in Bamberg.

They boarded the Copenhagen-Rome express at Bremerhaven. About 1 a.m., they said, De Gregorio made his play for freedom as the express rocketed along just north of Goettingen.

It happened in Wagon One, first car behind the engine, where De Gregorio and the two escorting sergeants were seated. A waitress was working somewhere nearby. One or both of the sergeants got careless, perhaps dozed a bit, and the butt of a .45 caliber pistol hung free.

In the police reconstruction, De Gregorio grabbed it and blazed away. One bullet tore through a wall, others mowed down the sergeants and the waitress. Police speculated she was killed because she saw the shooting or perhaps because she came to investigate.

De Gregorio rode another 18 miles into Goettingen before he left the train and escaped, police said.

They marked the distance by the location of the battered bodies found along the track—the soldiers close together near the little town of Edesheim, the waitress closer to Goettingen.

Panic blurred the memories of witnesses to De Gregorio's escape, police said. The engineer at dirst said the soldier had jumped from the moving train as it approached Goettingen, but later recalled him stepping onto the station platform with pistol drawn. A conductor said he heard an exit door being forced open in midjourney.

U. S. Army spokesmen confirmed De Gregorio's identity and the essentials of the incident. They said he was a second-hitch soldier who had joined the Army in 1966.

San Rafael Building Permit Curb Lifted

New Criteria; Some Construction Allowed

By NELS JOHNSON

The San Rafael City Council last night lifted a three-day-old ba›n on issuance of building permits after deciding what kinds of projects in the city have a trivial impact on the environment.

The council adopted interim criteria enabling construction work not requiring an environmental impact statement, acting on the heels of a state Supreme Court ruling requiring impact statements for all major developments having a "nontrivial" effect on the ecology.

The council had halted issuance of all building permits last Monday after learning of the ruling.

In a decision handed down Sept. 21, the court interpreted the state's Environmental Quality Act of 1970 as requiring environmental impact reports for private as well as public developments.

The decision has brought new development throughout the county and the state to a standstill.

The council exempted projects in the following categories from the court ruling:

All development for which a buiding permit has been issued, though permits will not be renewed if construction does not begin, and all development processed by the city except for the issuance of a building permit, provided financial obligations equal to the project's total value have already been made.

Construction of individual single-family residences and duplex residences, construction of garages or swimming pools, landscaping or any alteration or repair of existing buildings.

Demolition of structures in accordance with the uniform building code, zoning ordinance text amendments, lot-line relocations or building moratorium permits.

The council also said any application evaluated by staff as trivial is exempt, provided the planning commission agrees.

The council also agreed with the public works department that permits for grading less than 250 cubic yards, a number of encroachment permits and sanitary sewer permits are trivial.

The council adopted the interim criteria list after hearing staff urge a liberal exemption policy.

"My own personal feelings are in sympathy with the developers. I would prefer to be as liberal as possible," said City Atty. Fred E. Robbins Jr. The attorney said he would prefer environmentalists to take the city to court on the matter.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner told the council not to

GAO Claims McGovern Violations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The General Accounting Office today referred o the Justice Department three "apparent violations" of the new campaign spending law by fundraising committees for Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern.

The GAO also said it found many instances of inadequate bookkeeping by McGovern's campaign committee which could require similar action unless "properly resolved."

Lawrence F. O'Brien, McGovern's campaign chairman, told a news conference he was confident that any violations were "technical." The Democrats, he added, have disclosed "everything."

In its findings referred to the Justice Department, the GAO said:

—The Business and Professional Men and Women for McGovern did not comply with requirements pertaining to box office sales of tickets for a McGovern rally at Madison Square Garden in New York on June 14.

—Apparent violation of the law in acceptance of contributions from foreign nationals by a British committee called Americans Abroad for McGovern.

—An apparent violation of the law by the National Labor Committee to Elect McGovern-Shriver in publishing a political advertisement in "five major newspapers without identifying the CWA (Communications Workers of America), COPE Political Contribtions Committee and its officers as persons responsible for advertisement by virtue of having orderd and paid for the advertisement." The report by the GAO —the Congressional overseer of government spending —covers the first portion of an audit of the financial operations of the McGovern for President —D.C. Committee, undertaken by the Office of Federal Elections.

Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, chairman of the Republican National Committee, filed complaints with the GAO fol-

Thieu To Quit In New Peace Plan

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu will offer to resign under terms of a new Allied peace proposal which calls for total U.S. withdrawal and an end to North Vietnamese infiltration of the south, informed sources said today.

The new plan will be proposed by Allied negotiators prior to the Nov. 7 U.S. presidential election, American and South Vietnamese sources said.

The sources said the plan was discussed in detail by White House envoy Maj. Gen. Alexander Haig during his conferences with Thieu Tuesday and Thursday.

They said it would provide:

—Total U.S. withdrawal from South Vietnam.

—Thieu's resignation in favor of Sen. Nguyen Van Huyen, speaker of South Vietnam's Senate and former law partner of Nguyen Huu Tho, an official of the Viet Cong's Provisional Revolutionary Government.

—An end to the U.S. bombing

Paris Reds, White House Deny Reports

LONDON (UPI)—The Times of London said today there is "reason to believe" that the United States and North Vietnam have reached broad agreement on ending the Vietnam War, but authoritative sources in the Nixon administration said the story was untrue.

At the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the story is "totally speculative ... it doesn't merit a comment." The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks also denied the report. The denial coincided with new attacks on President Nixon by Hanoi Radio and the New China News Agency.

The dispatch in the Times, regarded as one of the most respected newspapers in the world, quoted no sources. It said:

"There is now reason to believe that a broad agreement on Vietnam has already been

Jobs Rise By 250,000, Unemployment Goes Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's unemployment rate edged downward in September from 5.6 to 5.5 per cent while the number of persons with jobs continued the steady rise that began more than a year ago.

The new employment report, made public today by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said that after adjustment for seasonal factors, the number of persons with jobs increased 250,000 in September to an all-time high of 82.2 million. That was nearly 3. million more than in June, 1971.

The actual number of employed persons declined about 1.5 million in September as students quit summer jobs to return to classrooms, but this was less than normal for September so that employment rose on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The bureau said the number of unemployed workers totaled 4.7 million in September, down about 200,000 from August. That was about normal, and the bureau described the overall job-

$60 Million Suit Filed On Prop. 22

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A $60 million class action suit was filed in Superior Court Thursday by persons who said their signatures were "forged" or "misappropriated" on qualifying petitions for proposition 22, the farm labor initiative.

The measure already has been the subject of an earlier uuit filed by Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., to remove the proposition from the November ballot because of what he called "fraudulent and misleading representations made to signers."

The civil suit filed Thursday was brought in the name of Jay Katz, 31, Van Nuys, charging proponents of the initiative with invasion of privacy.

Katz' attorney, Theodore Wolfberg, said Katz was asked to sign a qualification petition for proposition 22 but refused. Later, Katz was shown a petition by investigators bearing his name, the attorney said.

"His signature was forged," Wolfberg said.

Wolfberg estimated that as many as 6,500 signatures had been forged or misappropriated in Los Angeles County alone.

The suit seeks $10 million in damages and $50 million in punitive damages. It charged the signature collectors "exploited the plaintiffs' names and reputation in support of qualifying proposition 22."

Defendants in the suit include: the Fair Labor Practices Committee, chief proponent of the measure; Alan Blanchard and Associates, a San Francisco-based collector of signatures; American Advertising and Sales, hired to collect signatures in Los Angels County; Joy Jameson Jr., the measure's listed proponent; William Queale; a coordinator of signature collectors, and 500 unnamed signature-collecting firms and individuals.

REGISTRATION ENDS ON SUNDAY

Midnight Sunday is the deadline to register to vote in the Nov. 7 general election. Most fire stations will have registration forms available through the weekend.

County Elections Officer Peter C. Meyer said total registration already was over 120,000, an unprecedented ratio compared to the county's total population of about 206,000. Registration in the June primary was 106,000.

Planners Reject Waterfront Bid

By PAT ANGLE

A multimillion dollar residential-commercial-recreational development proposed for the Sausalito waterfront was flatly rejected last night by the city planning commission.

Chairman Robert L. Nissen said the commission turned down an application for a conditional use permit for the project because it opposes further intense residential development on the northern waterfront.

The development, planned for the 30-acre Schoonmaker property in Marinship, calls for 223 residential units, a motel, restaurant, commercial area and marina on land between Napa and Spring streets.

The vote, which followed approximately an hour's discussion, was 3-1, with Commissioner Thomas Brown dissenting and Commissioner Thomas H. Gildersleeve absent.

Nissen said he balked "because I think such a development would have the effect of turning Marinship into a chiefly residential area. I believe the Marinship should be devoted primarily to water-oriented activities and commercial and industrial uses, with some limited residential development," he added.

Henry W. Alexander, spokesman for O'Meara-Chandler, Texas development kirm proposing the project, said the company was "extremely surprised" by the commission's quick rejection of the plans. Last night marked only the second time the proposal had been before the commission.

"We understood the meeting with the planning commission was for preliminary discussion of the changes the commission would like to see made in the

Redwood, San Rafael Clash In Key Game

Four football games will be played simultaneously in Marin County tomorrow afternoon, with the headliner pitting undefeated Redwood (3-0) against San Rafael (2-1) in a key Marin County Athletic League contest at 1 o'clock at Redwood.

Tamalpais will host Drake and College of Marin will entertain Gavilan College of Gilroy, both at 1 p.m., and San Marin will host Terra Linda at Novato, 1:30. Marin Catholic will play St. Patrick's in Vallejo at 8 p.m.

Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park will meet Sonoma at Durst Field in Petaluma at 8 o'clock tonight, while tomorrow's action finds Esparto at Tomales at 2 p.m., Petaluma against Montgomery at Bailey Field in Santa Rosa, at 8 p.m., and St. Vincent hosting Willits at Durst Field, also at 8 p.m.

See Sports for details.

Some Public Offices To Close On Monday

Monday's holiday, caused by a switch in the calendar of Columbus Day which formerly occurred on Oct. 12, will be observed by some public offices in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties but not others.

All schools, banks and stores will operate as usual, as will parking meters in San Rafael and Sausalito.

There will be no regular postal service.

Courts at the Marin Hall of Justice will be closed but other county offices at the Civic Center will remain open as county employees traded the holiday for the day after Thanksgiving.

Sonoma County offices and courts will be closed.

City offices which will remain open are Novato, Larkspur, Sausalito, San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax.

Closing for the day will be Corte Madera, Belvedere, Tiburon, Mill Valley, Petaluma, Rohnert Park and Cotati city offices.

Public meetings rescheduled include the Tiburon City Council and the Fairfax City Council, both postponed to 8 p.m. Tuesday in the usual places.

The Mill Valley Planning Commission meeting has been canceled. The commission will meet next at 8 p.m. Oct. 24.

$18.5 Billion Welfare Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reaching back to two old New Deal programs—Social Security and Welfare—the Senate passed an $18.5 billion bill early today in a costly effort to lift millions from poverty.

At 1:03 a.m., after eight days of debate which climaxed with a final 16-hour and 33-minute session, the Senate adopted the most massive revision of those well-established programs with a simple purpose: to fight poverty with cash.

The 68-5 vote by which the measure was adopted belied the bitterness with which liberals fought welfare revisions they called repressive.

California's two Democratic Senators, Alan Cranston and John Tunney, both voted for the bill.

Because of its size, the bill faces a potential veto. But it is expected to be cut back sharply in the final legislative process before enactment.

It expands the Social Security program, broadens Medicare health insurance for the elderly and for the first time guarantees a nationwide minimum income for three million needy aged, blind and disabled adults on welfare.

It also imposes $6 billion in new taxes—the ninth Social Security tax increase in 12 years for 90 million working people.

The increase would amount to 54 per cent for people earning $12,000 a year. It is not that steep for those who earn less, but all will pay higher payroll taxes. So will their employers.

The measure fails to cope with its original goal—reform of the welfare system which supports 11 million needy mothers and children.

A hopelessly divided Senate instead left the system intact for the next five to eight years while authorizing experiments with competing concepts on how to induce those on welfare to take jobs.

House and Senate conferees will meet behind closed doors next week to reconcile the Senate measure with a bill passed by the House 15 months ago which costs half as much.

Unless they cut its scope sharply, the measure may be vetoed by President Nixon.

Dinner For Chinese

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers entertained Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Chiao Kuan-hua with a dinner of lobster and chicken Thursday night in a precedent-setting occasion that U.N. Ambassador George Bush said indicated "we've come a heck of a long way."

The banquet in Rogers' sumptuous 19th-floor apartment overlooking the United Nations was the first time a high-ranking official of the Peoples Republic of China had been the guest of a U.S. government leader in this country.

Although the evening was "more social than substantive," Rogers said they discussed increasing trade contacts and the "improved relations between our two countries."

Philippine Arrests

MANILA (UPI) — Philippine military authorities today reported the arrest of 14 more persons under President Ferdinand E. Marcos' martial law proclamation to raise the number of arrests in the Manila area to 217. The latest group held included a woman gossip columnist and two other journalists.

Information Secretary Francisco Tatad also announced the arrest of a police lieutenant on suspicion of smuggling 2,000 guns into the country. He said police antinarcotics agents had raided another "heroin laboratory" and sealed it pending a search of the premises in suburban Quezon City.

Tatad said it was the fourth narcotics lab discovered since martial law was proclaimed Sept. 23.

Meany Petitioned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring the re-election of President Nixon would "constitute a grave danger," the head of the Butchers Union has asked President George Meany of the AFL-CIO to give up his neutral positon and support Democrat George S. McGovern.

Patrick Gorman, the meat cutters president, sent Meany a telegram Thursday asking the AFL-CIO president to reconvene the federation's executive council to reconsider the earlier decision to remain neutral in the presidential contest.

Gorman complained Meany was criticizing McGovern while trying to "gag" AFL-CIO state and local central labor councils from criticizing Nixon or supporting McGovern.

Security Tightened

BONN (UPI) — Authorities today tightened security precautions at Jewish centers for fear of Arab retaliatory strikes against the banning of two radical Palestinian organizations, police said.

A police spokesman said extensive security measures imposed in the wake of the Israeli Olympic team massacre in Munich Sept. 5 "have been further strenghtened."

He declined to elaborate.

Kahane Released

TEL AVIV (UPI) — A judge released Rabbi Meir Kahane, head of the Jewish Defense League (JDL), from jail on $9,500 bail today but barred him from leaving Israel so long as he is suspected of trying to ship weapons abroad for anti-Arab terror attacks.

"Counterterrorism against the Arabs is necessary," Kahane told reporters after the court session. "It's about time a counterterror group was set up ... it's about time somebody started worrying about Jews of the world who are targets because of Israel."

As yet, no charges have been filed against Kahane, who was arrested last Sunday.

Prosecution Rests

FT. ORD (UPI) — The prosecution of the court-martial of Pvt. Billy D. Smith rested its case Thursday after presenting testimony that a pin found in his pocket came from a grenade that killed two officers.

Defense attorneys indicated that, when they begin their case Monday, an expect witness will rebut the testimony about the grenade pin. The testimony was believed to be the first of its kind offered in a criminal trial.

Peace Pact Signed

MOGADISHU, Somalia (UPI) — Uganda and Tanzania signed a document which "demonstrated a genuine desire to a lasting solution" for peace between the two East African countries, it was announced late Thursday.

Ugandan Foreign Minister Wanume Kibedi and his Tanzanian counterpart, John Malecela, shook hands after signing the document at the conclusion of the two-day peace talks arranged by Somali Foreign Minister Omer Arteh.

Details of the agreement were not announced.

Irish Talks Urged

BLACKPOOL, England (UPI) — The British Labor party today demanded an urgent new attempt by the government for all-party talks aimed at a political solution of the Northern Ireland crisis.

A statement by the party leadership, approved overwhelmingly by its annual rank-and-file convention, called for:

Ending of imprisonment without trial of suspected members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Replacement of the Special Powers Act, which dissolved the Ulster Parliament and put the violence-torn province under direct British rule.

A new attempt to convene all-party talks, first between political parties in Britain and Ulster and later including representatives of the Dublin Parliament.

Would Ignore Court

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Rep. John G. Schmitz, the American Party presidential candidate, said Thursday he would feel free to ignore the Supreme Court when it "legislated," such as on school busing.

"As president I would not feel obligated to execute the Legislative edicts of the Supreme Court or any federal court. That is a power grab," Schmitz said at the windup of a two day Connecticut campaign tour. "I would not feel obligated to execute any laws except those passed by Congress."

Schmitz said this particularly included court mandates to integrate schools through busing.

Raid In Ireland

BELFAST (UPI) — A commando unit of the militant Protestant Ulster Defense Association UDA crossed the Irish border for a raid into the Irish Republic and seized arms and explosives from the Irish Republican Army headquarters said today.

British troops shot and killed a gunman and hit two others in a battle in a Belfast Roman Catholic area — the 600th person to die in three years of bloodshed between Ulster's religious communities. Another man was killed last night when a bomb-laden beer barrel exploded in a pub.

TAKING POSITIONS — Civilians and local forces yesterday took up positions to defend the town of Dong My Tay against a Viet Cong attempt to overrun it. Meanwhile, the heaviest B52 strikes in three years were ordered in the Saigon area yesterday and today. (UPI Telephoto)

Red Troops Launch Drive Near Saigon

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops today launched attacks on government units within seven miles of Saigon, blocking traffic on a major highway and infiltrating at least five hamlets in what military sources said was a "critical threat" to the capital.

Major fighting was reported swirling around Phu Cuong, capital of Binh Duong Province about 13 miles north of Saigon, and snipers were firing on military vehicles on Highway 13 just north of the capital, the sources said. They said residents were being told to store rice for one to two months and that wounded soldiers would be treated "at their posts," not evacuated to hospitals.

Allied commanders have predicted the Communists will try to isolate Saigon in advance of the Nov. 7 U.S. presidentil elections. To blunt the threatened offensive, the U.S. command for the past three days has been sending U.S. B52 bombers against suspected Communist positions near the capital and the big planes overnight struck nearby targets in the heaviest raids in the area in more than three years.

"The Saigon region is faced with a critical threat," one officer said.

Command spokesmen said at least 42 B52s dumped an estimated 1,260 tons of explosives on suspected Communist positions around Saigon late Thursday and today, rattling windows and doors in the capital in the heaviest strikes since early 1969.

In the air war, clearing weather over North Vietnam Thursday enabled the U.S. command to order the heaviest air raids of the week above the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) separating the two Vietnams. Command spokesmen said more than 300 bombing strikes were flown over the North, including night missions by F111 all-weather fighter-bombers.

Military spokesmen said Air Force F4 Phantom crews escorting a flight of other fighter-bombers intercepted Communist MIG21 jets and one of the North Vietnamese planes was shot down with an air-toair missile about 50 miles southwest of the major port city of Haiphong. No U.S. planes were hit, spokesmen said, but Radio Hanoi monitored in Saigon said three Phantoms and a Navy photo reconnaissance plane were shot down Thursday.

An Air Force F4 returning from a mission over North Vietnam today crashed from unknown causes over Laos, the U.S. Command said. The two crewmen were rescued, one with a broken arm.

A Many-Legged Aching Tooth

LONDON (UPI)—A centipede crawled out of 38-year-old Ruth Abrahams aching tooth after dentist Barnet Kopkin extracted it, according to the British Dental Journal.

"It probably crawled in while she was asleep with her mouth open," and presumably nestled in a cavity, reported Kopkin.

Raymond Cries But Doesn't Talk

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Four-year-old Raymond Luce awakens in his hospital bed "crying and screaming" but will not say what happened to him when abducted from in front of his home.

Detectives said last night that Raymond would not even say a word to his parents about what happened during the 51 hours he was missing.

The boy disappeared while riding his tricycle Monday. A park ranger found him in the Oakland Hills on Wednesday.

Raymond was suffering from bruises, shock, exposure and dehydration. The latest reports from doctors at Children's Hospital said, however, he was in good condition and making satisfactory progress.

Police said they were looking for a man in his early 30s. Raymond's playmates told police the kidnaper was wearing an orange shirt and driving a brown car.

The boy's father, Ralph Luce, 29, a truck driver, told a news conference that Raymond spent a fitful night, waking every hour or so, "crying and screaming."

Dr. Sid Frank said it was not known how long Raymond was in the hills but, when found, "he could only have lasted probably another couple of hours."

Frank said there were no indications Raymond had been sexually molested. He added the bruises on his body could have resulted from a beating or a fall.

Police said that because of the rugged area where the boy was found they did not believe he walked or wandered there by himself.

They speculated extensive news coverage of his disappearance alarmed the kidnaper to such an extent that he released the boy and fled.

Bulgaria, U.S. To Hold Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Early next year Bulgaria will send a high level delegation to the United States for talks aimed at improving relations between the two countries.

Plans for the meeting were announced Thursday by the State Department. There have been few contacts between the Balkan nation and the United States since World War II.

State Department sources said Bulgaria appeared particularly interested in increasing trade with the United States and promoting sientific and technological exchanges.

Prolific Designer, Wife Die In Garage

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Few Americans knew of Henry Dreyfuss, but there were few whose lives were not touched by his designs.

For the chances are that quite recently, the average person has talked into, shaved with, washed in, rode in, sat upon, worked with, wrote with, eaten from, subscribed to, consulted, worn or been cleaned by something that Dreyfuss designed.

One of the world's leading and most prolific industrial designers, his closest business associate was his wife, who ran his office and finances so he could concentrate on design.

The two were found dead in their Mercedes-Benz Thursday, parked in the garage of their elegant hillside home.

Dreyfuss, 68, and his wife Doris Marks, 69, killed themselves in a "jignified" suicide, as a police investigator termed it.

Dreyfuss designed the dial, princess, push button and dataphone telephones. He designed the interiors of the 20th Century Limited passenger train, the Boeing 707 jetliner, and the ocean liners Constitution and Independence.

He also designed potato peelers, fly swatters, razors, clocks, pens, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, air conditioners, radio and television sets, door knobs, faucets, typewriters, cameras, fire extinguishers, and tractors.

The 200-foot perisphere that stood at the 1939 world's fair in New York was another of his designs. He also designed trademarks, and revamped formats of such magazines as Time, Life and Reader's Digest.

Mrs. Dreyfuss graduated from Vassar with a psychology degree in 1923 and ran the business side of his efforts under her maiden name. The Los Angeles Times named her Woman of the Year in 1963.

It was believed Dreyfuss designed the glass-walled home where the couple was found dead Thursday. Dreyfuss was dressed in a smoking jacket and slacks, his wife in a nightgown and wrapped in a blanket. They were slumped in the front seat of their silver Mercedes.

A plastic hose ran from the exhaust pipe into the car's front window. The gap was filled with plastic foam.

"We don't want to talk about the details," a police lieutenant said. "They were a dignified couple who did this thing in a pleasant and dignified a way as possible."

U.S. 'Should Follow European Custom'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of the American College of Surgeons said Thursday the United States should follow the European custom of restricting the number of medical school graduates who can enter surgical or speciality training.

Dr. William Longmire Jr. said the number allowed to specialize should not exceed the health needs of the country. He warned that unplanned, unguided expansion in the medical field could result in overpopulation in some specialties, without helping current deficiencies.

Blues And Jazz For McGovern

Two fund-raising blues and jazz concerts will be held this month by the Marin McGovern for President Committee.

Blues singer John Lee Hooker will appear on Oct. 16 at the Lion's Share in San Anselmo, with performances at 9 and 11 p.m. Also on the bill will be a group called the Natural Act.

The Cal Tjader quintet and jazz pianist Vince Guaraldi will perform at the Trident in Sausalito from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Oct. 23.

BART Crash Hearing Delayed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Public Utilities Commission postponed a hearing on a Bay Area Rapid Transit accident until Oct. 10.

The hearing, called by the PUC to investigate a Monday accident that injured five people at the Fremont station, had originally been scheduled for today.

The commission said Thursday the hearing was postponed at BART's request because the district's own inquiry will still be in progress.

The new PUC hearing was set for 10 a.m. at the main floor auditorium of the Oakland Police Administration Building.

Children And Freighter Sought By Coast Guard

EUREKA, Calif. (UPI) —As the 100-foot yacht Morning Star with nine aboard glided through a pea-soup fog off the Northern California coast, a freighter suddenly bore in on her amidships.

It rammed her broadside, slic ing through the Morning Star like a giant knife and leaving two roughly equal halves which quickly sank.

Four persons made it to the lifeboat and two others were quickly plucked from the water. Owner Hal Lacy, Vancouver, B.C., was pulled from the chilly water four hours later.

But 9-year-old Michelle Lacy and her 11-year-old brother, Ronald, were still missing today.

The Coast Guard today continued the search for the missing children and also sought the identity of the freighter involved in the collision Thursday.

A Coast Guard officer boarded the 536-foot Norwegian cargo vessel Evamo, en route from San Francisco to the Pacific Northwest, which rescued six of the survivors.

They included Lacy's wife, 18-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son and Tom Dennis, Becky Harris, 18, and Greg Duvic, 20.

Dennis, married to Donna, was airlifted by a Coast Guard helicopter and taken to Arcata, Calif., hospital for treatment of a broken leg. He was the only one to need medical aid.

The Morning Star, a converted Navy vessel out of Vancouver, Wash., had left Crescent City, Calif., Wednesday night for a trip to South America. The Coast Guard said visibility was about 50 feet at the time of the accident.

Diked Areas Subject Of Developers' Suit

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Four developers have challenged the jurisdiction of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission over extensive areas that have been diked but still are connected to the bay via culverts.

The developers, in a suit filed in San Francisco Superior Court, said the commission had no legal authority to regulate such areas. The law is unclear on the issue, but such areas are covered by regulations the commission adopted itself.

The developers, doing business as Bayview Properties, specifically asked the court to free them from the commission's claimed jurisdiction over a fill project they plan next to Goodman Lumber Co. in Mill Valley.

The commission rejected their plan last July in an 18-0 vote.

The four are Abe Blumenfeld, David G. Cohn, Edward Goodman and Richard Harris. Their plans envisioned an "extensive future development," including an office building, on the fill.

The commission's executive director, Joseph E. Bodovitz, said state law defined the bay under the commission's jurisdiction as anything "subject to tidal action."

The commission's own regulation defines "subject to tidal action" as including any such area connected to the bay via a culvert. The only exemption under the regulation is an area with a culvert that had an operating tidal gate that could have been closed before the commission was created on Sept. 17, 1965.

The culvert in the Mill Valley case has no such tidal gate, and the suit does not contend that there was a gate.

The developers wanted to fill about three acres of the five-acre marshland, using one acre for lumber yard parking.

7 Kidnaped: Ransom Is $1.2 Million

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—Six schoolgirls and their teacher were kidnaped from a school today by a man demanding $1.2 million ransom, authorities said.

The kidnaper demanded the ransom in a note left on a desk in the classroom of the Faraday School near Castlemaine, 70 miles northwest of here, police said.

The note from the kidnaper said he "will not waste time making threats, but any attempt to apprehend will result in annihilation of hostages."

The girls, aged 5 to 11, and their teacher, Miss Mary Gibbs, were the only persons in attendance at the small school in the tiny rural community. Four other pupils at the school, two boys and two girls, were away sick.

Victorian State Premier Rupert Hammer said in a statement, "The government and police are sparing no effort to find the children. We have tried to cover all eventualities."

He said, "the safety of the children is the first considera tion."

He refused to say what arrangements, if any, had been made to pay the ransom

"hide behind the ruling Let's release all the development we can."

The council agreed with Mayor C. Paul Bettini that "we shouldn't shut down everything on the basis of one court case."

The council agreed with Hotchner's request for additional staff to handle the increased workload of reviewing and developing impact statements for developments deemed nontrivial, although one councilman felt the request premature.

"If you want this job done we need additional personnel. We just can't stretch it any further," Hotchner said.

The planning director warned that the new load would create a new, inadvertent moratorium due to an incapacity to handle any more work. He suggested $20,000 be given the planning department for additional office space, a senior planner and an assistant planner.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen called the request "putting the cart before the horse.

"The whole state is shaking with the court's decision. Everybody's getting frantic." The councilman urged his colleagues to hold off on any additional expenditures to see how the pressure of the ruling would affect the state legislature.

Asst. City Mgr William J Bielser said there may be a "substantial change" in the city's advanced planning section, and suggested the time was right to train new personnel

The council authorized staff to advertise for one senior planner, and set a closed session for Oct. 26 to review applications

Petty Officer 3c Thomas J. Gibson husband of Geraldine E. Dunn Gibson of Mill Valley, and Seaman Daniel P. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Jones of Novato.

Terra Linda Girl Wins Court Order

An attorney from San Rafael who claims school officials, police and parents have done nothing to stop two girls from beating and threatening his daughter at Terra Linda High School won a temporary restraining order in Marin Superior Court yesterday

Judge Joseph G Wilson ordered students Cathy Anello, Janice Spina and their parents plus 60 unnamed persons to stop "annoying, vexing, injuring, threatening, coming near, talking to" or otherwise bothering freshman Denise A. Sangster, 14.

He set a hearing on a permanent order for Oct. 19.

Attorney Richard M. Sangster said in the suit his daughter is afraid to go anywhere alone because of beatings and threats from other girls and is afraid to report assaults because she fears reprisal.

The attorney said the alleged difficulties began in July when Cathy Anello demanded money from his daughter and gave her a bloody nose when the cash wasn't delivered. Miss Anello allegedly threatened to "get her" if the police were told.

T.V. Sets Taken From Store

Owner Keith Burkhart placed the total value of the sets at about $1,800. They were part of a window display.

The burglars used a large steel pipe to break the plate glass window, and did not enter the shop, Larkspur police said. It was believed the break-in occurred about 4 a.m.

Mountain Jog Day To Include Hike

As an adjunct to the "Jog the Mountain Day" being sponsored by the Larkspur Town Meeting group tomorrow, people who don't want to jog Mount Tamalpais can hike it.

Joi Losee of Larkspur said she will lead a group of hikers along the Marin Municipal Water District's southern line road. They should meet at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the west end of Madrone Avenue. The route will go through Baltimore Canyon.

San Quentin Posts To Be Available

Men who wish to apply for jobs as correctional officers at San Quentin may pick up application forms at the main gate Tuesday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., officials said today.

A written examination will be given Oct. 14 and those who pass that will be notified of oral examinations the following week.

RUMOR

reached between Mr. Henry Kissinger (President Nixon's national security adviser) and North Vietnamese representatives during their recent meetings in Moscow and Paris."

Informed American sources in Saigon sad Maj. Gen. Alexander Haig, the No. 2 presidential adviser after Kissinger, told South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu in meetings this week that there had been "new developments" in the Paris Kissinger talks but they were "not necessarily progress" towards peace.

President Nixon, in a news conference Thursday, said, "I will only say that the negotiations are in a sensitive stage. I cannot and will not predict when they will succeed."

Nixon also said that if "we can make the right kind of a settlement before the election, we will make it. If we cannot, we are not going to make the wrong kind of a settlement before the election. We were around that track in 1968 when well-intentioned men made a very, very great mistake in stopping the bombing without adequate agreements from the other side."

In Paris, The North Vietnamese peace delegation formally denied the London Times report. A Hanoi delegation press statement said, "Rumors mentioned today by a British newspaper are without any factual foundation."

"The Paris negotiations continue to mark time because the Nixon administration hangs onto its position of aggression and neocolonialism while intensifying savage war action against the population in the two zones of Vietnam," the statement said.

The U.S. peace delegation said it had no comment on the Times report.

Government officials close to the president insisted that the 12-hour conference was held to discuss only military matters, including plans to defend against an expected Communist offensive in the Saigon area.

Other sources speculated that Thieu gathered his advisers and four corps commanders to fill them in on Haig's discussions.

Haig, an assistant to Kissinger, spent six hours in private talks with Thieu, including a four-hour meeting that took place Thursday.

THIEU

of North Vietnam and the naval blockade of North Vietnamese ports.

In exchange, the North Vietnamese would:

—Free all U.S. prisoners of war.

—Halt all infiltration of South Vietnam, leaving the Communists' war to the Viet Cong.

—Agree to negotiate "seriously" in Paris or elsewhere toward a cease-fire.

The sources described the plan as the Allies' "offer to end all offers" and its rejection would mean a continuation of the conflict.

Thieu has predicted that following a pre-U.S. election Communist "spectacular" in South Vietnam—a series of offensive acts—the war will "fade away for a few dozen months."

The plan appears to be a rephrasing of an Allied offer made last January. However, it would leave open such questions as the allied demand for internationally supervised elections in South Vietnam and a Communist demand for imposition of a coalition government including Communist representatives prior to any election. Presumably, such questions would be decided in the "serious" negotiations.

Huyen was elected Friday to his sixth consecutive term as senate speaker. He has supported the government in its prosecution of the war but opposed it on such matters as the bill which allows Thieu to rule by decree for six months.

Watson Moves From Death Row

Charles (Tex) Watson, originally sentenced to death for his part in the Tate murders, has been transferred from Sa Quentin to the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo, San Quentin officials said today.

There was no fanfare about his transfer which took place last month, officials said.

Watson, 25, who said he killed on orders from clan leader Charles Manson, was reassigned along with other Death Row inmates after the death penalty was declared unconstitutional.

Delay Asked On Approval Of Profit

The Tiburon City Council last night asked Marin County Supervisors not to approve a controversial hilltop housing development near the city until an environmental impact study has been done on the project.

The Highlands, a 128-unit development planned for 32 acres overlooking the Reedlands and Bel Aire subdivisions, is to be considered by supervisors Tuesday. Developer of the planned unit project, which is to include both detached and undetached single-family homes, is Security Capital Corp. of Walnut Creek.

Richard G. Arjo, director of community development, said the council reiterated its stand that the development would create "too high a residential density" in the area.

The highlands has drawn criticism from nearby residents who say the homes would add to already bad sewage, traffic and drainage conditions in the area.

GAO

The GAO said the accounting and record keeping of the McGovern for President —D.C. Committee "has not been adequate to satisfy the disclosure objectives of the Federal Eelection Campaign Act of 1971."

It said, for example, the reporting of transfers between the committee and other McGovern committees was "replete with errors and inconsistencies which have made tracing and auditing of these transactions very difficult."

The GAO said, "More importantly, these errors and inconsistencies tend to frustrate the disclosure objectives of the act."

The GAO also referred to the Internal Revenue Service information developed in response to the allegation by Dole that McGovern campaign fund raising efforts have been designed to illegally avoid federal gift tax payments in connection with contributions by Hugh Hefner, publisher of Playboy Magazine, and other large contributors.

The GAO said it had identified contributions by Hefner and Stewart Mott, a General Motors heir and philanthropist, to various McGovern campaign committees having identical officers "which may or may not present questions of tax liability."

REJECT

project plans," Alexander said. "We certainly didn't understand that any decision was to be made."

He chastised the commission for "turning down several hundred hours of work by architects and planners after only about an hour's consideration."

Alexander said the developer would appeal the decision to the Sausalito City Council.

Under the proposed development, residential units would be divided into 87 townhouses and 136 condominium units. Also planned is a 130-room motel, a 16,800-square-foot restaurant, a 114-berth marina, a boatyard and 77,000 square feet of commercial space.

The proposal envisions parking for 1,068 cars and would require 2.1 acres of bay fill.

Although O'Meara-Chandler has not yet purchased the Schoonmaker property — which includes 10 acres of water area — it has an option on the land.

Plans for the development were prepared by the San Francisco architectural firm of Worster, Bernardi and Emmons which also designed Ghirardelli Square.

Proposition 2 Is Endorsed

The executive committee of Marin Aid to Retarded Children has endorsed Proposition 2 on the November ballot.

The $155.9 million bond measure would finance construction, equipment and site acquisition for health science facilities at the University of California.

Committee chairman J. Lawrence North said that "the cost of health care is inevitably tied to the supply of skilled health professionals, thus it is in the interest of every family in the State of California that the state's capacity for training health professionals be substantially expanded."

Proponents of the measure ay it will permit a 73 per cent increase in the number of students that can be admitted.

JOBS

less rate as vitually unchanged for the fourth consecutive month.

At the White House, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the statistics, although essentially unchanged, "indicate a continued and orderly expansion of the economy."

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said he still expected the jobless rate to fall to the "neighborhood" of 5 per cent by year-end. He declined to define the margin of "neighborhood," but said it was lower than the present 5.5 per cent.

"We're not satisfied with 5.5 per cent," Stein said. "We said we're going to get it down and we will."

The jobless rate for Vietnam War-era veterans dropped from 7.7 per cent to 6.6 per cent, marking the first time in nearly two years that it was below 7 per cent. But jobless rates for most categories of workers showed little change in September.

The bureau said average weekly earnings of factory workers went up $1.51 in September to $138.75.

Over the past year, average weekly earnings have increased 7.1 per cent, more than twice the 2.9 per cent increase in consumer prices, the report said.

The report on the September job situation came a month before the presidential election, and its effect on the campaign between President Nixon and Democrat George S. McGovern was not easy to assess.

Whereas the September rate was one half of one per cent below the 6 per cent unemployment level that prevailed for 19 months until May of this year, it still did not represent the major decline in joblessness to near the 5 per cent mark that the administration has been hoping for before the election.

Part of the administration's problem in rejucing the unemployment rate is that the employment rolls, boosted by the influx of Vietnam veterans on the job market, have been growing at a record rate.

On Thursday, in a more favorable economic report, the Labor Department reported that wholesale prices in September rose 0.3 per cent, the smallest increase since April.

American In Syria To Get Spy Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Jonathan Bates, a New York City graduate student, apparently will be tried for espionage in Syria starting Nov. 2, the State Department said Thursday.

Department spokesman John F. King said Bates was arrested in Syria last February but that the State Department did not know of his plight for months. King said Bates was reported in good physical condition and that his father, Ralph Bates, a retired professor at New York University, had been told by the Syrians that he could visit his son.

OBITUARIES

San Quentin Counselor Found Dead

San Quentin correctional counselor Ralph E. Fowler, 57, was found dead yesterday near his Greenbrae home, apparently the victim of a heart attack which occurred during a customary early morning jog.

Fowler was found by his wife, Ginger, about 7:20 a.m., according to Deputy Coroner Donald L. Cornish. He said she had become concerned about her husband when he failed to appear for work yesterday and did not return home.

He apparently had collapsed while jogging before work, falling over a low fence and down a steep slope near 250 Vista Grande.

Fowler was born in Turon County, Kan.

He joined the Navy in 1935, serving 25 years and retiring as a lieutenant commander. His World War II service included assignments in the China, Philippines and European theaters.

Later he served as naval adviser to the commanding general of the Sixth Army at the Presidio of San Francisco.

After he left the Navy in 1960, Fowler went to work as a correctional officer at San Quentin. He rose in rank to a lieutenant and then for the past few years served as a correctional counselor.

Fowler attended San Francisco State College, University of Hawaii, University of California, College of Marin and Lassen Junior College.

His survivors include his wife, of the family home at 182 Corte Anita; a daughter, Catherine, and a son, Thomas.

FANNIE LEHRER

Fannie Lehrer, 70, of Mill Valley, died yesterday apparently, of a heart attack, while taking a Golden Gate Transit bus from San Francisco to Marin.

Mrs. Lehrer, who had lunched in San Francisco with her husband, Siegmund, told him she wanted to take a nap on the bus and sat a few seats away from him, according to Keith C. Craig, coroner's investigator.

When the bus approached Sausalito, attempts to awaken Mrs. Lehrer failed and a fire department resuscitator was called for. She was pronounced dead about 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Lehrer was born in New York City She and her husband, Siegmund, moved to Mill Valley 18 years ago. For about 10 years they owned a tailoring business in that community on Throckmorton Avenue, retiring eight years ago.

The family home is at 405 Panoramic Highway.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Lehrer is survived by three sons, Murray Lehrer of Middletown, N.J.; Alfred Lehrer of Woodland Hills, Los Angeles County, and Gabriel Lehrer of San Rafael; two sisters, Rose Freifeld of Miami and Reba Posner of Flushing, N.Y.; a brother, Leo Schwatz of Brooklyn and eight grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 3 p.m. Monday at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Epileptics Eligible

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Epileptics may obtain Kentucky driver's licenses under a new Public Safety Department regulation, provided they have a physician's statement the condition is controllable by drugs.

HAROLD WRIGHT

Harold J. Wright of 209 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, owner of the Geertz Printing Co., San Francisco, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness.

Wright, who had lived in Marin County for nine years, was a native of San Bruno, and a veteran of World War II.

He is survived by his wife, Nancy, and son Glenn, both of the family home; by a sister, Christina Taylor of Fresno, and by a brother, Armand Alexander of San Bruno.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Evergreen Mortuary of McAvoy O'Hara Co., San Francisco. Burial will be private. The family prefers contributions to a favorite charity.

ALBERT AHERN

Albert J. Ahern, 63, died today in his San Rafael home after a two-month illness.

A native of San Francisco, he lived there all his life until moving to Marin when he retired nine years ago. He resided with his wife, Bonnie, and a daughter, Mrs. Michael Boyd, at 29 Roosevelt Avenue.

Ahern had been a truck driver and mechanic.

He also is survived by his mother, Mrs. Theresa Ahern of Boyes Hot Springs; a second daughter, Mrs. Mario Pujol of Pacifica; three sons, Lawrence Ahern San Francisco, David Ahern of Denver, and Gerald Ahern of San Jose; a brother, John M. Ahern of San Francisco, and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 9:30 a.m. at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. His family asked that memorial contributions go to the American Cancer Society.

D. F. MacDONNELL

Requiem Mass for Donald F. MacDonnell, former San Rafael resident, will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Sebastian's Church, Greenbrae.

Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

MacDonnell, 47, died Sept. 26 in Buenos Aires, where he was resident manager in South America for Bechtel Incorporated's pipeline and production services division.

Until his assignment to South America in 1969, he had lived with his family at 118 Bretano Way, San Rafael.

A native of Mount Pleasant, Mich., MacDonnell joined the Bechtel group of companies in 1947. He had served as special assistant to the corporation's president and as deputy resident manager in Melbourne, Australia.

A Navy veteran of World War II, he attended Ohio Wesleyan University, Central Michigan University, and the University of Iowa.

He is survived by his wife, Stella, and four children, Alie, Donald, Michael and Sandra, all of whom have returned to Marin County from Argentina; two brothers, William T. MacDonnell of Novato and John J. MacDonnell of Kalamazoo, Mich.

The family prefers contributions to the American Heart Association, or to a preferred charity.

Congressional Power Play Seen On Recreation Area

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A proposal to establish the Golden Gate National Recreation Area in San Francisco and Marin has boiled down to a power play between two congressional committees, the military and park enthusiasts.

Because of parliamentary procedures in the waning days of a congressional session, the military and the powerful House Armed Services Committee appeared to have the upper hand in a battle to reduce the proposed acreage of the park.

An Interior and Insular Affairs Committee-approved bill would set aside 34,000 acres from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Point Reyes National Seashore for a park.

The acreage would include 2,685 acres of Forts Barry, Cronkhite, Baker, Mason, Funston and Miley and parts of the Presidio, all taken without consent of the Army.

But Armed Services approved a version of its own Tuesday that would allow military land to be taken only after it has been declared excess by the Defense Department and turned over to the Interior Department for administration.

The Army has said it would immediately declare 1,588 acres excess when the bill is passed and the Armed Services bill would cut the red tape involved in such a transfer of property between government departments.

The Interior Bill, sponsored by Rep. Phillip Burton, D-San Francisco, a member of the committee, was approved in committee Sept. 12, over the objections of the Army, the administration and the Armed Services Committee, which claimed jurisdiction on all bills concerning the military.

Armed Services Committee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., circulated a letter among his colleagues last week saying the House should reject the bill. He cited a letter from Army Secretary Robert F. Froehlke stating the Interior bill would have a strong "adverse impact" on Army missions in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The rules under which the House will be operating when the Burton bill comes up allow action only if two-thirds of the House approves. The Armed Services Committee presumably could muster enough votes to deny approval.

In that case, only Burton, as sponsor, is allowed to amend his own bill and would have the choice of accepting the Armed Services version reducing the 34,000-acre size by 1,100 acres, or face the death of the park altogether.

In its argument opposing the wider Burton bill, the Defense Department said it would cost $87 million to replace the facilities on the lands the bill ordered transferred and $129 million to replace the Presidio facilities, not including the cost of land for relocation.

The Armed Services bill was sponsored by Rep. Charles S. Gubser, R-Calif., a member of the committee.

The Burton bill would take from the Army 812 acres at Ft. Barry, 391 at Fort Cronkhite, 955 at Fort Baker, 24 at Fort Mason, 6 at Fort Funston, 1.7 at Fort Miley and at the Presidio, 170 acres at Baker Beach, 115 at Crissy Army Air Field and 210 from the southern boundary.

The Army would give under the Gubser version 655 acres at Barry, 322 at Cronkhite, 466 at Baker, 100 from Baker Beach in the Presidio and 45 acres from Crissy and none from the other facilities mentioned in the Burton bill.

Attica Guards Due In Court

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—A federal judge has ordered 31 guards at Attica Correctional Facility to show why a hearing should not be held to determine whether they violated a court order prohibiting brutality against inmates.

U. S. District Judge John T. Curtin Thursday ordered the guards to appear Oct. 20.

On Dec. 22, 1971, Curtin issued an injunction prohibiting brutality against Attica inmates. Five inmates at the prison charged they were beaten earlier that year in violation of the order.

The inmates have requested that criminal contempt proceedings be initiated against the guards they allege administered the beatings.

Bay Area Poets To Read Works

Seven Bay Area poets will present their works at a poetry reading at 8 p.m. Oct. 15 at the Tides bookstore in Sausalito.

Participating will be Charles Upton, Douglas Gomke, David Sapp, Marc Hanchett, Milton Weiner, Deborah Weiner, and Tchouki.

Jobs For Vets Is Nixon Goal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration has set the goal of finding jobs and training opportunities for 1,371,900 Vietnam war era veterans during the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

During the 1972 fiscal year, Hodgson said, the goal of 1,038,000 jobs and training positions was exceeded by 260,000.

In August, the unemployment rate for veterans aged 20 to 29 was 7.7 per cent, well above the national average.

Poll Says Vote Of Youth Split

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Nixon and Sen. George McGovern each have 48 per cent of the youth vote, according to a poll.

The poll, commissioned by Saturday Review magazine from Gilbert Youth Research and released Thursday, also indicated that Nixon had an 8 per cent advantage over McGovern among youths out of school.

Persons between 18 and 24 years old were surveyed in the poll, which was conducted in August and consisted of interviews with 2,500 youths across the nation.

Future Farmers Going To K.C.

Two Tomales High School students will leave Tuesday for the National Future Farmers of America onvention in Kansas City, Mo., according to Earl Smith, agricultural advisor at the school.

They are Edward Gilardi, a sophomore, and Steven Byerly, a junior.

They will represent the school and report back on activities of other FFA chapters throughout the nation, Smith said. The pair will return Oct. 14.

Nixon Amnesty, Busing Issues Hit By McGovern

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. George S. McGovern accused President Nixon today of seeking to stir up "fear, anxiety and hate" among the nation's voters by listing amnesty and school busing among the two major issues in the presidential campaign.

Speaking to a meeting of black ministers, McGovern said "when the President of the most powerful country lists as the most important issues amnesty and busing, we are not only in need of prayer, but we are in need of a new President."

The Democratic presidential candidate said the two issues, listed as among the top ones by Nixon at his news conference Thursday, would affect less than 1 per cent of the people and are emotional and can be divisive.

McGovern said Nixon "instead of using these issues to whip up fear, to whip up anxieties and hate," should seek to "reconcile and heal" the nation.

He called it the "sheerest kind of demagoguery to use men tortured in conscience and mind and make them scapegoats for his own murderous and barbaric policies."

Speaking of Nixon's proposal which would seek an end to the busing of school children, McGovern called it "the shabbiest kind of failure for the leadership we need."

As McGovern stumped the Midwest, he carried with him a problem he had sought to resolve more than two months ago—the dropping of Thomas F. Eagleton as his vice presidential running mate.

Eagleton, the personable, young senator from Missouri, stepped down July 31 because McGovern feared that his vice presidential candidate's mental health problems would dominate what he considered the more vital issues in the campaign.

But the Eagleton affair remains a major issue and McGovern faces it almost daily —sometimes bringing it up on his own volition, sometimes in response to questions.

The Eagleton affair, which broke into the spotlight again this week after McGovern, on his own initiative defended his decision and his credibility, was almost certain to remain a topic when the 50-year old South Dakota senator flies to Kansas City, Mo., tonight for a full day of campaigning capped by a speech at the Truman Day Award Dinner in St. Louis Saturday. Eagleton is expected to join him.

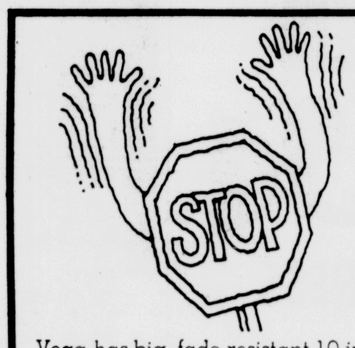
VEGA'S LOW PRICE SHOULD SURPRISE YOU, CONSIDERING:



Vega has big, fade-resistant 10-inch front disc brakes and rear drum brakes for steady stops.

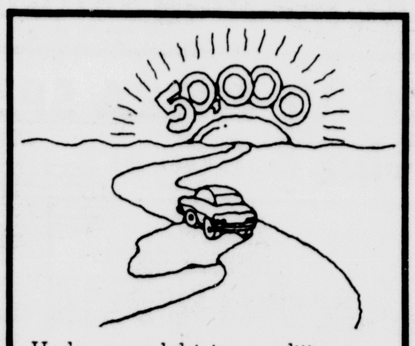
And two steel roofs—not just one. For quiet, the inner roof acts like acoustical tile.



Under normal driving conditions you can go 50,000 miles before Vega's engine air filter needs replacing.

A power ventilation system keeps outside air moving through the car, even with the windows closed.

There's a coil spring at each wheel to help give you a smooth ride, and smooth handling.

The base price of the Vega Notchback Coupe is $2060.* Which makes Vega highly competitive with other economy cars—as you probably already know if you've priced economy cars lately.

And when you consider all you get with Vega, it has to be about the greatest little bargain going.

The readers of Car and Driver magazine think so. They voted Vega "best economy sedan" in 1971, and in 1972. In competition with cars from all over the world.

We cordially invite you to test drive the 1973 Vega. Today? Tomorrow? Soon, at your Chevy dealer's.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price including dealer new vehicle preparation charge. Destination charge, optional equipment, state and local taxes are additional.

Oxidants, light air pollution.

Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.

Carbon monoxide, light air pollution.

Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:

San Francisco, light air pollution.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

3 Drunk Drivers Are Sentenced

Three persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Sentenced Tuesday by Judge Robert A. Smallman were:

Purle Edmond Scobee, 51, of Sunnyvale, arrested Aug. 11 on Highway 101, fined $302 and placed on one year probation.

No Cause Determined In Scaffold Collapse

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —No definite cause has been determined for the collapse of scaffolding under a Sacramento freeway overpass Aug. 24 which killed one person, a construction company official said Thursday.

Robert Wunderlich, division administrative manager for Guy F. Atkinson Construction Co., said investigators may never be able to pinpoint the cause of the huge beams tumbling down when workmen were removing them to complete the overpass.

Nine persons also were injured as a number of cars were struck by the beams. Atkinson was the contractor for the project.

"We are unable to establish a definite reason, and it would be misleading to say anything else," Wunderlich said. "We may never be able to identify the cause."

Sam Helwer, district engineer for the state Division of Highways, said one reason why no positive cause has been established is that the person killed in the accident was the structure superintendent of the project.

Magazine Backs McGovern Bid

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Catholic magazine Commonweal, making a presidential endorsement only for the second time in its 49-year history, Thursday said it supported Sen. George S. Mcgovern.

"He is himself," the magazine said. "He is that rare treasure—the good man in public life.

"Richard Nixon once had a chance to unify the nation and to usher in the 'generation of peace,' but he missed it because something else was more important: the consolidation of his own power. He does not deserve that chance again."

You're Invited to an Exclusive Pre-Opening Sale at Pacific Stereo's Big New San Rafael Store

We're pretty excited about finally getting to Marin County, and we think you'll find some things to get excited about too. First, there's the sale which we're holding Friday through Sunday just for people in Marin. The prices are good only in the new San Rafael store, the items aren't being advertised anyplace else, and admission is only by the coupon in this ad. You might also get to win some of the prizes the coupon gives you a chance at. And the new store at 811 Francisco Blvd. is pretty interesting in itself. With 6300 sq. ft., it really is one of the biggest we've ever opened, and it has everything you'd expect Pacific Stereo to offer: a large varied selection of the very finest stereo components at almost certainly the best prices anywhere, and all covered by definitely the best warranties and service policies. We've done our best to take advantage of the big space in designing colorful, convenient display areas that make it easy for you to listen and compare components in a comfortable way. And no matter how many new stores we open, we still insist on salespeople who are both knowledgeable and concerned about your specific needs. Come down this weekend to see for yourself; there's plenty of free parking and we've worked extra hard to find sale items which will get you to share our excitement.

1 PREPOSTEROUS BUT TRUE: A HARMAN-KARDON SYSTEM FOR $180. If the unusually large $79 saving and the resulting rock-bottom price aren't reasons enough to grab this $180 complete music system, the fact that it features one of our most popular receivers should virtually guarantee a sellout. One reason for the popularity of the 230 is its $159.95 normal price, unusually low for a fine Harman-Kardon AM/FM stereo receiver.

The 230 is rated at 17 RMS watts with both channels driven. It's made on the Harman-Kardon tradition of attractive Black Nocturne styling, and it provides clean wideband sonic transparency. It has provisions for two pairs of speakers, tape monitor facilities, and a loudness switch to compensate for the bass you would otherwise lose at low listening levels. The walnut case is optional.

The BSR 310 is an automatic record player that's a fine value at $49.45, including a base and a Shure M75 cartridge. It's an extremely reliable performer with a cueing lever which makes it awfully hard to scratch a record.

Quadraflex Q11 speakers are excellent small shelf speaker systems which perform very well, especially where space is extremely limited. Their six-inch extended range speakers do a really remarkable job of smooth sound reproduction. Only eight inches deep, they fit on very shallow shelves. They make ideal extension speakers if you later decide to add bigger ones, or you may trade them in at a guaranteed price at Pacific Stereo within a year. At their regular $49.90 a pair price, they represent excellent value.

Price includes Pacific Stereo's 5-year warranty
	To purchase these separately, you would pay:	PACIFIC'S SYSTEM PRICE
Harman Kardon	HK 230 ..... $159.95	$179.95
BSR McDONALD	BSR 310 with base and cartridge.. 49.45
Quadraflex	Quadraflex Q11 (pr) 49.90
	TOTAL $259.30	SAVE $79.35

2 AN ENTICINGLY LARGE SAVING ON A $500 PIONEER SYSTEM. If you're at all familiar with the high quality of Pioneer components, the presence of the versatile Pioneer 727 AM/FM stereo receiver in this $500 music system and the chance to save $136 should tempt you a great deal. With the 727, you can later expand your system in just about any way imaginable; it can accommodate three sets of speakers, two tape recorders with monitoring for both, two record players, stereophones and a microphone. The 727's versatility is matched by its performance. Our tests show 72 RMS watts of power cleanly delivered, and the tuner section achieves 50 decibels of quieting with a very weak FM signal of 2.6 microvolts, so you should get noise-free reception of just about any station on the air. A full range of controls is provided, including separate bass and treble controls for each channel and separate signal strength and center channel meters for precise FM tuning. The Pioneer 727 normally sells for $349.95.

Garrard's SL65B automatic record player has a viscous damped cueing and pause lever that makes it awfully hard to scratch a record even accidentally, and adjustable anti-skate control to keep the needle in the center of the groove and cut down on record wear, and a tubular aluminum tonearm with an adjustable counterweight so you can set the tracking pressure for minimum record wear. Equipped with an ADC 220X cartridge and a base, it normally sells for $85.90.

Quadraflex Q55's are almost certainly the best $200 a pair speaker systems you've heard. Their sound is clean as can be, and their deep bass response and power handling capacity leave very little to be desired. Each walnut finish enclosure has a ten-inch high compliance linear motion bass speaker, a 4½-inch midrange in an acoustic suspension isolation chamber to prevent interference between elements, a three-inch wide dispersion treble speaker, and special taper controls for balancing the three drivers.

Price includes Pacific Stereo's 5-year warranty

3 WELL NIGH PERFECT PERFORMANCE FOR $800. This is a $1000 music system that's worth every penny in terms of its ability to reproduce every note of music on your records or off the airwaves with crystal clarity. The $213 saving makes it just about the most special Pre-Opening Sale special we could think of.

We've tested seven popular AM/FM stereo receivers in the $350 to $450 price range, and the Spectrosonic 310-4 (at $399.95) stole the show. It came in first on total RMS power, features, tuner performance, and overall value ranking. You not only get a huge amount of power (100 RMS watts) delivered across a wide bandwidth, but the way it's delivered also helps to give you the cleanest possible sound throughout the full dynamic range of music. The 310-4 is a direct coupled receiver with nothing between its transistors and the speakers to muddy the sound, and you get better damping for clean, tight bass response. The 310-4 has just about every convenience you'd want, including provision for four-channel adaptors with a front panel control switch. In a word, it really performs.

The Garrard SL72B automatic record player stands out in virtue of having everything it should for first rate record performance and a synchronous motor which can't waver in speed. To keep record wear way down, there's a low-resonance tonearm floating on needle pivots in a gimballed arrangement and viscous-damped cueing in both the automatic and manual modes. An anti-skate control keeps needle pressure even on both sides of the record groove. With a base and the broadcast-quality Stanton 500E elliptical cartridge it normally sells for $116.90.

The Bose 901 direct/reflecting speaker system simply has to be heard to be appreciated. The 901's use a unique design with small cabinets, but they reach as deeply into the bass region as anything and their dispersion of sound is nothing short of phenomenal. How these amazing speakers work is something you'll want to know after you've heard them. The $496 price includes a device called an "active equalizer" which you can ask any salesman about when you come down.

4 OUR LOWEST PRICE FOR A $170 AMPEX TAKE-ALONG STEREO CASSETTE RECORDER. The Ampex Micro 70 is a convenient, compact AC/DC portable cassette recorder/player. You can take it along wherever you go and listen to whatever cassette albums you've made or bought in pre-recorded form. You can also connect it to your stereo system and use it as a deck. The Micro 70 has volume, balance and tone controls plus separate pushbuttons for fast forward, fast rewind, stop, play, record and eject, all of which make it very convenient to use. There's a three-digit counter for finding selections, a switchable automatic record level control, and separate record level meters for each channel. One of them also keeps tabs on the battery condition during playback. The Micro 70 comes with two speakers, a mike, a carrying case and an AC cord; it also has a built-in battery recharger. It's hard to want much more in a portable, and that explains why the original fair trade price was $169.95. But you can get it for $89.95 during our pre-opening sale, so what's stopping you? $89.95

5 A $20 SAVING ON A $200 RECEIVER THAT'S ALREADY A FINE VALUE. Until very recently, the Spectrosonic 110 AM/FM stereo receiver was far and away the best value we knew in its price range. It delivers over 40 RMS watts of power with inaudible distortion, and that's more power than any other receiver in the $200 group we tested. Also, the tuner section has unusually high sensitivity and selectivity to bring you all the airwaves have to offer. It was hard to ask for more in a receiver selling for a mere $199.95. Now we have the new Spectrosonic 110-4, which does indeed have more to offer but at a higher price. We've brought all the 110's we have left to San Rafael so that you can pick one up for $179.95, and it's very unlikely that you'll ever again find this much receiver for so low a price. $179.95

6 A COMFORTABLE $17 SAVING ON VERY COMFORTABLE SENNHEISERS. Sennheiser stereophones are very radical insofar as they're extremely lightweight and comfortable, so much so that you hardly know you've got them on. Instead of a cushion, it's light soft polyfoam against your ears and the sound is really first rate. They almost always sell for $36.95, except during our pre-opening sale. $19.95

7 YOUR FIRST CHANCE TO SAVE OVER $100 APIECE ON ALTEC 846A'S. With the Altec Lansing 846A's you can really sit back and immerse yourself in the music. They have the same big fifteen-inch bass speaker and the horn-type treble speaker used in Altec's professional Voice of the Theatre systems, the ones found in a lot of rock clubs and the kind of theater where you first saw 2001. They'll fill even the largest room with full-range sound and have the efficiency to do it with quite moderate amounts of power. For home use, Altec has put the speakers in a handsome hand-finished walnut cabinet with a fretwork grille, a big floor-standing design they call Valencia. The regular price is $355 each, and we've never had a sale on them before. They should go fast when you can save this much money on something this good. $249.95

8 AN IMPROVED AMPEX C-60 CASSETTE FOR HALF PRICE. We've been selling Ampex C-60 cassettes in great quantities, and like all Ampex tape, they've been very good. Now we have a new series that's even better. Ampex calls them high frequency tapes, and during our pre-opening sale you can get them in the 360-C60 cassette size for half of our normal 99¢ price. ..... 49¢

9 A PAIR OF GOOD STEREOPHONES FOR $2.95. You can, until our present stock runs out, obtain a pair of high quality stereophones, for the above $2.95 price. They sound very good and the price will rise when our pre-opening sale ends. $2.95

10 A DEEP PRICE CUT ON AN $80 AMPEX PORTABLE RADIO-RECORDER. The Ampex Micro 28 is a portable AM/FM radio with a built-in cassette recorder. You can listen to AM or FM and record anything you want to save. You can also play pre-recorded cassette albums. The Micro 28 operates on AC or battery and will even re-charge nicad cells if you want to use and reuse them. It comes with a mike for live recording and with an earphone for private listening. It's a great thing to have around, especially when you can get it for only $49.95 instead of $79.95, the original fair trade price. $49.95

11 AN ADC ELLIPTICAL CARTRIDGE FOR LESS THAN HALF PRICE. The ADC 230XE is a clean reader of record grooves that tracks optimally at 1½ grams. Its elliptical stylus conforms more closely than a conical stylus to the path the cutter took in the record groove, so there's less wear on your records and it's easier for the cartridge to pick up all the music that's in the record grooves. You'll almost certainly never find a good elliptical cartridge at a lower price, so this is a perfect time to find out for yourself how much difference it will make in the sound and the life of your records. Instead of our normal $24.95, the 230XE is going for $9.95 during our pre-opening sale. $9.95

12 A MIRACORD 630 FOR LESS THAN HALF PRICE. The Miracord 630 is a very fine automatic record player that a lot of people considered a good value at $129.50, the original nationally advertised price. During our special pre-opening sale, you can get it for $59.95, the lowest price for which we've ever been able to offer the 630, and it's hard to see how you could possibly get so much for your money any other way.

Miracords are known for their light touch pushbutton operation and their precise cueing mechanism which gently lowers the arm into the exact groove you want. The 630 has an adjustable anti-skate control to cancel the force that tends to make the needle bear more heavily on the inner groove wall, causing distortion and uneven wear on the record. The dynamically balanced tonearm can handle cartridges that track at pressures well below a gram, so you can use the best available if you wish. The heavy weighted turntable is cast and machined for precise balance, helping to keep the speed constant, and its non-magnetic material can't interfere with the cartridge's magnetic field. The powerful motor holds the speed steady and unwavering.

We can't include the base and cartridge at this low price, but you'll find a good deal on a cartridge elsewhere in this ad $59.95

300 Low Noise Blank Cassettes FREE! To People Who Come Early

Pacific Stereo's C60 cassettes contain very good quality low noise-high output tape, and they usually sell for $1.29 each. But we'll give one free one to the first 100 people who ask for them each day of our pre-opening sale.

We're Giving Away Over $1000 Worth of Stereo Gear FREE!

You'll need the coupon in this ad just to get in our new San Rafael store, since the pre-opening sale is for Marin people only. Once you're in, deposit it for the drawing we'll hold on Monday, Oct. 9, and you may win one of these components, all of which are very nice things to have:

- A $200 pair of JBL 75 speaker systems
- A pair of $54.50 Superex PROB-V stereophones
- A pair of $35.95 Superex SST stereophones
- A pair of $24.95 Superex STF stereophones
- Three Stanton 681EE elliptical cartridges, $72 each
- A $99.95 Wollensak 4515 portable cassette recorder with an AM/FM radio
- A $39 BSR TD8S 8-track playback deck
- A $54.95 Pioneer TP222 8-track auto unit
- A $179.50 TEAC A-24 cassette deck
- Two boxes of $2.99 TDK C90 Super Dynamic cassettes (10 cassettes per box)
- A $169.95 Garrard Zero 100 automatic record player
- A $34.95 Shure M91ED elliptical cartridge
- A pair of $49.95 Koss Pro 4AA stereophones

A LIBERAL TRADE-IN POLICY AND A LARGE SELECTION OF GUARANTEED USED GEAR. All our stores have a Halb Blue Book in which the trade-in value of just about every piece of audio equipment ever made is clearly stated.

A RAINCHECK AND A SHORT SUPPLY MERCHANDISE SEARCH. Because we offer such attractively priced merchandise, it sometimes happens that a store runs out of an advertised special before you get there. If that should happen to you, just ask a salesman for a raincheck. We'll then search to try and find the equipment in one of our other stores and your raincheck entitles you to have it at the advertised price for one week.

60 DAY EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES. If you're not happy with what you bought from us within 60 days from the time you bought it you can bring it in and exchange it.

A WRITTEN NO HASSLE 5 YEAR WARRANTY. You get free parts for 5 years and absolutely free labor for 3 years right at the store where you buy on any complete music system we advertise. What you don't get is the fine print or bunch of exclusions you'll find on almost everyone else's warranty form. Our only exclusion is the needle on the record player. This warranty also can be made available for any system you wish to make up.

PROBABLY THE BEST PRICES IN TOWN. We're almost positive nobody will give you a better price on current models of new merchandise than we will. Just in case someone would have or will, we'll be glad to refund the difference or match the price as the case may be within 30 days.

LAY-A-WAYS, BANKAMERICARD, MASTERCHARGE, MONTHLY PAYMENTS, 90 DAY INTEREST FREE ACCOUNTS. Pacific Stereo gives you all the above ways (in addition to cash payments, of course) to make your purchase. Whichever method you choose, you'll find it at Pacific Stereo.

A ONE YEAR SPEAKER TRIAL PRIVILEGE. You have a full year to receive your full purchase price of any speakers costing up to $200 in trade toward costlier speakers you decide you'd rather have.

MANUFACTURER'S WARRANTIES ON ALL PACIFIC STEREO PRODUCTS. Every item at a Pacific Stereo store is fully covered by its manufacturer's warranty. The Service Department is the authorized warranty station for almost all these items and we are prepared to fully carry out the terms of the warranties. "The Place To Buy A Music System"

Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Seven Seas Food, Atmosphere Great — People Watching, Too

One Sausalito restaurant where the food and atmosphere "turn me on" is the Seven Seas on Bridgeway.

The food alone would probably do it, for owner Paul De Moss insists on a well staffed kitchen and the use of quality ingredients. But there is more to it than that.

Actually the Seven Seas is two places in one. There is the front, through which everyone must pass, with its bar and tables. This half invariably is buzzing with cosmopolitan activity. If you like to indulge in people watching, here is the place to sit. During the course of your meal you'll have plenty of material. But remember — you are also on parade. Don't be self conscious if you find yourself under scrutiny. It's part of the game to watch and be watched.

In the rear — and you have to go through the kitchen to get there — is a patio, a more conventional dining area. It's quite nicely decorated and is like being outdoors with inside comfort. This is a trick done with a lot of greenery, a Rollamatic roof that opens to the sky so quietly you're not even conscious of its movement, and outdoor radiant heaters that are adjustable to compensate for any chill that may otherwise result from the open Rollamatic.

Seven Seas fare is primarily seafood and the accessories that go with it. The restaurant is well named. Popular entrees are such things as the bouillabaise (probably the most in demand of all of them), cioppino, crab or scallops newburg, sole Marguery, steamed clams, mahi mahi, prawns or scallops au beurre, chowders, louies, oysters and several paste dishes. Among the latter the spaghetti marinara with its crab and shrimps sauteed in butter is an excellent choice. There are a lot more dishes; the list is long and you'll have no trouble at all in selecting one to please you. All prepared by chef Roger Bruin and his assistant Robert Bradley, who by the way, used to be at the Windjammer.

Sausalito, of course has it parking problems. You're lucky if you can find a place on the side streets. Most likely you'll have to go to the main public parking lot around the corner and a block or two away unless you want to walk farther to whet your appetite.

Paul allows an hour free parking as a credit on your check at lunchtime and two hours at dinner. Bring along your parking tag from the lot for verification.

OCTOBER DINING in Marin wouldn't be complete without the annual Columbus day celebration at Nero's Restaurant,, Nave Lanes in Ignacio. This will be its 12th year.

It is a time when Bill Nave Sr. dons his apron and turns his talents to an Italianfest to outdo all other Italianfests. And sons Bill Jr., Rich and Bob and the rest of the Naves pitch in and help.

This year the celebration is again slated for a Monday night, usually the restaurant's day of closing. It will be on Oct. 9 — just three days away. There will be music, fine old Italian food (35 different dishes) and wine — all you can consume, for $3.95 per person. And in the usual custom there will be three separate dinner sessions —at 5:30, 7:30 and 9:15 p.m.

You'll have to make advance reservations for any one of these times as the evening is bound to be a sellout. Last year there was a turnout of more than 500.

THERE IS GOOD NEWS these days for Guy Francoz and Gilbert Duquesne, owners of Le Camembert in Tamalpais Valley — and also for their patrons.

This popular French restaurant at 200 Shoreline Highway has done very nicely with the limitations imposed by a wine and beer license. Now it will do even better. It has received its on sale general liquor license. Order a martini or highball if you like —at the bar or at the table.

CORRECTION — Apologies are due Paul and Anna Carminati for an error about their recently opened I-Zii Sicilian Restaurant at 531 Magnolia, Larkspur.

Days of closing should have come out last week as Saturday and Sunday — not Friday and Saturday. The restaurant is definitely open on Fridays. Also a mistake was made on the price of the house wine, which is 75 cents per glass — not 55 cents.

AT ONE TIME the 95-year old Olema Hotel in West Marin (known also as the Nelson Hotel for the family that founded and operated it) was said to be "noted for its sunny rooms, well-stocked bar, pretty waitresses and the apple pies Lydia Nelson made from Olema Valley apples."

That observation was undoubtedly made sometime before the turn of the century when the establishment was flourishing and was billed as a "country resort, open throughout the year." My own early recollection of its goes back to the late 1920s and early 1930s. At that time it was still open for meals and drinks but its luster had definitely begun to fade.

However, its day may come again, and as early as sometime next year its old dining room may be replenished with tables and food.

San Anselmo restaurateur and food specialist Ron Brandes, owner of the Bib 'n' Rib on the Miracle Mile and who purchased the old hotel last August from Ruth Ruoff, has visions of restoring it to some of its former glory. He has already had its condemned portions demolished, as ordered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and is now ready to give serious consideration to his next move.

Being a food man, he has in mind a restaurant, of course, but also something "that will be a credit to the community of Olema and of lasting historical value."

There may not be "a well stocked bar" as in the old days, but there's a good chance of pretty waitresses serving you. And no doubt the menu will be somewhat different from that of Lydia Nelson. You see when it comes to dessert, Ron's specialty is pecan pies.

Whatever happens there will take both work and time — so don't look for immediate developments. Ron says: "Not before spring, anyway."

TROUBADOR RAUL LARA, now playing at Ramona's Mexican restaurant in San Rafael on Sundays from 7 to 10 p.m. is definitely packing the house.

He's a Mill Valley man, who was at the Sinaloa Club in San Francisco for many years. But don't get the idea that his singing and playing are confined exclusively to Mexican or Latin-American music. His repertoire is large. Chances are that if you name something he'll either sing it or play it on the guitar or both, no matter whether it's classical or pop.

He's good on straight guitar, and has a fine voice.

Thief Warning Plan On Agenda

The Downtown San Rafal Merchants Committee will meet at 8 a.m. Wednesday in Cal's Steak House, Third and C streets, to discuss a telephone warning system to cope with thieves and till tappers.

The system would work much like a chain letter, according to Walter Zurcher, committee chairman. As soon as a merchant discovers he has been victimized by a short change artist, a chain of phone calls would begin warning of the thief, he said.

Burglar Walks Off With Cash

A casual burglar, not at all disturbed when his victims woke up to catch him in the act, took $150 in cash and more than $1,000 worth of camera equipment from two men in a Tamalpais Valley motel Tuesday, sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Barry S. Rietz of South Lake Tahoe and Carl W. Minteer of Incline Village Nev., said they woke up at 6:15 a.m. to find a man searching Rietz's wallet.

The man then reportedly tossed Rietz his wallet and walked out the rear door of the room at the Fountain Motel, 15 Shoreline Highway.

Missing were a $400 camera and $60 cash belong to Reitz and two cameras and accessories valued at $700 and $90 cash belonging to Minteer, according to deputies.

A search of the area failed to turn up the burglar, who apparently had broken into the room through a bathroom window according to deputies.

Murder Charge In Hotel Death Dropped

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A murder charge against the daughter of a Sonoma County dairyman has been dismissed in San Francisco Municipal Court, at the request of the district attorney.

Janette Pimentel, 25, daughter of Anthony Pimentel of Penngrove, had been one of two young women arrested after a merchant seaman, Florentino Soriani, 42, of Hawaii, was found stabbed to death in a San Francisco hotel in June.

Miss Pimental, who also uses the name Sue Wilson, became state's witness and gave testimony a grand jury that resulted in a murder indictment against Barbara Roberts, 25, the prosecutor told the court Tuesday. The judge granted Miss Pimentel immunity from prosecution.

Miss Pimentel had turned herself in to Sonoma County authorities Sept. 9, and had been held without bail in San Francisco County Jail.

Art On Display

Oil paintings by amateur Petaluma artist Olive Simon I are on display this month in the lobby of Northbay Federal Savings and Loan Association, Petaluma. The display includes seascapes, florals and desert scenes.

Paintings Display

Oil paintings by Eleanore Gnecco of San Anselmo will be on display throughout October in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association offices in San Anselmo.

SNOW JOB

The Boston Ski Club just couldn't wait for the first snow of the season, so club members created their own, spreading thousands of gallons of foam and blowing it into the air. A woman and her dog trudged through the stuff on Boston Common Wednesday. (UPI Telephoto)

Embezzler Told To Pay It Back

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Novato resident David Francis Baker, 39, who pleaded no contest to a charge of taking $10,000 from an association for which he served as unpaid treasurer, has been ordered to pay back the money.

Baker also was placed on three years' probation in San Francisco Superior Court after admitting the crime.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Julian Rhine said Baker took the money from the Institute of Food Technologists' Northern California branch and then attempted to pay it back with a bad check.

He originally had been charged with possessing a check with intent to defraud and grand theft, but the second charge was dismissed at the time of his no contest plea.

He took the money between June 1970 and the beginning of this year.

Tire Co. Told To Stop 'False, Deceptive' Ads

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Trade Commission today ordered Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. to stop using "false and deceptive" advertisements claiming that its Wide Oval tires stop quicker, are free from defects and safe under all conditions.

But the five-member commission stopped short of ordering the Akron, Ohio, company to undertake corrective advertising though it ruled for the first time that it has the authority to do so.

Firestone replied that it had not produced the tires in question "for several years" and had not advertised them. The company said it had filed an appeal of the FTC order with the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

A group of Georgetown University law students called Students Opposing Unfair Practices, Inc. (SOUP) had intervened in the case in an attempt to obtain an order directing Firestone to place corrective as.

Only Commissioner Mary Gardner Jones voted to require such ads. She said the Firestone case "presents the commission with its first opportunity to articulate on the public record just what its position with respect to this remedy is in the context of a formal record ...

"It does not do for a quasijudicial body like the commission ... to avoid this responsibility on some rationale that we should gain more experience before committing ourselves," she said.

Chairman Miles Kirkpatrick and three other commissioners preferred to wait for some future advertising case with more specific information to invoke the authority it claims for requiring corrective ads. He noted that the deceptive tire ads had appeared four years ago.

The commission found that Firestone used limited test conditions as its sole support for ads claiming that Wide Oval tires would stop 25 per cent quicker under all road and weather conditions than all other types of regular tires.

The FTC concluded that Firestone's claim that its tires are "safe" is "false and deceptive on its own admission that tires cannot under today's technology be assured of being free of defects."

Albion, Mich., is often called the Manufacturing Center, U.S.A., because of its wide variety of manufacturing plants.

New Union Asks For Protection

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The head of the newspaper reporters' union has asked Congress to pass legislation to protect newsmen from revealing sources under the force of a government subpoena.

The Supreme Court ruled in June that the first amendment does not give journalists an absolute right not to testify.

Charles A. Perlik, president of he American Newspaper Guild, told a House Judiciary subcommittee Thursday that without legal protection some newsmen are jailed or threatened with jail if they do not disclose information or news sources to government prosecutors.

Merchandise Stolen From Beach Gallery

A burglar with a taste for baubles and exotic garments took approximately $500 worth of merchandise from the Sunshine Gallery in Stinson Beach, the sheriff's department said yesterday.

Among the merchandise stolen Sunday or Monday were two silver cannisters, 13 rings, a belt buckle a pendant and three foreign garments, according to deputies.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

County Vote Next To Save Open Space

Two over; one to go.

The two over are bond issues to buy open space in San Rafael and Tiburon. On Tuesday, Tiburon voters gave 73 per cent approval to a $1,250,000 bond issue to buy open space in their city, just 2 per cent shy of the 75 per cent favoring a $2,250,000 San Rafael bond issue two weeks earlier.

THE ONE TO GO is the countywide parks district, which will be on the Nov. 7 ballot.

This would authorize the Marin County Board of Supervisors to set up a countywide park district, with the supervisors as directors. The district would be empowered to levy a maximum tax rate of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation to acquire open space and parks.

Based on present county valuation, this would raise about $760,000 the first year. However, it might be possible to obtain more land than could be purchased for that amount, as the district could tie up lands under lease-purchase agreements. It also might be able to augment the $760,000 with federal funds.

WE TOOK ISSUE with this approach as saddling the county with an unnecessary special district — for which special legislation was required. But it is the route chosen by the supervisors to fund open space purchase.

The overwhelming approval given city open space bond issues in San Rafael and Tiburon leaves no doubt that the people believe that preserving Marin's open environment is worth what it costs. The county could have taken the same route as the cities and obtained more land sooner,' without a special district.

But there is no use quibbling over the approach when the purpose is so laudable. And, while the special district may (despite supervisors' assurances otherwise) add something to overhead, that amount can be held down if the supervisors watch it carefully.

THE ENABLING legislation provides that money raised by the 10-cent tax can be used only to buy, develop and maintain new land. None of it can be spent on the existing county parks.

This assures that the county park district will not become a vehicle for hiding some of the costs of maintaining present parks by switching it from the county's general budget to that of the newly created district.

If formation of the district is approved Nov. 7, the county will be in position to buy lands that cannot be purchased by cities because they are in unincorporated territory. Most of the big parcels as yet undeveloped fall into that class.

THE COUNTYWIDE district thus can complement the open space acquisition by cities — and we hope San Rafael and Tiburon will not be the only ones among Marin's 11 cities to buy their own open space. Together, county and cities can purchase and set aside for recreational use much land which otherwise would be developed.

All who live in Marin (as well as those who visit it) will be the gainers.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Primaries Cost Plenty, But More Yet To Come

By RUS WALTON

Politicians will spend at least $400 million this year, running for offices from the White House down to the county court house.

That is a lot of bread. It is part of the price a society of free people pay to have a modicum of representative government. And, it is getting more expensive year by year.

Here in California, the price of campaigning has jumped millions of dollars in the past two years.

According to the authoritative California Journal, spending in 1972 congressional and legislative primary campaigns was 48 per cent higher than it was in the primaries of 1970. Candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives and the State Senate and Assembly spent $3.3 million in 1970. This year, the total was $4.967 million, even though the number of candidates was about the same.

Democrats spent more than Republicans, because Democrats had more candidates. For the 43 congressional, 20 state senatorial and 80 Assembly seats, the Democrats fielded 312 candidates and spent $2.9 million. The Republicans put up 226 candidates and spent $2 million.

THE BIGGEST CHUNK of money went into the primary races for California's 43 seats in the House of Representatives, a total of $2,516,752. The 107 Democratic candidates spent $1.4 million to have or to hold those seats. That was an average of $13,050 per campaign. Republicans put up only 78 candidates and spent $1.1 million; an average of $14,200 per candidate.

Averages are deceiving. Fortney H. (Pete) Stark, the banker who wrested the Democratic nomination from incumbent Congressman George P. Miller (Alameda), spent $217,329. Congressman Paul (Pete) McCloskey spent $183,442 to win his primary battle against two Republican challengers. It cost McCloskey about $6.45 a vote to hold his nomination.

At the other end of the cash register, GP Congressman William Maillard (San Francisco and Marin counties) spent only $2,054 for his primary campaign; about 3½ cents a vote. Mailliard is saving his money for a tough November fight against Democrat Roger Boas.

IN THE CONTESTS for the 20 state Senate seats, 35 Democratic candidates spent $316,385; an average of $9,040 per campaign. Republicans put up only 26 senatorial candidates for a total of $158,-314; an average of $6,089.

State Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, led the field with contributions of $103,-040. Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, raised $78,072 in the primary and reported giving some of that to candidates for the Assembly.

There were 292 candidates in the 80 Assembly district primaries; 107 Democrats and 122 Republicans. All told, they spent $2 million. The Democrats spent an average of $7,040 per Assembly race, for a total of $1.2 million. Republicans spent $775,418, an average of $6,200 per candidate.

Those already in office spent more per campaign than those who wanted in. The total primary expenditures for the 37 incumbent congressmen came to $601,088 — an average of $16,250 per district. The 148 challengers spent three times as much in total, but it averaged only $12,500 per campaign.

It was the same story for the state legislative races: State Senate — incumbents averaged $13,750, non-incumbents, $5,080; Assembly — incumbents averaged $11,000 per campaign, non-incumbents, $4,130.

ALL-IN-ALL, it figures out to 50 cents a vote, statewide. For John H. Woods it came to a lot more than that. Republican Woods spent $61,280 in the 38th Congressional District primary race. On June 6 he got 6,699 votes and lost to Howard Snider by more than 6,600 votes. When he added it all up, Woods had spent $9.15 per vote to get Snidered.

With few exceptions, even more money will be spent per district in the November elections. Like the man said, "The past is prologue — you ain't seen nothin' yet."

Politics cost money — before and after elections!

Nutritionist Changed Fluoridation Stand

As an addendum to Mrs. Beckner's excellent letter on Adelle Davis's discussion of the dangers of water fluoridation in the revised edition of her book "Let's Eat Right To Keep Fit," it is interesting to note that this is a reversal of her stand in the original 1954 edition of the book.

After many years of updating her information, Miss Davis had the courage to state her revised position, now against fluoridation. Isn't it too bad that the Public Health Service can't untangle itself from its red tape and do the same.

As Miss Davis is the most widely trusted nutritionist in the country, her stand against fluoridation is difficult to ignore.

Welfare Department Deserves Plaudits

Phillipe vs. Mrs. R. H. Miller, Ernest A. Comer, F. D. Begg:

At the risk of seeming trite: I would rather possess the warm heart of Phillipe than the cold, calculating hearts of Mrs. R. H. Miller et al.

One gets heartily sick of hearing, in this, to some, affluent age, the downgrading of the welfare department and the unfortunate recipients thereof.

Those amongst us who would begrudge immediate help to a deserted woman, alone with a child and without funds, must indeed be sick. I am glad that at least a portion of my taxes help support a weltare department that acts first and investigates afterwards. Miss Freedman's hoax, although admired by Mrs. Miller and her kind, was ugly; she did indeed hit below the belt in her endeavor to thwart the hungry in getting food. However, her assignment was only half done; her immediate expose' denied her and the public the chance to know whether or not she would have been investigated for it is more than probable that she would have been. Her inefficiency proved not her point but rather that the welfare department be highly commended for its prompt action in a case of dire distress, and assuredly most hearts go out to the social worker who so compassionately extended such a great service.

TODAY'S WORLD

"It's the only way I can relax."

THE NEEDLE

By HAROLD COFFIN

Scientists have invented a portable tranquility machine guaranteed to relieve the tensions of modern living.

Folks using the machine may look silly walking around with electrodes sticking out of their heads, but they're too relaxes to worry about it.

These days there are so many things that turn you on, you need a machine to turn you off.

The gadget also can be used as an electronic sleeping pill

'Dull' Campaign For President Finds Voters Looking At Issues

WASHINGTON — Many Americans are beginning to feel that this is a dull and boring election campaign. In some aspects it is. But this does not mean it isn't one of the most meaningful and valuable presidential elections in a long time.

It is valuable and meaningful because:

1 — Voters are deciding how they will vote on the basis of the issues.

2 — The differences between President Nixon and Senator McGovern are deep and crucial, and the choice between them will likely shape the course of the nation for many years to come.

3 — Most people are not allowing personality or style to get in the way of more important considerations. This freedom from charisma comes about because neither Mr. Nixon nor Senator McCovern is an exciting personality.

THIS IS WHY the nomination of Senator McGovern is a good thing and ought to be satisfactory to those who are likely to vote against him as well as to those who are likely to vote for him.

It was time that the growing number of voters on the Democratic left should have the opportunity to test the acceptability of their views in the arena of a presidential election — and let them be voted up or down so that their advocates can no longer say they are not being allowed to use the political system to further their ends.

They are no longer on the outside looking in. They have taken possession of the Democratic Party. They earned this right in the primaries and at Miami Beach. The McGovern nomination was a good thing. Without it there would not have been the clear and significant choice of purposes and policies which the Nixon-McGovern confrontation provides.

THE McGOVERN strategists lament that Mr. Nixon was not out campaigning earlier and more provocatively. But it is just as reasonable for the President to run his own campaign as it is for McGovern to run his.

And there is no evidence that what some would call a desultory campaign is clouding or confusing the public grasp of what is al stake in the election.

Mr. Nixon's positions emerge with adequate clarity from what he has done as President. An incumbent has no choice but to run on his record whether he likes to or not. There is little he can say to embellish it.

McGovern's positions emerge with adequate clarity from all he has said during the long contest in the primaries and since his nomination. His views on the central issues — how he would end the war in Vietnam; how he would contract the U.S. presence in many parts of the world, including Europe; how he stands on taxes, on busing, on terminating wage-price controls, on more spending for social welfare and how he would cut defense — are now well established.

IT IS EVIDENT that voters are focusing upon the issues, upon the differences between the two nominees, and are making up their minds accordingly.

Louis Harris finds, for example, that the percentage of voters who now feel they understand what McGovern proposes is going steadily up.

It seems evident that voters are not primarily deciding to support McGovern because they don't like Mr. Nixon personally, and vice versa. Charisma is out.

Superficially dull and boring though it may appear, this is the kind of election when very important decisions are going to be made for the right reasons. This is why it is valuable and meaningful.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Columnist Writes Post-Mortem On Election Not Yet Decided

WASHINGTON — Premature, yes, but not very risky to start a post-mortem of the 1972 presidential election. Of course, unpredictable things do happen. The President could pre-empt air time on all networks to confess to the world that he personally masterminded the Watergate raid, and that might cost him a half-point or so.

Somewhat more likely, a sizable group of Democrats who find it hard to contemplate voting for Mr. Nixon but are deathly afraid of what might happen if Sen. George McGovern were elected could look at the public opinion polls, decide there is no danger that Senator McGovern might make it, and pull the lever Nov. 7 to appease both their consciences and their fears. That might cut another few points off Mr. Nixon's margin.

But, among other things, Newsweek's latest national survey indicates that if Senator McGovern wins all the electoral votes now rated sure fgr him (3), plus all those leaning to him (6), plus all those considered uncertain (100), plus all those merely leaning to the President (152), they still woul not add up to those currently seen as solid for Mr. Nixon (277). Because of the unbroken consistency of reports like those, it takes only a little nerve to speak now about the future of the Democratic Party after November.

FIRST, TO FIND a parallel in modern history. 1928? 1936? 1956? 1964?

Not 1928 because of the special circumstances of the candidates then (Al Smith's Catholicism) and the events immediately to follow (the crash and the depression). Not 1936 because, unlike Roosevelt, the current incumbent cannot run for a third term although the political power of his incumbency will have enormous disciplinary effect on the ambitious within his own party for the next four years.

Closer is 1956. Adlai Stevenson carried only six southern states plus Missouri. The Democrats were at their lowest ebb since 1928, their party in mild schism between the Stevenson-Eleanor Roosevelt-ADA-civil rights losers and the Lyndon Johnson-congressional-compromise wing that remained in office at the capitol. Then it was the beneficiary of the 1958 recession that produced a heavy swing back to the Democrats in the congressional election and put the party in a mood to win two years later. That is what nominated John Kennedy — not ideology but the sure feeling that here was a winner.

In that way, 1956 for the Democrats was what 1964 was for the Republicans. The ideologically driven right wing had its choice in Sen. Barry Goldwater rather than an echo, and the GOP hit bottom. Afterward, it returned to pragmatism with a vengeance and chose its man for all factions to run and win in 1968.

THE IDEOLOGISTS of the Democratic Party have had their fling this year. They chose the candidate, and he ran more or less on their issues. If he loses, you may expect a demand for a purge of their most visible symbols from the party machinery, just as Senator Goldwater's Dean Burch and others were swept out by the Republicans.

Beyond that, the parallel wavers. In 1956 and 1964, the professional politicians and devoted amateurs to whom party meant more than purity remained in ultimate control of events. They came partway together to nominate Kennedy, then merged to elect him. They did the same behind Mr. Nixon. The two-party system, as it turned out, was strengthened in each case by what temporarily seemed catastrophe.

This fall, by contrast, the Democratic Party has collapsed — and the old professionals who have put it together after other debacles have no authority to do it again. The ideologues who nominated the candidate and demanded that he take positions that sundered the party are the ones who also rewrote the party rules and thus took over its machinery. The very ones who, by precedent, should be purged after an electoral disaster are the ones in position to do the purging.

THEREFORE, FOR the Democrats the future is bleak. Those in charge hope that another Kennedy will come to the rescue, and that if the contest in 1976 is etween Ted Kennedy and Ted Agnew, all those old-fashioned Democrats who fled this year will come rushing back. But it is a chancy business, placing all your hopes on one troubled man. It is sensible to have insurance in case it fails.

That would mean they understand that the once dominant Democratic coalition was not built on ideological intolerance, exclusivity, elitism and holier than thouness — and that they set out to rebuild the party on that understanding. Defeat, if it is inevitable, must be seen in historical perspective. It can lead to conciliation and rebirth, but only if the willful reformers turn their will in that direction.

Corte Madera Town Meeting Results In Small 'Consensus'

Just how effective are town meetings as instruments of feeling the public pulse and letting city fathers (and mothers) know what the people in their communities are thinking?

Last week, after months of careful planning and preparation, Corte Madera held such a meeting on a sunny Saturday.

Only 200 people, slightly more than two per cent of the town's 9,421 residents, decided to forego their normal Saturday routine in the interests of civic betterment. It was really a shame, because the planners had worked hard and they expected at least 400 persons — which still, of course, would have been only a tiny fraction of the population.

DURING THE MORNING session, those attending broke up into small study groups to discuss and make recommendations on open space, master planning and development, communication, citizen participation in government, and town services.

Many people attending thought the original plans called for the entire meeting to discuss the proposals generated by the study groups at an afternoon session, then approve or disapprove them. The recommendations endorsed by the group were to be forwarded to the town council.

By the time the afternoon meeting rolled around, there were only about 90 left in attendance.

The resolutions approved by the various committees were ready, but most of them were never heard of again, since organizers of the meeting had apparently decided to put only a few of the proposals before the audience.

There was some vague attempt to explain why this was to be, since several persons expressed outrage at this turn of events. There may be a very good explanation, but it was never made clear just what that would be.

NO DIRECT VOTE was taken on any of the resolutions. According to the meeting's moderator, the organizers had decided that the proposals should be approved by "consensus."

Apparently this meant that persons who were opposed to any of the motions were invited to speak their opposition. Unless very serious opposition development to a resolution, it would be recorded as approved "by consensus," moderator Peter Belden said.

At this point the meeting deteriorated into considerable bickering on the wording of the various proposals and a variety of other topics. When this was all finished, most of the resolutions had been watered down into bland, unspecific language.

This may be one of the problems of large gatherings of this type. There are so many divergent views that resolutions are bound to be very general or they will be lost in objections and bickering. Specifics are what cause the fights and debates, it seems.

AFTER THREE hours of often tedious debate and harangue on all kinds of topics, a good number of the audience looked like they had been run through the ringer.

I felt the meeting had become a grueling ordeal, which most people seemed to want to end as soon as possible. Only they didn't seem to know how to accomplish this worthwhile goal.

When the remaining audience surged out the doors for a breath of fresh air at the session's end, what had been accomplished?

A few general proposals had been "approved by consensus" by 90 persons, about one per cent of the population.

Does that really give the town council an obligation to approve any of the recommendations coming from the town meeting?

The will of one per cent of the population is surely worth considering, but it is hardly a mandate.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Cookie Begins To Crumble For 'Planned Society' Folk

The old immutable law that everything has within itself the power to destroy itself is asserting its validity again. In simpler terms, I have said a number of times that the extremists would get it in the neck before they were through.

When I read the first few pages of the Countywide Plan for Marin, I thought surely this must be the place where the cookie starts to crumble. Then:

"Threat to Democracy In Countywide Plan" read the heading on the Monday editorial; the last paragraph of which read: "Under the countywide plan proposal, a board created by an appointed board — two steps removed from the elective process — would have power over the elective city councils and board of supervisors. Its say would be final. If this is democracy, so was Hitler's 'national socialism.'" Methinks, said I, the cookie is on its way.

Following this comes the Wednesday I-J with Jeff Greer's long story of the reaction from the Economic Development Committee of the City-County Planning Council of Marin. This committee called attention to the glaring conflicts in the plan.

Everyone should read all three — the plan, the editorial, and the committee's report. This is a serious and vital situation.

OVER THE WEEK END I went back over my files until I found the "County Comment" that I was looking for. It was dated Dec. 22, 1967. The following are parts of that column:

Addressing a meeting of the Conservation Council, the planning director who preceded the present one boastfully asserted:

"We have immediately gone into the staff-planning commission-board of supervisors relationship. . .The staff should be recognized as professionals and many matters that used to be handled by the planning commission should be handled by staff." Now, contrast what he said with the following:

"On Aug. 26, '66, I gave some quotes from an article by a writer for a morning paper. He had just attended the 50th anniversary convention of the American Institute of Planning at Portland, Ore. He wrote: 'The American city planner, judging from a random thousand who have been engaged in a non-stop talkathon here during the past five days, is a tweedy, talky, badly frustrated citizen who knows very little about city planning. He doesn't know what kind of a city he wants, how to plan for it, or how to translate plans into reality.' He quoted one of the top-notch men in the profession as follows: 'We are indulging in agnosticism and admitting we don't know. . .Probably the most outstanding thing we have learned is that we share a rather impressive body of ignorance. . .The Great Society isn't here and we don't know how to get it. . .The magic bullets of city planning have been as yet undiscovered.'"

THE OTHER BIG front page story on Wednesday is still another example of headlong extremism in full bloom.

It would be interesting to know if the act provides yardsticks to determine just what is included in "environmental impact reports"? If it doesn't, what a heyday some people are going to have insisting that their brand has more depressive effects than anyone else's!

Still another wonderment: If the act is not repealed or modified, what will happen to the $7 million building plans that Bill Peters sweet-talked the supervisors into joyfully endorsing or adopting? And weren't they lucky they didn't buy the "melli go round"!

Cancer-Causing Virus Isolated

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Scientists from the University of Minnesota told the American College of Surgeons meeting here they have isolated a virus from human cancer patients and the organism is like viruses known to cause similar tumors in animals.

The researchers stressed that they are not claiming to have discovered the first known human cancer-causing virus— but that their chemical tests, their screening of antibodies to the virus, and their examination of the tumor cells with an electron microscope indicate the viruses are linked to the specific human cancer.

The report was presented Thursday, final day of the surgeons meeting, by a group from the University of Minnesota, headed by Dr. Elwin E. Fraley, associate professor of urology, and Dr. Arthur Y. Elliott, a virologist.

The essential test for the infectious nature of any organism is whether it can be isolated from one batch of disased cells and used to cause the same disease in normal cells.

Fraley said he and his colleagues have transformed a culture of normal cells to malignancy by infecting them with virus. The work requires a fuller report and study, he said

TB Vaccine Effective In Cancer Treatments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading cancer researcher today reported limited success in using an anti-tuberculosis vaccine to fight cancer in humans and said it was a "promising lead" in a long effort ahead to develop an effective anti-cancer agent.

"We haven't got a cure but we have better hope than we had before," Dr. Edmund Klein, chief of the Department of Dermatology at the Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffelo, N.Y., said in an interview.

Klein reported the findings at a meeting of scientists from eight countries called by the National Cancer Institute (NCI) to discuss the use of the bacterial agent BCG immobilizing the body's defenses against cancer.

He said the BCG applied to four patients with malignant moles, four with breast cancer and six with white blood cell tumlors produced partial o temporary improvement in six cases. There was no response in five patients.

Greater success was reported in the treatment of skin cancer. Klein said that BCG applied to the skin resulted in complete regression lasting one year in six of eight patients. BCG has been used in tests against skin cancer for several years but Klein's work with other tqpes of human cancer is new. The research was carried out in collaboration with NCI scientists.

"The study suggests that the BCG and other immunologically active agents may be of value in the treatment of some malignant diseases, but so far this cannot be considered as being more than a promising lead," Klein said. "The period of study is too short and the number of patients under study are too few to permit more than a justification for further research."

Klein said it will take "a lot of money, a lot of ingenuity, a lot of patience, a lot of everything," to evaluate the approach of using BCG to stimulate the body's immune system against cancer.

Preparatory Meeting Set In Helsinki

HELSINKI (UPI) — Finnish foreign Minister Ahti Karjalainen said Thursday it now seems the preparatory meeting for the European Security Conference will be held in Helsinki in November but the question as to the site of the conference proper was an open one.

Thirty-three European nations, the United States and Canada are expected to attend the preparatory meeting scheduled for Nov. 22. Karjalainen said the 35 nations involved would then determine the location for the conference.

Central Sewage Plan On Agenda

The Mill Valley City Council will hold an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday to discuss the recently released report from the Marin Municipal Water District's Improvement District A.

The report, in part, recommends that all sewage from central and Southern Marin be treated at a consolidated plant on San Quentin Point.

Reporters Seek Magee Interviews

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Twenty-six reporters from across the United States have joined the legal efforts of convict Ruchell Magee to be interviewed by the news media.

The reporters were named in a "friend of the court" brief filed by the American Civil Liberties Foundation of Northern California Thursday in the state District Court of Appeal.

Magee was charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy for the 1970 Marin Civic Center gunbattle in which four persons, including a judge, met death.

The brief said, "The prison rule that denies newsmen the chance to interview prison inmates strikes at the very heart of the 1st Amendment's freedom of press and speech that guarantee a free flow of information.

"If we are to prevent the kinds of conditions that led to last summer's tragedy at Attica (N.Y.) and the disturbances at San Quentin, the public has simply got to know what is going on on the other side of those gray walls."

Magee is in San Quentin Prison awaiting his Oct. 18 trial in San Francisco.

No Censure

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A committee of local Presbyterians decided not to recommend censure of Rev. Terence H. Davis for allowing his name to be placed in nomination as a presidential elector of the Communist Party. "I signed as an elector because I'm a civil libertarian," said Davis.

Millionaire Turner Freed, Awaits Trial

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Saying that "everybody's been real nice," millionaire promoter Glenn W. Turner went home to Orlando Thursday to await the resumption of his trial on securities violation charges—and also the appeal of a contempt citation that almost kept him in jail.

The flamboyant young head of Dare To Be Great and other Turner enterprises, dressed in a green suit and black and white boots of unborn calfhide, had been jailed briefly Wednesday on the orders of a circuit court judge who held him in contempt on the opening day of his trial. His lawyers soon freed him and won the right to appeal the contempt action Thursday.

"Everybody's been real nice," said Turner as he left the appeals court here and headed for his Orlando headquarters in a rented car. "I'm sorry I can't say anything more."

Turner was ordered jailed Wednesday in Clearwater by Circuit Court Judge William A. Patterson. Turner refused to testify in a contempt hearing which sought to determine whether Turner was connected with demonstrations that brought about a postponement in his state securities fraud trial.

Patterson refused to set bond, but several hours later Appellate Court Judge Joseph McNulty ordered Turner's release on $2,000 bond pending the Thursday hearing.

Assistant State Attorney Richard Mensh argued that the appeal action was "frivolous" and that the contempt of court conviction came partly because Turner refused to come forward and show cause why he should not be held in contempt.

Phony Money Is Smuggled In By U.S., Hanoi Says

TOKYO (UPI)—Hanoi today accused the United States of smuggling counterfeit money into North Vietnam to upset its financial and monetary system.

A statement, issued by the Communist Vietnam National Bank and broadcast by the Vietnam News Agency, said:

"Recently, (the Nixon administration) has committed another crime, very dirty and despicable, against the Vietnamese people by smuggling counterfeit money into the D.R.V.N. (North Vietnam).

"The making and smuggling of counterfeit currency by the Nixon administration is a wicked and cowardly act designed to upset the financial and monetary system and the economic life of the D.R.V.N., and also to boost the psychological war against the Vietnamese people."

Military sources in Saigon last month said the United States was dropping counterfeit money from airplanes over North Vietnam.

NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL

A Religious Alternative

By JOAN LISETOR

In keeping with an age of alternative education, a group of Jewish families in Marin County has formed an alternative Sunday school.

Classes will begin on Sunday at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael for the second year of Marin Kindershule.

"We are not competing with the temples, and we are not taking families away from the temples," explained Mrs. David Rosen of San Rafael, the school's curriculum coordinator.

"The idea of a Sunday school that emphasized Jewish history, culture and tradition kept popping into my mind, and I knew there were others who felt as I did."

A meeting of interested families was held in the spring of last year, Ruth Rosen explained, and 15 families attended.

"ALL BUT one of the families was unaffiliated (not temple members) for one reason or another. The group feeling seemed to be we are people who are not comfortable in an organized situation, yet we want our children to have the opportunity to learn the rich historical and cultural traditions of our religion," she said.

The reasons families seek alternatives to religious education may vary from a feeling of guilt, "we don't observe the customs, so we are not good Jews, but we have to offer our children something" to a feeling of being unable to offer religious training because of assimilation and a lack of knowledge.

However, most of the families are seeking a curriculum that utilizes new methods of education.

"We think the Kindershule has a less formal structure, but our teacher Sally Lee came an hour before the children last year to set up the structure of the classroom to provide a work area," Mrs. Rosen said.

"We do avoid the lecture-discussion type presentation. We encourage the children to take the material and do something with it. Last year they made murals, wrote and performed a play, wrote stories and made puppets —all from things they learned in class.

"THE EMPHASIS is on the kids knowing what Judaism is all about and relating it to life," Mrs. Rosen explained. "There is no emphasis on a belief in God and little emphasis is placed on prayers and blessings.

"Our most important reason for being is to excite the kids, and one way of doing this is to involve the families."

The first session will be followed by a family picnic. Parents are depended upon to help plan field trips, do clerical work, plan parties and share special interests through storytelling, films and singing.

One of the four teachers has experience in archeology, having spent a summer working on a dig in Israel. Another is fluent in Hebrew, not Biblical Hebrew, "but modern Hebrew as it is spoken in Israel today," according to Ruth Rosen who spent the summer in Israel with her husband and three children.

"I have no illusion that 40-minute sessions are going to teach Hebrew to children," she said. "We want them to be familiar with Hebrew, but there won't be any rote teaching from books."

Donald G. Comstock Weds Miss Watson

Sharon E. Watson and Donald G. Comstock were married Saturday at Holy Innocent's Episcopal Church in Corte Madera.

The bride was attended for the ceremony by Kay Koehler, maid of honor, and Mrs. Richard Thomas, Mrs. Surinder Basho and Irene Sakellariou.

Richard W. Thomas served as best man and the guests were seated by Gordon Kamai, Bert Coverdale and Gene Dollahite.

The newlyweds will make their home in Tiburon after their return from a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Watson of Corte Madera. She attended Marindale School. David Watson of Corte Madera is her brother.

Donald is the son of Mrs. Leland Comstock of Tiburon and the brother of Richard Comstock. He is a graduate of Bakersfield High School.

No More Red Nose, Pale Looks

During this period of changing temperatures , colds are common and so are watery eyes, red and shiny noses and dragged out, pale-looking countenance.

A makeup pickup can make you look better and there by feel better, according to beauty authority Max Factor.

Camouflage the dark circles under the eyes by applying an erasing cream under the eye area and blending until there is no line of demarcation.

To subdue raw-looking nose, apply a smoothing moisture and follow with a veil of compact powder to allay the redness.

Eyes that tear and become dull may be made up to look normal. To make the eyes look whiter, apply a soft once-over of a pale, pastel shade of shadow to the eyelids.

Pants Take Lead

Straight-legged pants are taking the lead in school fashions. On the jeans front, the cuffed version is making fashion waves. The turned-up cuff usually shows plaid lining, so you can roll up the cuffs more than once. Just below knee seems the best roll-up height.

The Child Laurel— Tragedy On Women

Writing dialogue in rhyming verse and telling a story in abstractions is a talent playwright and director Sue-Ellen Case of San Francisco thinks of as a natural writing form for her.

She was obsessed with poetry as a child and began writing poems and plays. Her first play was produced in her high school when she was 15.

She has achieved professional recognition both for her operas and drama produced while she was teaching at Cal Arts in Los Angeles, and for her all-woman repertory company, "The Laurel's Child Theatre Company," which she will bring to the College of Marin tonight at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

"The Child Laurel" is a tragedy about women. Miss Case stars as the narrator, giving a presentation on women to a teacher in a hypothetical classroom. It starts with a historical note, relating the condition of the baby girl in ancient China, the drownings, the binding of the feet, and the role of woman throughout history. "It's a fight between fantasy and fact", and ends with a statement, "whatever you are, you're a woman".

Though it has women's liberation overtones, the author says she is neither a crusader, nor does she have political motives in presenting the play.

She got the idea to form an all-woman repertory company when she studied Greek and Shakespearean drama and the all-male theatre. She believes her company to be the first all-women professionals.

The women do everything connected with the productions from the writing and directing, done by Sue-Ellen, to stagecraft, set designs, lighting and sound as well as the business details. So far most of their work has been done in San Francisco, and is limited to short-runs, as all of the women hold full-time jobs.

Sue-Ellen taught in the humanities department at San Francisco State College and later with Cal Arts, where she wrote and produced operas, working with Herbert Blau Many of the women in the company came with her when she returned to San Francisco from Los Angeles.

For "The Cherry Pit: A Fashion Show", the cast has assembled costumes representing the many typical roles of women. Lyrics and music are a part of the play, emphasizing, dramatizing and entertaining. "It is pure slapstick, in rhyming verse," says Sue-Ellen. "It is highly stylized, and totally unrealistic".

"The Laurel's Child Company" operates on a minimal budget, but with maximum audience impact. Reaction to past Sue-Ellen Case productions has ranged from absolute anger, to hilarious laughter, to splitting headaches, says the playwright. This range of emotional response is exciting to the playwright.

The women provide their own sets for the two plays. Unusual are two neon sculptures, one a key and the other a coat hanger, both by Los Angeles sculptor Lili Lakich. The sculpture will be suspended above the stage.

During the months ahead the Laurel's Child Company will act in a 15-minute street film, and if the arrangements can be finished, will take their plays into women's prisons throughout the state.

Tickets are available for tonight's performance at the college boxoffice, and at the door. The program is one in the series: Festival Anais Nin.

The final two programs are scheduled for Oct. 12 and 13. A film of the life of Anais Nin will be shown on Thursday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall and a second personal appearance of Miss Nin on Friday at 8 p.m. in Olney Hall.

A Grandmother Who Roams The Range

GRANTSVILLE, Utah (UPI) —Jody Boyer is a grandmother and a former gambling dealer who herds sheep with her husband on the sagebrush desert of western Utah.

"This is no place for a woman that does not like outdoor life —horseback riding, long hours and ruggedness," she said recently after she and her husband, Darrell, pulled into town in their pickup truck after three months on the range. It was one of two other trips to town a year.

Mrs. Boyer, who speaks Spanish and Basque as well as her native English, ran the roulette wheel and dice games at casinos in Reno and Carlin, Nev., 26 years before retiring to the sheep business.

"The camp is not as lonely or out of touch as many people think," the slim, dark-haired woman said. "Rock hounds and hippies are constant visitors. I've fed 75 people at one time during lambing. We have never had a thing stolen from camp."

Mrs. Boyer was asked if she wasn't afraid about living out where the coyotes howl at night.

"I always have a .22 rifle by my bed, just in case, she said. "I've never used it yet. Approaching persons are warned by our barking dogs."

Jody Boyer claims hers is the best life there is, doing an ideal job.

"Seven years ago I couldn't even ride a horse," she said.

Spending Less

Americans are spending a smaller portion of their paychecks on food today than ever before — 16.8 per cent of their disposable income, almost 3 per cent less than five years ago, and substantially less than in other, mostly broker-less countries.

In England, 29 per cent of the average family's disposable income is spent on food; in France, 31 per cent; Italy, 45 per cent; Russia, 53 per cent.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

'Great Dream' Was Achieved

By MOLLY MARIN

Becky Jones of San Rafael just may have achieved "the great American dream" — being embraced by Olympic gold medal winner Mark Spitz. In the current issue of Life magazine Spitz is shown with his arm around Becky, who is a member of the Golddiggers, a musical group.

Becky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Jones of San Rafael, have just returned from Las Vegas where they saw Becky perform at Caesar's Palace.

A MILL Valley woman, who was asked to train for the British equestrian team, has returned to Marin after attending the Olympic Games in Munich and visiting friends and family members in England.

Angela Littlefield had to decline the invitation to try out for the British team in dressage and combined training because she does not have a horse suitable for the competition. She attended the three-day combined training events in Munich, involving an endurance test for horse and rider, including dressage, stadium jumping, and cross country. During the three-day event she often sat near Princess Anne of England, also an enthusiastic and knowledgeable spectator. Of the princess, Miss Littlefield said, "It was bad luck that her horse pulled a muscle before the Olympic trials. She is a very strong rider."

Of the equestrian events, in which she is expert, Miss Littlefield said the layout for the cross-country, the placement and construction of the jumps "were all top-notch. The Germans did their very best." She stayed at a hotel in the center of Munich and found the Bavarian city to be "a German San Francisco" in its picturesque setting near the Alps.

She went to England for a visit with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilde, in Hereford, and visited friends in other parts of England, spending time in London. Formerly associated with the Green Gulch Ranch stables, Miss Littlefield is now teaching at the Presidio Stables at Fort Cronkhite.

MR. AND MRS. Benjamin Velardo and their grandson, Benjamin Keoki, of Honolulu, are visiting Mrs. Velardo's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Patrick in Novato this week.

Second Thoughts About Having Brother Be Baby's Godfather

DEAR HELEN:

I'm due to have my baby any day now. Naturally my husband and I are discussing the christening of our child.

My only brother is living with a girl and they have three kids. I wanted him and his common-law wife to stand for the baby, and he to be its godfather. But I have second thoughts.

It's not their living together that bothers me, but the fact that they are never home anymore. They are forever leaving their children with baby sitters. They don't dress or feed the kids properly. Godparents are supposed to take over if something happens to natural parents, and I couldn't bear the thought of our child being raised this way.

How can we get out of this without hurt feelings? — D.W.

DEAR D.:

You can't get out of this without hurt feelings but that shouldn't stop you from making a choice that seems best for your child.

Level with your brother — about marriage, child-raising, the godparents' part in spiritual training, the works. It won't be easy, but it just might steer him toward a more orthodox family life. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In your answer to "Modern Career Wife," you agreed that "cheating" takes many forms, some less forgivable than sex. True, but both of you overlooked the fact that the "encounterees" (other women, other men, as it were) have human feelings too.

Some of these people, with whom "modern marrieds" have casual, meaningless sex — which they say hurts no one — may be deeply hurt. Other homes may be broken —for all mates don't react casually to affairs.

You warned this wife that "casual encounters" can become intense, unmanageable pulls that wreck a marriage. Look to the other side — even if she remains emotionally untouched, and her husband can sample without buying, will their extracurricular partners (and their spouses) know how to play this risky game?

Most of the bad times in my reasonably happy life came about when I failed to consider the feelings and welfare of others. Seems to me this is what Modern Career Wife forgets. — JUST A THOUGHT

DEAR JAT:

You're so right. Thanks for your good thoughts. Read on: — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You asked recently why the "Other Woman" seldom writes. Your ESP was right: she would rather forget.

First, Rod put off getting his divorce because his two daughters were still in school. Then, their weddings caused a "delay." Next, his wife (in name only) had major surgery — how could he leave her when she was ill?

Another year of secret meetings, promises, waiting: "Business was bad;" a grandchild came along. Then, glory be. . .his wife finally agreed to a divorce. He was to give her everything: house, alimony, custody of the younger children — I was all he wanted — so he said.

She was to tour Europe before the divorce was final. She asked him to stay in the house until she returned.

Our wedding date was set. . .But Rod is now on the honeymoon, not me. He joined his wife in Europe. I am vacationing alone with my memories.

May "other women" profit by my experience. — NEVER AGAIN

ON BEING BLACK

Reverend Reed Cautions Against 'Backsliding'

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

"Gaaawwd knows when you're backslidin'. But more important, you know when you're backslidin'. You think you're slick and pulling a fast one on your ol' lady or your ol' man. You're backslidin'. You copy your friend's homework assignment and think the teacher is too dumb to know the difference. You sniff and smoke that weed and fill your veins with poison. You're backslidin'. You lie to your momma about where you're going and what you're doing. You beat up a drunk and take his money 'cause he ain't no good nohow. You're backslidin'."

The sermon topic, "Backslidin'," itself as old as time, as chock-full of contemporary references. I was reminded of the days when backslidin' referred to wearing lipstick before the age of 21, playing cards, dancing, dating boys before age 17, losing your virginity prior to marriage.

Interestingly, there was a large number of young persons in the congregation, and they were obviously in accord with Reverend Reed's sermonizing against the anything-goes lifestyle many people today profess to believe in and live by.

DURING A PERSONAL interview, Reverend Reed told me, "Of course, I'm aware of the attitude changes toward the church and God that have come about over the years. I've made adjustments in my approach to my congregation, but not as many as you might think. Many of our young people who were initially here because their parents insisted, have left the church.

"However, after a leave of absence and a search for something else — drugs, alcohol, free love, the honoring of no commitments and the "old-folks-ain't-together" attitude, many are coming back. Their spiritual attitudes are refreshing and very mature. They are willing to accept God now that they feel free to see Him as not necessarily an abstract, unreachable being, but rather as that which is good, kind and humane in every person.

"Some of them backslide, of course. But the thing about backslidin' is that you ain't gone yet. There's still time to put on the brakes and pull yourself back up the road to humaneness toward yourself as well as others."

With the contemporary modernization of God in shows such as "Hair," "Godspell" and the like, are preachers on their way out and "pals" on their way in?

"Well," laughed the reverend as he stroked his moustache, "I'm basically an old-fashioned preacher just like my father was. My message content, of course, is timely even though most human conditions are timeless. But my delivery is what you'd call old-fashioned. I admit, like most ministers — ah, preachers — there is a bit of 'ham' in me when I'm in the pulpit. I want people to be receptive, at least hear what I have to say. Even if they don't agree I want them to think about why they disagree.

"I DON'T believe in the buddy system. The members of my congregation, especially the young people, look to me for information and expertise in areas where they need assistance. They can ask a buddy how to mainline a dose of heroin, but they need me to say 'Look, baby, you're backslidin' — let's see abut getting this thing together.' "

What about the "big business" and commercialization criticisms that have been leveled against organized religion?

"Number one, this is a commercial and big business society we live in. Number two, to its credit, the black church can accurately be called the first totally black-owned, operated and supported business in the United States.

"The church is still the black community's major self-help tool. We raise money not only for our own immediate needs such as the breakfast-before-school program, bus fare, pencils, paper, tutors and the like, but for years we have given scholarships to our youngsters assisting them through college. We are currently supporting the Sickle Cell Anemia Research Fund, the local drug rehabilitation center and a community child-care center.

"Yes, the church is big business, but it has to be to surmount the social situations it is being called upon to deal with."

"THE YOUNG, particularly, have seen religion as their elders practice it, as a crutch," I commented.

"In a way, it is. But I think people, especially those who have gone through the cycle and survived, have found spiritual satisfaction on a very humane basis more supportive than narcotics, alcohol and a life with no commitments. If the church is the vehicle —the crutch —for reaching such a state of awareness, so be it."

'Wizard Of Oz' Shows Are Added

Two additional performances of the Marin Shakespeare Festival's production of the "Wizard of Oz" have been added to the Youth in Arts schedule, according to Helen Crotty, coordinator of activities for Youth in Arts.

Previously scheduled were two performances on Oct. 26. The additional shows will be on Oct. 25 at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Youth in Arts presents cultural programs to Marin County students. All reservations must be made by schools.

Nearly 30,000 reservations have been received for the performances scheduled through May.

How To Liven Up Dull Dorm Floors

Liven up dull dorm floors at college. Put down plushy bathroom rugs. Use pillow cases as pillow shams by tucking the open ends inside and sewing on snaps. Suspend something from the floor to ceiling to create an impression of privacy for two roommates. Use towels to cover foam cushions and pile on the floor for seating. These tips on decorating dorm rooms (or those at home) come from Seventeen magazine.

DRAMA REVIEW

Greek Chiller-Myth Starts Mill Valley Repertory Year

By KAY KSANDA

The Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts started off its new repertory season last night with a very old Greek chiller, "Oedipus Rex," but entitled more properly "Oedipus Tyrannos."

The play is from an ancient myth in which Oedipus originally was a demon haunting a mountain, and his mother was the Earth who brought all things into being, and after rearing them, received them again into her body.

In Sophocles's "Oedipus Tyrannos," Oedipus is a tyrannical king who has unwittingly killed his true father and married his own mother. When pestilence and pollution overwhelm his kingdom, he looks for its cause, but incorrectly singles out his brother-in-law.

Fate, revenge, pride and horror are the true stars of the play, and director Martin Frick — by masking his principal characters and stylizing his set and actors in the chorus — keeps these forces uppermost.

The wheels of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine. In any great tragedy of the theater, this message is spelled out — that man has a fate that he creates himself, and no matter where he runs or hides the scale will be balanced.

The modern message also is here. Sigmund Freud attributed the origin of all neurosis to an unresolved Oedipus complex. (An unfavorable parent-child relationship.) However, few neurotics carry their problem to such an extreme as Oedipus.

When the truth is revealed his wife-mother hangs herself, and he gouges his eyes out. He then waits around to hear what next the powerful Greek gods have in store for him.

As usual with this theatrical company, the acting is outstanding. Even behind shapeless robes and large masks, the characterization and delivery are skillful.

The costumes by Jan Stratton are a fascinating combination of gunnysack, Greek robe and forest and are very effective.

Oedipus stands symbolically with his wooden mask and huge staff in a brown robe ornamented only with palm fronds. Played by Don Sortor, late of last season's "Catonsville Nine" and "Spoon River," he is the product of the costumer, the set and the director. He speaks with ceremony, and his horror is the primal scream.

Joe Silver as Creon, Oedipus's brother-in-law, resembles a tree in appearance and noble character. Toni Sawyer, as the queen, is beautifully controlled and creates a grinding voice from her young and lovely throat. Charles Black as the prophet, Gene Hart as the old shepherd and Chuck Royster and William Lindley as the Corinthian and Theban messengers were beautifully expressive and into their own pace. The production is very well done.

The structure of the play is organized into a handout given to all the members of the audience. It's a two-for-one. The audience enjoys a play, and learns a fundamental part of psychology.

Performances are Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings, starting tomorrow, and ending Oct. 22. Time is 8:30 o'clock at 267 Buena Vista Avenue, Mill Valley.

ART REVIEW

One-Man Show Offers A 'Symbolic Journey'

By ADA GARFINKEL

Michael Bowen is an exciting and gifted visionary artist whether or not you go for the meanings of his strange, exotic symbolism in his one-man show at Emperor's Gate Gallery in Sausalito through Oct. 15.

Visionaries are persons with special insights and a mission. "The Evolution of Modern Tantra" is Bowen's transmission of his findings and preoccupations with occult experience during a two-year journey to Nepal, Tibet and Indian to study Tantra.

"All of my work represents a symbolic journey into higher realms of consciousness, back through the illusion of time to the very beginnings that are contained within our being," according to Bowen.

The artist has provided keys to his symbolic imagery which are mounted on the gallery walls for viewers' understanding. There are also guidelines for ways of reaching cosmic and personal unity, the hazards and obstacles which confront one through life's many journeys and the ultimate goals of self and universal enlightenment.

Bowen's more successful works are those in which the symbolism does not over-power the paintings as it does in the huge diamond-shaped "Mother Kali," which is a diagramatic approach to the cosmic world.

Tantric doctrine is based on the interwoveness of all life and Bowen's imagery depicts stages of metamorphosis — horses with female bodies, for example — and such morsels as mushrooms as a way of ingesting their wisdom-providing psychic visions.

His use of the mushroom as basic and integrated design and form elements in "Quatzalcoatle Hongo" and "Mushroom Candy" are irresistably beautiful.

Stars, mandalas, pyramids, the egg, the sea, the beast, the spiral, the staring eye, the man-beast, the Golden City are components of Bowon's striking spiritual and structural ideations.

Irridescent colors, montage effects of overlapping imagery, multidimensional levels of calligraphic additions add up to a wondrous experience.

The 29 works in the artist's exhibit comprise paintings and "press-works." The latter is Bowen's own invention for a printing method which allows him to combine elements from other paintings and apply the brush directly to a plate for additions or changes in progress.

Bowen's work is an important contribution to the emerging group of young visionary painters in the Bay Area whose sights are focused on reshaping their personal worlds . . . and perhaps stimulating others to do so, too.

Accompanying Bowen's exhibit is an interrelated showing of ancient Tantric objects from Tibet and India from the collection of Valerie Van Cleve and Michael Bowen.

The Emperor's Gate Gallery at 660 Bridgeway is open every day of the week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

100th Test Of Reusable Spacecraft Carried Out

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — The 100th test flight by NASA of a wingless lifting body, forerunner of a generation of reusable space ships, was carried out Thursday.

A B52 carried the rocketpowered M2 aloft and set it free. NASA reserarch pilot William H. Dana ignited the craft's rocket engine and climbed to an altitude of 67,000 feet, reaching a top speed of 900 miles per hour.

After the engine shutdown he piloted the powerless craft through manuevers to test its stability and glided to a landing on a dry lake bed.

The M2 is one of three wingless craft built to test concepts for the development of craft such as the space shuttle that will be fired into orbit atop boosters like today's space capsules, but can be "flown" back into the atmosphere to a landing, and used again.

Typewriter Taken

A typewriter valued at $100 was taken between 5 p.m. Monday and 9:45 a.m. Tuesday from the Lucas Valley Community Church by a burglar who smashed a window to unlock a door, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Nixon Plea On Transit Voted Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House, splitting along urbanrural lines, rejected Thursday a request from President Nixon to authorize use of highway trust fund money to purchase buses and build rapid rail systems for urban areas.

By a 200 to 168 margin, the House refused to even vote on a proposal to permit local officials in urban areas to use up to $700 million in trust funds for rapid transit systems, highways or both.

The vote was a setback to Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe who personally buttonholed members before the balloting in an effort to swing enough votes for the issue that has been his foremost concern in recent months.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, third-ranked Republican who led GOP support for the plan, admitted "very grave pessimism at this point."

The House, however, passed a multi-billion dollar highway construction bill on a 263 to 30 vote. The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee. There, the $800 million mass transit provision in the Senate-passed measure is almost certain to be scrapped.

The bill authorizes $20 billion in trust fund money to complete the interstate highway system by 1979, including $8 billion in new authorizations to help meet anticipated cost increases.

It provides another $4.4 billion from trust funds to build primary and secondary roads in rural and urban areas.

Coffee For Boas

A coffee for Roger Boas, Democratic nominee in the Sixth Congressional District, will be held from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday at the Bel Marin Keys home of Charles S. Chapin, 32 Montego Way.

Gem, Mineral Show Scheduled

Special exhibits in earth science and lapidary arts will be featured in the Marin Gem and Mineral Fair, Oct. 14 and 15 at the Corte Madera recreation center.

The Marin Mineral Society is sponsoring the show, which will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Oct. 14 and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Oct. 15 in the center at Tamalpais Drive at Eastman Avenue, according to publicity chairman Cameo Phillips.

Demonstrations of faceting, carving, casting and wirework in jewelry-making will be presented, she said.

Dealer booths will display rough and finished gemstones, fossils, mineral specimens, jewelry, jewelers' materials, equipment and machinery and books on rocks and jewelry making. Admission will be charged.

FAMILY

"Viva Max" — A delightful comedy about a bumbling Mexican general who in a desperate attempt to impress a beautiful senorita leads his "rag-tag" army across the border to retake the Alamo. Mature for the very young child.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"The Burglars" — A quartet of thieves steal jewelry with the aid ofa computer. A corrupt police inspector tries to get the loot for himself and the chases and murders begin. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Butterflies Are Free" — A blind boy's striking out for independence from a domineering mother is both funny and touching thanks to a clever script and intelligent direction. It will be enjoyed by youth and parents since it presents both sides equitably.

"Cancel My Reservations" — A comedy type murder mystery story with a bright-rock score gives Bob Hope an opportunity to display his wacky antics and one line quips. (Motion Picture Daily)

"The Candidate" — A downbeat story, so timely, is told with great flair. An idealistic young lawyer is corrupted by the political machine. Fine acting, direction and photography adds impact.

"Dr. Zhivago" — Magnificent scenery and musical background enhance this tale of Dr. Zhivago's life before, during World War I and afterward in the Revolution.

"The Last Rebel" — Italian made western set at the end of the Civil War. Confederate soldiers rather than become Union prisoners head for the west where they get involved with stagecoach robbery, murder and romance.

"Man In The Wilderness" — The beauty and cruelty of nature and man are highlighted in this bloody, downbeat depressing drama of a man's struggle to survive in the wilderness under the worst of conditions. A great deal of violence.

"The Other" — A strange gothic tale about a little boy who is possessed by the evil spirit of his dead twin brother and a series of horrors that befall the afflicted household. Much of tale is gripping and disturbing but horror piled upon horror finally proves anti-climactic.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bonnie and Clyde" — A chapter in the gangster history of the 1930s brought to vivid life. It tells the truth about human beings caught in a fatal web of their own creation. Very violent.

"Bullitt" —A crackling thriller. Police are assined to protect a prime witness in a Senate crime hearing, when they are killed the investigation moves ahead with an electrifying effect. Much violence and gore.

"Harold and Maude" — A heavy handed film about an old woman who teaches a young man how to enjoy life. For those who can laugh at funerals, old age, suicide and mental disturbance.

"Hickey and Boggs" — Two expolicemen nearly broke, separated from their wives, one has a homosexual and drinking problem, are hired by a crime syndicate to find a woman involved in a bank robbery. Much violence and killing. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"Mephisto Waltz" — Taken from Fred Mustards supernatural novel tells of an aspiring pianist who sells his soul to the devil. Several nude scenes. His wife kills members of the cult to break the spell.

"The New Centurions" — A rookie policeman is teamed with the old pro in a squad car on duty in Los Angeles. Story then turns to personal lives of main characters and how when they are unable to handle their problems, falter on their jobs. Nudity and cursing.

"Petulia" — A far-out comedy about an illicit love between a young bride and a jaded recently divorced older doctor. Imaginative photography but with repeated use of flashbacks are sometimes confusing.

"Play It Again, Sam" — In this sex comedy, Woody Allen is a dedicated movie buff and as a writer lives in a fantasy world where he gets advice from his favorite actor, Humphrey Bogart, on how to solve his sex problems.

"Plaza Suite" — Sophisticated comedy which tells three unrelated short storeis based on Neil Simons stage play. Walter Matthau plays the lead in each. Suit 719 of the Plaza Hotel is the setting for the sex oriented plots.

"Slaughterhouse 5" — Unusual production that mixes tragedy of war, trivia of middle-class life and fantasy of science-fiction. Fine acting and direction save it from being just slick satire. Some nudity and cursing.

"Where Does It Hurt?" — Humor about the medical profession invariably focuses on greed and ineptitude, this film is no exception. Peter Sellers is a greedy hospital administrator. The satire is broad but slow paced. (Boxoffice Magazine)

ADULTS ONLY

"The Last Picture Show" — An intimate, unsentimentalized picture of a dreary small town life in the early 1950s as seen from the point of view of an 18 year old boy. Nudity, sex and cursing.

"Prime Cut" — A Chicago syndicate bigshot is sent to Kansas City to make a local meat packing operator toe the line. It is really a front for a prostitution ring. Excessive violence, nudity and cursing.

Artist To Talk

Jazz Session Set Sunday

The New Orleans Jazz Club of Northern California will feature two bands, a jam session and dancing Sunday afternoon at the Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

From 2 p.m. on, entertainment will be provided by Tom Buck's Generation Gap Jazz Band and Ev Farey and Friends.

David H. Walker III of Belvedere, club president, will emcee the program.

Rec Commission Narrows List Of Urgent Needs

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission has expanded its list of urgently desired facilities, but must meet again next week to decide which ones to suggest the city council finance next year.

Recreation Director James R. Raymond said the commission at its Wednesday meeting, reconsidered the top priority it had given to the proposed $750,000 to $1.5 million Lucchesi Park over the Schollenberger River Park, at a meeting Sept. 20.

Commissioners decided to add replacement of the Kenilworth Little League field, construction of lighted softball fields and expansion of the city swim center to the list of high priority proposals.

Raymond said the commissioners also favored, on a less urgent basis, refurbishing the McNear Park tennis courts, building neighborhood parks near Cherry Valley and Grant schools, and creation of a rural community, regional type park.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the city hall to assign actual priorities.

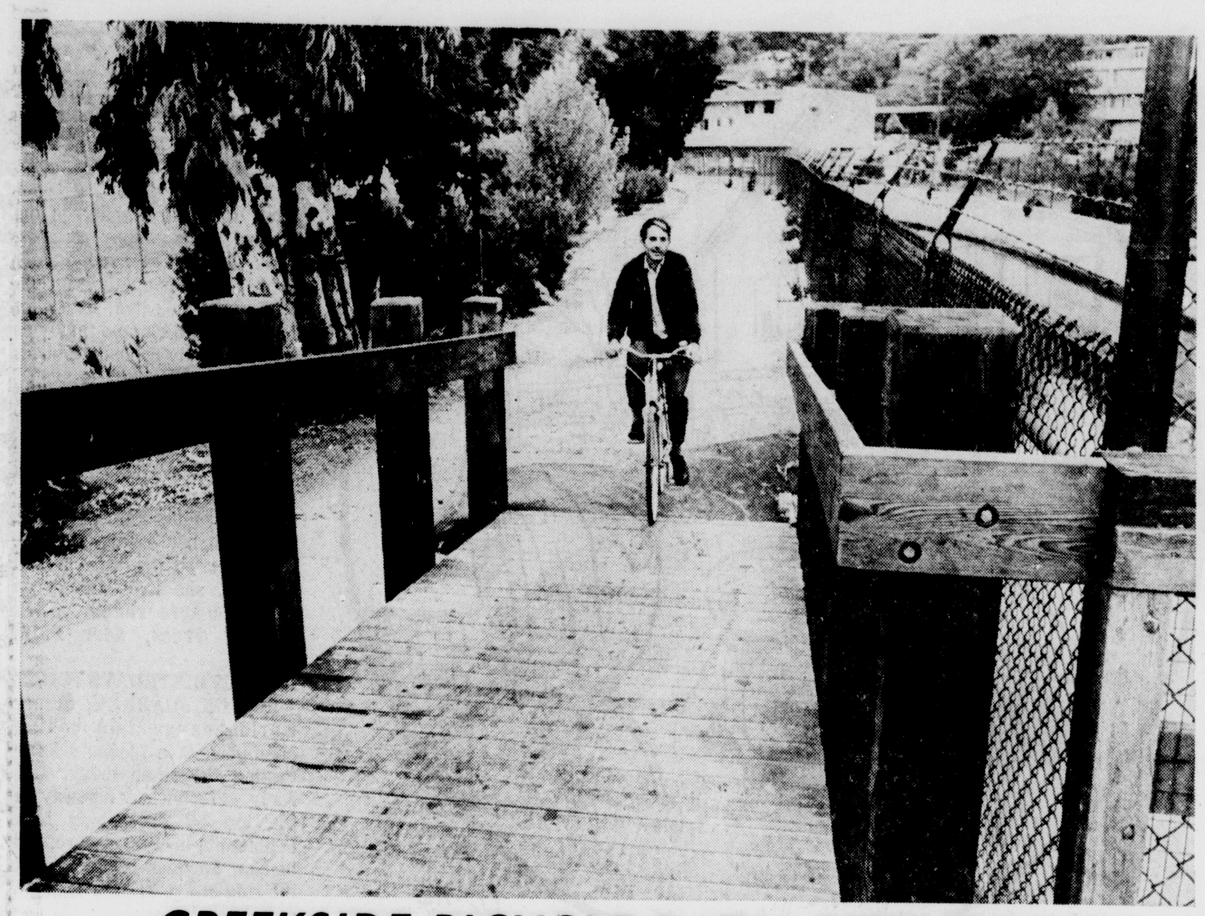
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1972 23



CREEKSIDE BICYCLE PATH GETS GOING

Russell Ridge of Kentfield, a member of the biology department at College of Marin, happily rides his bike up to the pleasant wooden bridge over Corte Madera Creek near Adaline E. Kent School, Kentfield. The county has begun constructing the long-awaited bike path alongside the creek, linking Bon Air Road and College Avenue, and providing a safe route for cyclists who want to ride between the college and Larkspur, avoiding heavily travelled Magnolia Avenue. The path is scheduled for completion by the end of the month, county officials said.

Public Hears County Plan Ideas

Citizens and officials asked far-ranging questions about the proposed Marin countywide plan last night, but seemed most concerned about the controversial review agency that is proposed to coordinate development in the county and its 11 cities.

The first public hearing on the countywide plan, held by the City-County Planning Council of Marin, attracted a full-house audience to the Marin Civic Center. The hearing was cut short about 11 p.m. by the building's security rules, and will be continued at 8 p.m. Oct. 19, according to George C. Quesada, chairman of the planning council.

Quesada reported today the council "assured the citizens that the review agency idea was still at a very formative stage. . . and wouldn't be foisted upon them without revision of existing mutual powers regulations and agreements."

The countywide plan itself must be approved by the county and the cities before any implementation agency could begin to function, he said.

Other speakers questioned the feasibility of limiting population to 286,000 persons by the year 1990, called for more intensive economic studies and asked creation of a computer model to weigh the impact of future developments in the county and the cities.

A number of West Marin residents said they wanted public hearings on the plan held in their communities, according to Sol Silver, principal planner in the county planning department. The West Marin residents also said they failed to see how the countywide plan's goal of housing diversity could be achieved in their area, while the 60-acre lot minimum remains.

Silver reported that council member Adelaide Wilson of Fairfax stressed that "a lot of people were attacking the plan as if it were encased in concrete" although it still is in the formative stage and the planning council has not yet adopted any recommendations for a review agency or any other way to see the plan's goals realized. The only recommendations for implementation so far are staff suggestions, she pointed out.

Many questions were asked about how state-imposed planning element deadlines affect the countywide plan, Silver said.

Novato Planning Commissioner Gail Wilhelm suggested that the countywide plan be more specific about historic sites such as Rancho Olompali, and called for further discussion of proposed joint civilian-military use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

County Planning Commissioner John F. West called for electing all members of any review agency, and San Anselmo Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro questioned whether the review agency should require a two-thirds or three-quarters vote to overrule any development approved by a city council or the county. Tiburon City Councilman Albert Aramburu questioned whether the countywide plan could be as binding as plans adopted by the cities.

Audience members also asked for clarification of the concepts of land "banking," density rights, trading and revenue sharing — concepts mentioned by the staff as ways of making the plan work, Silver reported.

Quesada commented today that the review agency issue may have to be separated from adoption of the countywide plan itself, "although the plan should contain means of implementation." He said it might be necessary to form a committee to work on the review agency problem while the cities and the county supervisors hold hearings on the overall plan.

Court Curbs Will Halve Job Force, Builder Claims

A Marin County contractor predicted today that the recent state Supreme Court ruling requiring environmental statements for all but minor developments would throw half — or about 2,000 — of Marin's unionized construction workers out of work. (See also story, page 1.)

"If this thing remains as it is, 50 per cent of Marin's union people will be out of work," declared Dino J. Ghilotti, an owner of Ghilotti Brothers Construction Co. of San Rafael. "And it'll affect related industries, too," he said.

Ghilotti said he didn't know what an environmental impact report was in any case, adding that the ruling came "in a great deal of haste."

The president of the Associated Home Builders of the Greater Aast Bay in Berkeley hinted the ruling could strip 400,000 workers throughout the state of their jobs. "And major banks are suspending construction lending," according to M. I. Hardesty, who predicted a "crippling effect on the state's entire economy."

David Greenlee, executive manager of the Marin Builders Exchange, said the court decision was "a case of writing the laws rather than interpreting them."

"It's created absolute chaos," he said.

Greenlee was unable to estimate the number of Marin construction projects that would be affected by the ruling.

Meanwhile, Asst. Marin County Counsel Richard V. Godino said county counsels from throughout the state were meeting today in San Francisco to discuss the meaning of the ruling.

Pilot Of Sabre Is Recuperating

Bingham was discharged from a Sacramento hospital on Tuesday, and is reported to be gaining strength after suffering a broken arm, broken leg and cuts in the tragedy.

His wife, La Vonne, has said attorneys have advised the couple not to speak to newsmen until after a public hearing on the crash to be conducted by the National Transportation Safety Board later this month in Sacramento.

Survey On Year-Round Schooling

The Old Adobe School District board of Petaluma last night voted a survey to determine if the year-round school plan should be extended to Bernard Eldredge School.

Supt. Dean D. Magowan said parents at the school will be contacted within two weeks to get opinions on changing from the traditional nine-month calendar.

Last year the district put La Tercera and Miwok Valley schools on the staggered 45-15 plan. Students are in class for nine weeks followed by three weeks of vacation. Parents and teachers at Eldredge also were in favor of the plan, but asked that it be delayed until the 1973-74 school year.

Magowan said new opinions will be gathered from parents to make certain they still favor the year-round plan. If approved, students at Eldredge would begin the new schedule in early July next year.

The Old Adobe School District board also:

ELECTION — Voted to oppose Proposition 14 on the Nov. 7 ballot, saying the Watson initiative would be harmful to schools.

RELIGION — Rejected a request that students be released 45 minutes early from school once a week for religious training. The board was sympathetic with the plan, but noted scheduling problems.

COMPLETION — Heard that a classroom addition at Miwok Valley School has been accepted as complete.

BONDS — Received a preliminary opinion from the state Office of Local Assistance noting that local bond money could not be used to air-condition La Tercera and Miwok Valley schools.

Low-Income Housing Agreement In Cotati

The Cotati City Council last night approved a leased housing agreement with the Sonoma County Housing Authority in the hope of improving living conditions for low-income residents.

The council, with member Herbert I. Winter dissenting, also approved guidelines for operation of the authority program in the city.

Under the agreement, the housing authority, based in Santa Rosa, will lease housing from private owners, bring the buildings up to code and rent them to low-income persons at 25 per cent of their monthly income.

Cotati joined Santa Rosa as the only cities in the county to participate in the federally financed program.

The Cotati City Council Also:

BIKE PATHS — Endorsed a bicycle path plan proposed by David Pratt, a student at Rancho Cotate High School. The path would provide safer access for bicyclists to the high school, Sonoma State College and Petaluma Hill Road.

SUBDIVISION — Delayed consideration of a request by Morrison Homes for a 13-acre subdivision at 1040 East Cotati Avenue, pending receipt of an impact report from the Cotati School District.

HEARING — Set a hearing for Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. on the proposed agricultural district in the zoning ordinance.

MEETING — Adjourned to the next meeting on Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Two Injured Slightly When Car Hits Tanker

Two persons suffered minor injuries yesterday when an auto knocked another car into a tanker truck filled with gasoline southbound on Highway 101 near Tiburon.

The California Highway Patrol said the truck's tank was not damaged in the accident which occurred at 10:55 p.m. Traffic was backed up to Corte Madera for about 30 minutes until the wreck was cleardd.

Officers said a car driven by Rose L. Courtney, 74, of Sacramento, struck the rear of an auto operated by Nan Ingalls, 29, of 57 Arlington Drive, Petaluma.

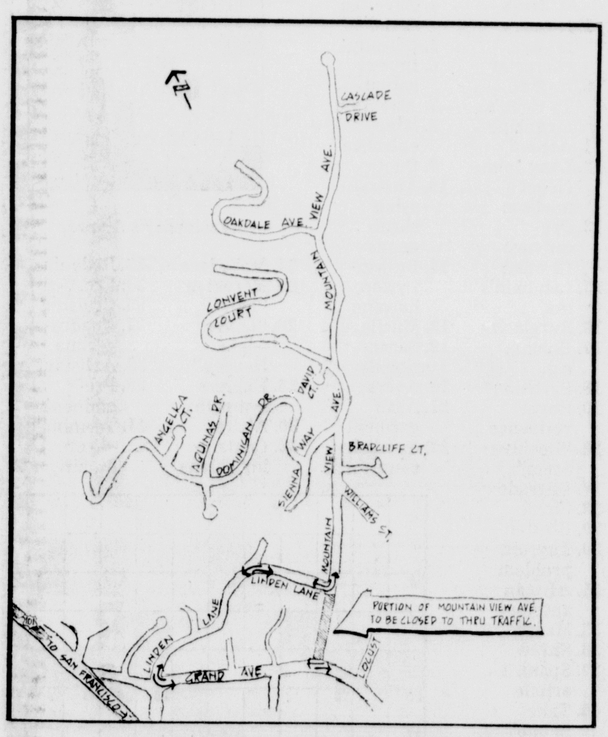
The Ingalls car then was propelled into the rear of the Chevron tanker, driven by Daniel F. Thome, 27, of 713 Lamont Avenue, Novato, according to the highway patrol.

Two passengers in the Courtney vehicle, Otto Miller, 75, and Thelma Lee, 68, both of Sacramento, were treated for cuts at Marin General Hospital.

Swimming Pool Co. Equipment Stolen

More than $7,000 worth of equipment for installing swimming pools was taken last Friday or Saturday from the Crown Pool Co. in Ignacio, Marin Sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

They said the equipment, which included a $1,500 trench digger, was taken from the fenced yard of the company at 114 Hamilton Drive by someone who had a key to the gate.



SAN RAFAEL SEWER DETOUR

Sanitary sewer construction on portions of Mountain View Avenue in San Rafael will cause the road to be closed Monday for a two-week period between Grand Avenue and Linden Lane. Though residents living within the construction area will be permitted access, others must detour around the site by using Linden Lane, according to Norris Rawles, city director of public works. Sewer reconstruction will eventually extend up Mountain View past Bradcliff Court, requiring access through private portions of Sienna Way.

Creek To Be Checked For Poison

Samples of water from Miller Creek in Mill Valley were to be sent to the state Health Department for analysis today in the wake of a report that a dog had been poisoned by drinking from the creek.

Mill Valley police said a terrier had become ill at about 3:30 p.m. yesterday after drinking from the creek in the vicinity of Miller Grove on West Blithedale Avenue.

A veterinarian diagnosed the illness as strychnine poisoning. The animal died a few hours later, according to officers.

However, Police Capt. William Walsh discounted the creek as the source of poisoning and said the dog "very probably" ingested the poison by eating something.

"Strychnine can't be bought in quantities sufficient to poison a creek," Walsh said. "It is only available in a preparation used for killing gophers."

Nevertheless, as "a precautionary measure," polce and firemen turned on a hydrant in the area to flush out the creek last night.

$179.95 Fare Coast-To-Coast To Be Offered

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— American Airlines has announced the lowest fare ever for a coast-to-coast roundtrip on a regularly scheduled airline.

The airlines announced Thursday night that starting Oct. 31 it will introduce a special roundtrip fare of $179.95 between San Francisco and 21 East Coast cities.

The discount will run through Dec. 7, according to Frank M. Burg, American's district sales manager.

The special fare will be good only on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and tickets must be purchased seven days prior to the trip.

There will be no discounts for children.

Nixon Is Backed By More Papers

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Nixon has been endorsed for re-election by 548 daily newspapers, while 38 have endorsed Sen. George McGovern, according to a survey taken by Editor and Publisher magazine.

The poll, published in the current edition of the magazine, was taken by postcard. Of cards mailed to the 1,764 daily newspapers in the United States, 804 responded.

According to Editor and Publisher, the papers backing the President on their editorial pages have a combined circulation of 17,532,456. Those in favor of McGovern have a combined cirulation of 1,468,223. Other papers answering the poll were either independent or uncommitted.

Aranson Returning In 'Moby Dick'

Mill Valley actor Jack Aranson will return to the stage in his much-acclaimed production of "Moby Dick" for six performances Wednesday through Oct. 22 in the San Francisco City Theater.

Aranson performs solo in the staging of the Herman Melville classic, playing 13 roles in 16 scenes. After the San Francisco engagement, he will take "Moby Dick" on its second national tour.

Officials Try To Find Slayers

A spokesman for the state Department of Corrections said the only clues were two knives found at the scene.

Frank Miranda, 27, Fresno, Calif., and Richard L. Medina, 27, Sacramento, Calif., were killed Wednesday. Dornatio Bettencourt, 30, Holtville, Calif., and Eddie R. Marino, 29, Los Angeles, were wounded in the fight.

William Black, superintendent of the minimum-security facility, said guards who saw the fight involving the four men were too far away to stop the killings.

When You Want A Finesse, Wait Until It's Given To You

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When I was a little boy, my mother used to say: "When you want something, don't try to take it. Wait until it's given to you." I still use this advice for finesses.

Opening lead — ♣ 6

WEST SAFE

People who lead trumps against slam contracts usually die young, but in this case West was safe from his partner's wrath. Any other lead would allow South to ruff two spades in the dummy, after which the slam would be unbeatable.

South saw that he could expect to win six trumps in his own hand, one ruff in dummy, two top spades and two other aces. One additional trick was needed for the slam.

RUFFS LOW CLUB

Declarer won the first trick in dummy and ruffed a low club. He continued by cashing the top spades, ruffed a low spade in dummy and then ruffed another low club. South then drew two more rounds of trumps.

The average player might be tempted to try the diamond finesse at this stage. If it worked, all would be well.

South had a better idea. He just led his last spade, giving East a trick with the jack of spades. At this stage East had three diamonds and a club, and dummy had ace-queen of both suits. East had to give dummy a free finesse, thus handing declarer his contract on the proverbial platter.

WEST FORCED

What if West had held the jack of spades? Then West would be forced to lead a diamond or a club, and South would still be able to take the diamond finesse sooner or later.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 9 8 2
♡ - 5 3 2
♦ - K 10 4
♣ - 5 3 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

You need six points for a sound response, and this hand counts up to only four points. The best way to stay out of trouble with a really ghastly hand is to pass.

Propositions Forum Oct. 15

A forum on state and county ballot propositions will be held by Marin Alternative from noon to 3 p.m. on Oct. 15 in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Among issues to be debated are county measures on forming a regional park and fluoridating water, and state propositions on property tax reform, the death penalty, obscenity, marijuana, coastal preservation, busing and farm labor.

Marin Alternative members will meet after the forum to consider endorsements of the measures.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

SEND A LETTER OR TELEGRAM! It's Janet Gaynor's 66th birthday today and our First Lady of the Screen deserves many happy returns. This San Francisco lovely broke into movie acting in 1924 — first as an extra, then as a female comedian, and finally as a leading lady opposite Charles Farrell in "Seventh Heaven." You know the rest. This 1927 role, plus her leads in "Street Angel" and "Sunrise," earned her Hollywood's first Academy Award, which was handed to her by Douglas Fairbanks at a modest dinner on May 16, 1929. Now married to director Paul Gregory, she lives quietly on their 100-acre ranch, called Singing Trees, near Palm Springs.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS TODAY

1. JACK SHARKEY, former world heavyweight boxing champion, is a 70-year-old fly-casting fisherman today. This Navy kid punched his way to the top by decisioning Max Schmelling in 1932. Now retired in New England, Sharkey quit the ring at age 33 after losing a comeback try against: (A) Joe Louis; (B) Jimmy Braddock; or (C) Primo Carnera.

2. HELEN WILLS MOODY, who lives virtually unrecognized in Carmel, is 67 years old today and still the queen of women's tennis. Her string of victories still stands. She was the U.S. singles champion among women seven years out of nine and she beat the best of them at Wimbledon eight times between 1927 and 1938, the year she retired. Calm, cool, and calculating, the press nicknamed her: (A) Aunt Artica; (B) The Sphinx; or (C) Little Miss Poker Face.

3. THOR HEYDERDAHL, Norwegian anthropologist and explorer, celebrates his 58th birthday today. His most recent exploit found him floating across the Atlantic in a papyrus boat. In 1947 he proved his theory that Latin Americans could have populated the South Sea islands by drifting across the Pacific on a raft he named: (A) Kon-Tiki; (B) Aku-Aku; or (C) The Song of Norway.

ANSWERS

1. A (Joe Louis); 2. C (Poker Face); 3. A (Kon-Tiki).

ISN'T GOOD SERVICE WONDERFUL?
Our service is "late" but nice. Marin commuters have found it very convenient that our service department is now open till 7 pm. Monday thru Friday. In most cases we can give your VW a maintenance or tune-up by 7 pm if you come in by 5 pm. Call our private service line 388-5230 and give us a vote for "late" service.

PUBLIC NOTICE

THE REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN
429 Drake Avenue
Marin City, California
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING BY THE REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ON PROPOSED SALE OF REAL PROPERTY IN THE MARIN CITY REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT AND THE AVAILABILITY OF REDEVELOPERS' STATEMENTS FOR PUBLIC DISCLOSURE FOR PUBLIC EXAMINATION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on October 10, 1972 at the hour of 8:00 P.M. in the Planning Chambers, Marin Civic Center, San Rafael, California, The Redevelopment Agency of the County of Marin will conduct a public hearing on the proposed sale of all or a portion of the below described property in the Marin City Redevelopment Project area to one or more of the following developers:

MID-CITY DEVELOPERS
BARRY SLATT MORTAGE COMPANY
LARWIN URBAN HOUSING and MARIN URBAN DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION
SUBSIDIZED HOUSING CORPORATION
INLAND STEEL DEVELOPMENT

The project area is located in an area known as Marin City within the County of Marin, and is more particularly described in the redevelopment plan for the project recorded in the Office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin in Book 1443 of Official Records, beginning at page 155.

A purpose of the hearing is to consider entering into agreement with one or more of the redevelopers listed above. The proposed disposition and sale shall be made in accordance with one or more written agreements; and subject to convenants, conditions and restrictions necessary to effectuate the redevelopment for the Marin City Redevelopment Project. The Redevelopment Agency of the County of Marin proposes to consider authorization of one or more of the aforesaid proposed agreements on or after October 10, 1972.

Each redeveloper has filed with the Agency a Redeveloper's Statement For Public Disclosure in the form prescribed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to Section 105 (e) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. Each Redeveloper's Statement For Public Disclosure discloses, among other things, the names of officers and principal members, shareholders and investors, and other parties having a substantial share or ownership interest in the particular redeveloper.

The hearing is open to the public, and any person present shall have the opportunity to be heard on the question of the proposed disposition.

Each Redeveloper's Statement For Public Disclosure and each proposed agreement is available for public examination at the office of The Redevelopment Agency of the County of Marin at 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City, California during its regular office hours from 8:30 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

The real property to be sold is known as Unit #4 located in the Marin City Redevelopment Project area, generally described as follows:

Thirty-six (36) acres within the Marin City Redevelopment Project area situated on either side of Donahue Street and Guy Circle between Park Circle and Keys Court.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

There's A Story Behind Every Thin And Undernourished Child

There usually is a story behind every thin and undernourished child. This was true of Janet who, at 4½, was underweight, pale, and anemic. Her mother could not understand why her appetite was so poor and why she failed to gain weight. The youngster was fond of milk and had been drinking a quart a day since she was 10 months old. Most of it was consumed between meals to wash down crackers and cookies.

Janet never ate enough protein foods such as meat, eggs, and cheese. She did not like fruits and vegetables. In other words, she was a finicky eater. Here was the reason for the failure to gain weight and her flabby muscles and dental caries. Snacking between meals ruined her appetite for lunch and dinner. Parental nagging and bickering to get her to eat made matters worse. She was expected to "eat for mother and dad" instead of for her own pleasure.

HER APPETITE perked up when the snacks were stopped. More emphasis was placed on solid proteins and less on milk.

Janet never will be as healthy as she might have been, because the foundation for good nutrition must be laid by age 2 or it is too late. In her case, the parents missed the boat.

And what about Tommy who was observed in a restaurant? As he reached for a bite of meat, his mother said, "Drink your milk." Down went the fork and he took a few sips of milk. A few minutes later, the scene was repeated as he again went for the meat. In time, he was too full to eat the foods that were more important than the milk.

A GLASSFUL of milk will fill the stomach of any small child. Furthermore, it contains no iron and is a poor substitute for the solid proteins found in meat, eggs, fish, and poultry. Nor does milk take the place of fruits and vegetables. By age 3, milk is a good adjunct to the diet, but even good things can be overdone. Many of the most severe cases of childhood anemia occur in youngsters who subsist mainly on milk.

Pollster Says Polls Might Affect Voters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A public opinion pollster for Time magazine and the New York Times says President Nixon's lead over George McGovern in the polls may be influencing the voters.

Daniel Yankelovich said polls in other election years have not been shown to affect the voters. But he said it appeared in the past week that voters might be significantly influenced by Nixon's lead of 28 to 39 percentage points.

"There is always a first time and my feeling is this time there may very well be a bandwagon effect," Yankelovich said Thursday before a House subcommittee.

The subcommittee is considering a bill to require political pollsters to file with the Library of Congress 72 hours before publication data on their survey procedures.

Jog Slated To Promote Open Space

Due to an error, details on the "Jog the Mountain Day" set for tomorrow by the Larkspur Town Meeting were omitted in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Chairman Charles Brousse said the event is designed to promote public interest in preserving open space through the proposed Marin County regional park district.

Jogging will last from 10 a.m. to noon. The route is the Southern Marin line road of the Marin Municipal Water District which traverses the flanks of Mount Tamalpais from Summit Drive in Corte Madera to Crown Road in Kent Woodlands. Entry may be made at either point.

Brousse said a meeting to explain the purposes of the park district (measure "A" on the November ballot) will be held at noon following the jogging.

Composer Jailed For Tax Evasion

NEW YORK (UPI)—Norman Pawlak, known profesionally in the entertainment world as Norman Paris, was sentenced Thursday to 60 days in jail and fined $6,000 for evading income taxes.

Pawlak, 46, a musical composer and arranger for radio and television was convicted for not reporting income of $179,000 from 1964 to 1967 during which time he was musical conductor for the CBS show "I've Got A Secret."

Yes Vote Would Mean $1 Million

Marin Community College District would receive $1,146,984 in state funds if Proposition 1, the California Community College Construction Program Bond Act, is approved by voters Nov. 7.

Dr. Lloyd E. Messersmith, executive director of the California Junior College Association, said the state would contribute the money in matching funds for college construction projects in fiscal 1972-73.

District publicist Earlene Jones said the projects include site development and working drawings at the new Novato campus, Indian Valley Colleges.

Other construction which would be funded is on the College of Marin campus - equipment for the new library, remodeling and equipment of the art building, new playing fields, and reclamation of the marshland which was released to the college after completion of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

Giacomini Vote Goes To Demo

Gary T. Giacomini, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the fourth district, has declared that he will vote in November for Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern.

Giacomini, a Republican, said his declaration did not constitute an endorsement of McGovern in the sense that he would be assisting the McGovern campaign. "I'm not out beating the bushes for him," Giacomini said.

Speaking at a candidates night at the College of Marin last Friday, Giacomini said he was for McGovern because "he is letting people into the political process. I like to think of my campaign also as a people campaign."

Giacomini'u rival, Michael R. Peevey, declined to state his preference in the presidential contest. He said his "deep convictions" in the contest had nothing to do with the nonpartisan supervisorial election. Peevey is a Democrat.

Clark To Talk On POW Trip

Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark wll speak on his trip to North Vietnam Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the main gymnasium at Sonoma State College.

Clark will also show films of war damage and interviews with American prisoners-of-war at the event sponsored by the Students For McGovern Club.

School Leaders Oppose Prop. 14

Unanimous opposition to Proposition 14, the Watson Initiative on the November ballot, has been voted by directors of the Marin County School Administrators Association.

The president of the association, Dr. Clifford W. Campbell, superintendent of Dixie School District, said the proposition to limit property tax rates would require massive cuts in programs and personnel. This would be "most detrimental to the education of the children of Marin County," he said.

A's Lineup Is Set; Martin Juggles Tiger Names

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI) —Dick Williams seems all set with his Oakland lineup for the American League playoffs starting Saturday but Billy Martin is still juggling names and combinations for his Detroit club.

Today, both teams hold workouts in the Oakland Coliseum and hopefully Martin will settle on a lineup. The one name the Tigers skipper is certain about is Mickey Lolich, his star pitcher, for the opener.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, Williams' ace, will start against Lolich in the 1 p.m. PDT first game Saturday. For the second game Sunday in the best-of-five series to determine the A.L. pennant winner, it will be Ken Holtzman for the A's and Joe Coleman for the Tigers.

Williams will lead off his lineup with shortstop Bert Campaneris, the A. L. base stealing champion with 52, and follow with right fielder Matty Alou, left fielder Joe Rudi, centerfielder Reggie Jackson, third baseman Sal Bando, first baseman Mike Epstein, catcher Gene Tenace, second baseman Dick Green and Hunter.

"Those are the fellows who won the division title for us," said Williams. "With the exception of Tenace and Green I'll stick pretty much to this lineup."

Green is one of four second basemen Williams uses. The others, in the usual order of appearance, are Ted Kubiak, Dal Maxvill and Tim Cullen. All four will see duty in the playoffs because every time the second baseman comes to bat with a chance to advance a runner or score one Williams will go to a pinch hitter.

"My pinch-hitters have come through enough times in big games," said Williams in defense of the move first dreamed up by A's owner Charlie Finley, "so I'd have to be foolish not to get a hitter up there when we have a chance to score. We don't score too many runs so we have to take advantage of all our opportunities, even in the second and third innings."

Martin, the pepper-pot former star second baseman of World Series fame with the New York Yankees, knows all about two-platoon baseball, having taken a few lessons from teacher Casey Stengel, but he prefers to go with a pat lineup, whenever possible.

For the playoffs, he has a small problem, because Bill Freehan seems healed from a broken bone in his thumb and is ready to play.

Where to put Freehan is Martin's dilemma. Bill was his No. 1 catcher before injuring his thumb in early September, but he also can play first base. While he's been out Duke Sims has done most of the catching.

Williams feels his A's will beat the Tigers and go on to represent the A.L. in the World Series against either the Pirates or Reds.

Barry Rejoining Warriors: Report

MY SCOOP DE JOUR:

Rick Barry, the wandering player of the basketball courts, will be a member of the Golden State Warriors by the time the team takes the court tonight for their exhibition game against the Lakers in Los Angeles.

A very "inside" source tells me that the official agreement will be reached today at 2:30 p.m. in a little office on Union Street. Present will be player Barry and owner Franklin Mieuli. And the educated guess of those in the know is that center Nate Thurmond will still be the highest paid player on the team.

But Barry is back. Joy has been put bck in the hearts of basketball fans who know that Barry is the difference in making the Warriors a good team or a championship team.

If Barry does not get into a uniform fast enough for tonight's game, he most certainly will be in uniform tomorrow night when the Warriors play in San Diego. Bay Area fans will be able to see Rick in living color as that game, starting at 9 p.m., will be telecast by Channel 2.

If I were to guess on the amount of money Barry signed for I would say $218,000, give or take a dollar or two.

TRAFFIC IN the East Bay should be really something tomorrow and if you get tired of counting cars there you can always take in the highway spectacular on the Peninsula. But I would suggest making the Berkeley to Palo Alto trip by helicopter.

Sports in the Bay Area is the culprit which threatens to cause an all-time high in the carbon monoxide readings of your friendly smog gauge. In Berkeley, a crowd of 60,000 or so can be expected to watch Ohio State football players make things rough for University of California. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 30,000 souls will probably be in the Oakland Coliseum for the A's-Tigers playoff opener. At Stanford, the USC football game will draw perhaps 75,000.

That means a lot of cars and a lot of frayed nerves. . .and also a good number of unmowed lawns.

Marin County has its own traffic jam of football games tomorrow. There will be three Marin County Athletic League prep games and a College of Marin non-conference test of all going on at the same time. Drake will be at Tamalpais, San Rafael will be at Redwood and College of Marin will host Gavilan College of Gilroy, all starting at 1 p.m., and a half hour later the San Marin vs. Terra Linda game will start at Novato High.

It's a Saturday that boggles my mind.

KAISER INTERNATIONAL golf officials have discovered that a good number of the spectators at their tournament come from Marin County and have opened a Marin ticket outlet at the Holiday Inn on Northgate Drive in Terra Linda. Now Marin County golf fans can purchase their tickets before leaving for the Silverado Country Club course in Napa. The tournament practice rounds are Oct. 16 and 17 and a pro-am is held Oct. 18. The tournament itself is Oct. 19-22.

MARIN COUNTY'S own, Elmer Collett, and Cedrick Hardman will be the guests of honor Tuesday evening at the 49er Goal Rushers of Marin dinner at Holiday Inn. Collett, a guard and member of the special teams, and Hardman, defensive end, will tell all about Sunday's game against the Rams in Los Angeles and I hope it's a happy tale they tell. Cocktails begin at 6 p.m. and dinner is at 7; reservations can be made by telephoning Candy (how sweet) at Redwood Bank in San Rafael.

JUNIOR GREG DAVENPORT of Novato, linebacker for the UCLA Bruins, played the last eight minutes of last Friday's 65-20 victory over Oregon and had quite a game. He intercepted a pass and ran it back 22 yards for a touchdown and made five tackles. Not bad for eight minutes work.

AFTER UNIVERSITY of San Francisco lost twice to St. Louis University's soccer team, 1-0 in San Rafael and then 4-1 in San Francisco, the Dons of USF fell all the way from second to 16 in the national college soccer rankings. St. Louis, on the other hand, moved up only one notch from fifth to fourth. The St. Louis-USF match drew 3,200 in San Rafael and when the teams played each other two days later in Kezar Stadium only 400 showed up. I guess most of the soccer fans in the Bay Area are crowded into Marin County.

IT'S OFFICIAL: President Nixon and Congress have proclaimed today as "National Coaches Day," so I think it would be fitting if all you girls in the audience would go out and kiss your favorite coach. And give him a handshake for me.

Buck Jabbar, Three Others Are Jailed

DENVER (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, 7-2 center for the Milwaukee Bucks of the National Basketball Association, was jailed today with teammate Lucius Allen and two other men on suspicion of possessing marijuana and other "dangerous drugs."

Jabbar and Allen, former teammates at UCLA who led Milwaukee to the NBA championship in 1970-71, were held in a jail cell overnight, then posted $200 bond and were released at 9 a.m.

Simple possession of marijuana is a misdemeanor in Colorado.

The players and two other men were arrested after police stopped their car early today.

"The officers detected burning marijuana coming from the car, and arrested the four occupants," said Sgt. Steve Metros of the Denver police vice squad.

It was the first trouble with the law for Jabbar, who was known as Lew Alcindor at UCLA before he changed his name. But Allen twice before had been arrested on drug charges —the last time being given probation by a Los Angeles judge on a marijuana charge.

In his probation report, Allen was quoted as saying he could "be an example to other young people and through my experience explain to them the risk of harm that they do to themselves, their families and their friends by using drugs and narcotics."

Also arrested early today were 23-year-old college students Stephen E. Duncan of Columbia, Mo., and Mordecai C. Cooke of Seattle, Wash. Police said Cooke was driving the car when it was stopped.

Jabbar and Allen were in Denver, where Milwaukee defeated the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association in an exhibition game Thursday night, 130-92.

Jabbar played just two quarters in the game but scored 29 points.

"We are still investigating all the facts," Sgt. Metros said. "When we gather the facts they will be handed over to the district attorney who will make the decision on the harges."

Officials for the Bucks said Jabbar and Allen would return with the team on a noon flight to Milwaukee. Police said the two players were arrested at 3:30 a.m. outside the team's downtown Denver hotel.

Jabbar was the NBA rookie of the year in 1968-69 and led the league in scoring during 1969-70 and 1971-72. He was the league's most valuable player when he led the Bucks to the NBA title in 1970-71.

Marichal, Hart Face Operations

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Righthander Juan Marichal and third baseman Jim Ray Hart will undergo corrective surgery Monday at the Palo Alto-Stanford Medical Center.

Marichal posted a 6-16 record, his poorest in the major leagues, while pitching most of the year with a sore back. Dr. Daniel Meub, the same surgeon who operated on Mike McCormick for a similar problem last year, will operate on Marichal's lumbar disc.

A Giants spokesman expects both will be ready for spring training in February.

Munyon Batting Star

Jess Munyon went three for four with two home runs, one a grand slam, and drove in seven runs as Suburban Auto Repair of San Rafael mauled Morey's, 17-2, in a San Francisco A League softball game last night.

Redwood, San Rafael In Showdown

Sterling Backfields, Wishbones Displayed

Phil Roark didn't exactly predict a high-scoring game, but when asked how the Wishbone offense could be stopped, big Phil just laughed.

Roark's Redwood High School team will match star-studded backfields and lethal Wishbone attacks with San Rafael tomorrow at 1 p.m. in a key Marin County Athletic League football game at Larkspur.

San Rafael (2-1) opened its MCAL season last Friday by rolling up 402 yards total offense and crushing Tamalpais, 32-16. Quarterback Lance Loughlin masterminded the attack and halfback Jim Grigg gained 79 yards to take the league lead, and Roark also insisted "we've got to stop their fullback (Steve D'Ambra)," who gained 55.

Redwood (3-0) ran off its third straight non-league victory, a 20-16 squeaker over Clayton Valley of Concord. "They've had the opportunity to fold under pressure and they haven't done it," said San Rafael coach Bob Muster glumly.

Redwood running backs Mike Connor and Frank Giorgi slashed for 90 and 77 yards, respectively. They will be joined by Ron Small and on occasion Daryl Edralin, the latter having recovered from a shoulder injury. Muster also singled out quarterback John Troppmann as a threat.

Redwood must overcome a tendency to make mistakes. The Giants lost five fumbles against Clayton Valley, a repetition of the season opener against Antioch, when they bobbled away four possible touchdowns.

Tackle Mike Tessin, good enough to start as a sophomore, broke an ankle last week and will be lost for the season for Redwood. Bill Deedy will replace him. Fullback Bill Edralin is still out with a broken ankle, but otherwise the Giants are healthy. San Rafael reports no injuries other than bumps and bruises.

Redwood is now in its second year of running the Wishbone, and Roark says constantly facing it in practice will give his defense an advantage against San Rafael's attack. Muster, on the other hand, feels his Bulldogs will have no special advantage because of familiarity.

Redwood's 20-13 victory last year ruined co-champion San Rafael's chances for an undisputed MCAL title, a fact Muster is sure not to let go unnoticed by this season's team.

The lineups:

San Marin Faces Terra Linda '11'

Undefeated San Marin and winless Terra Linda — no, that is not a misprint — will collide tomorrow afternoon in a high school football game which will determine whether their respective records are reality or illusion.

The 1:30 p.m. clash at Novato High also will have a direct bearing on the Marin County Athletic League race, for a San Marin victory would put the stamp of a contender on the Mustangs and deal a crippling blow to Terra Linda's chances.

Each team's record thus far is a major surprise. San Marin (3-0) won only one game all last year, and that by just four points. Terra Linda (0-3) is traditionally a strong team, and has not played badly this year, but has lost two straight games in the final minute.

San Marin enters the contest with an offensive unit which has scored 86 points in three games, including a 28-19 pasting of Drake last week. The balanced attack massed 389 yards against the Pirates, and features wide receiver Greg Pater (four catches for 138 yards) and fullback Fred Doar (12 carries for 57).

Terra Linda counters with a rugged defense which held powerful Novato to 122 yards total offense in a 15-14 loss last week. "Linebackers Scott Logan, Steve Withers and Cam Leith were outstanding," said coach Don Lucas.

The confrontation figures to be most frantic in the secondary. San Marin threw for 214 yards last week, but Terra Lin-

Pirates' Virdon Is Setting The Lineup

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Manager Bill Virdon was to announce later today his Pittsburgh Pirates starting lineup for Saturday's opening game against Cincinnati in the best-of-five National League playoffs, including probable starter Steve Blass.

"Apparently so," said a Pirates spokesman Thursday when asked if Blass, his right elbow injured by a line drive last Sunday, would be the Pittsburgh starter in the first of the opening two games to be played here.

Blass (19-8), who pitched two innings against St. Louis without any apparent difficulty Tuesday, was likely to go against Gary Nolan or Don Gullett for Cincinnati.

Otherwise, Virdon was expected to go with a platoon of .300 hitters—catcher Manny Sanguillen (.298), third baseman Richie Hebner (.300), centerfielder Al Oliver (.312), rightfielder Roberto Clemente (.312), leftfielder Rennie Stennett (.286), second baseman Dave Cash (.282), shortstop Gene Alley (.248) and first baseman Willie Stargell (.293).

Utilitymen Gene Clines (.334) and Vic Davalillo (.318) also were available in reserve.

Blass, a righthander and ace of the Pirates pitching staff, has a 2.48 earned run average, 117 strikeouts and 84 walks in 249 2-3 innings.

Graham Leads Field By 4

INZAIMACHI, Japan (UPI)— Australian World Cup player David Graham fired his second straight four under par 67 today in a driving rain for a four stroke lead in the second round of the world's richest golf tournament.

Graham chipped in a seven-foot shot with a seven iron for a birdie on the sixth and sank birdie putts of 15 feet on the eighth, six feet on the ninth and 10 feet on the 17th, as he parred all other holes on the 7,166-yard, par 71 Sobu Country Club course here in the $300,000 Taiheyo Club Masters Tournament.

In second place with four under par 138s were Gay Brewer and Homero Blancas. Brewer, who was tied with Graham and Al Geiberger for second place, a stroke behind Phil Rodgers in the first round, was seven under par as he birdied the 10th hole.

But Brewer bogeyed the sixth, 16th and 17th holes for a par 71. Blancas, who shot a 71 Thursday, equalled Graham's

Tam, Drake Gridders Vie Tomorrow In Mill Valley

Last week, Tamalpais and Drake high schools were brought face-to-face with the possibility of finishing in the Marin County Athletic League cellar after losing their league openers.

This week, they are brought face-to-face with each other, affording an opportunity to escape. The two teams will meet tomorrow at 1 p.m. at Tam's field in Mill Valley. A delayed radio broadcast will be heard on KTIM-FM, 100.9, at 4:40 p.m.

Tam (1-2) finished in the basement last year at 0-6 and has lost seven straight MCAL games, including a 32-16 defeat last week at the hands of San Rafael. Drake (0-3) is winless this year and dropped its league opener to San Marin, 28-19.

"It's a 'must' game for us, and I'm sure Tam feels the same way," said Drake coach Bob Franceschini, whose team has been competitive in each of its games, losing by five, six and nine points.

Both teams compiled some impressive passing statistics playing catch-up football last week. Drake's Tom MacAusland leads the league's passers in attempts (24), completions (10) and yards (221) and Tam's Dennis Morini leads the receivers in catches (six) and yards (144).

MacAusland's effectiveness may be enhanced by an injury to Tam defensive back Rodney Williams, who broke an arm against San Rafael and will be out for the year. "He's a good one," said coach Mike Davlin.

Alvin Hall, who teams with Fred Adams to form a good halfback combination, is a doubtful starter following a hairline leg fracture against San Rafael.

Tim Nowell recovered sufficiently from a shoulder separation to punt last week, but not enough to regain his quarterback job. "He's been cool out there," said Davlin of incumbent Steve Gaddis, who threw for 156 yares against San Rafael.

Drake will be healthy except for defensive back Rick Herbert, still out with what formerly was thought to be a collapsed knee, but is now diagnosed as a muscle injury.

Drake won last year's game, 25-13.

The lineups:

Football Tomorrow: Tars Host Gavilan

College of Marin's football team, victorious last week for the first time in nearly two years, will attempt to start building a winning streak tomorrow afternoon when the Tars face Gavilan College in Kentfield at 1 o'clock.

Gavilan is no kid, however. The Rams from Gilroy are ranked No. 7 among California's small junior colleges, according to the J.C. Athletic Bureau of San Mateo. They have a 2-1 record and last week defeated San Joaquin Delta of Fresno, 22-16.

Marin enters the game somewhat battered after a "real-physical game" last week against Sierra College in Rocklin. End Duke Bessee broke an ankle catching the winning touchdown pass in the 16-14 victory, and is out for the year.

"And we've got a lot of bumps and bruises," said head coach Dick Read. (Lineman) Jeff Thurston is doubtful with a bad ankle. (Guard) Chris Fenton and (tackle) Leo Fahy had the flu this week. (Linebacker) Mike Massoletti broke his nose, but he has a special cage, and he'll play."

Gavilan is "a tackle-to-tackle team," in Reed's words. "They like to run that fullback at you." At 228 pounds, fullback Rich Ushery is a true battering Ram, and tailback Bill Brooks has 9.8 speed in the 100-yard dash.

Marin enters the game with a 1-2 record. Against one mutual foe, the Tars lost to Merced College, 46-23, and Gavilan also lost to Merced, 23-14.

Dolphins Have Sack Ready For Namath

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Miami Dolphins have the sack ready for Joe Namath.

Miami, the only unbeaten team in the National Football League, dropped Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton five times last week and defensive end Vern Den Herder is preparing a similar fate for Namath when the Dolphins take on the New York Jets Sunday. Den Herder was credited with 11 tackles and two assists against the Vikings.

The Dolphins have an ideal combination working for them as they go after another American Football Conference title. In addition to Bob Griese's passing, Miami's defense has allowed only 37 points, third lowest in the league.

Namath was hampered in his aerial game against Houston by some soap-fingered receivers, who prevented him from doing better than his 18 for 39 passing statistics. The Jets quarterback is hobbled by a leg injury picked up in the game but Coach Weeb Ewbank will go with his ace passer in this early critical Eastern Division game that finds Miami a three-point favorite.

Kansas City is the only other club in sole possession of a division lead—American Football Conference West. The Chiefs are 6-point picks over Cleveland, tied with Cincinnati and Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division. Cincinnati is a 9-point choice over Denver while Pittsburgh is a 6-point underdog to Dallas.

In other Sunday action, the New York Giants are 10-point picks over New Orleans, Atlanta is a slim one-point choice over Detroit, New England is favored by 3 over Buffalo, Washington rates 16 over Philadelphia, Baltimore figures to be better by 5 over San Diego, Green Bay by 9 over Chicago, Minnesota by 14 over St. Louis and San Francisco a 4-point pick over Los Angeles.

The teams are bunched leaving the starting gate after three games. Dallas and Washington are tied for the National Football Conference's Eastern Division lead, Detroit and Green Bay share the National Football Conference Central lead and Atlanta and San Francisco are tied for first in the conference's Western Division.

Dallas, the defending National Football League champion, had a 12-game winning string snapped by Green Bay last Sunday and is anxious to start another streak. Pittsburgh, however, may just pull the upset of the week as the Steelers try to maintain their best getaway since 1964. Terry Bradshaw has keyed the Pittsburgh attack with his passing and four touchdowns by rushing.

Terra Linda's Wishbone offense has had trouble moving the ball this season, scoring only 26 points in three games. It may be able to produce more against San Marin, which yielded 262 yards to Drake last week, but Mustang coach Bob Martin thinks not.

"Drake wasn't able to sustain a drive against us," he said. "They scored on two long pass plays." Some 140 of the 262 yards came on two Tom MacAusland passes.

The lineups:

Petaluma, Rancho Play Key Games

"Crucial" is the word to describe this weekend's football for both Rancho Cotate of Rmnert Park and Petaluma high school.

Rancho Cotate, which has now won seven straight Sonoma County league games, faces Sonoma tonight on Durst Field at 7 o'clock in Petaluma in a key early season game. It is the Cougars' homecoming game. Sonoma is seeking to revenge last year's 26-0 loss to Rancho Cotate. Petaluma, which won its North Bay League opener with a last-minute touchdown against Vintage of Napa last week, will travel to Santa Rosa to play Montgomery at Bailey Field tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, and not tonight as was erroneously reported.

St. Vincent of Petaluma will host Willits at Durst Field at 8 p.m. tomorrow, while Tomales will entertain Esparto at 2 p.m. tomorrow, rather than 8 as previously reported.

Awesome Trojans Tackle Stanford

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The awesome Southern California Trojans, averaging 47 points in four runaway victories, test unbeaten and defending Pacific 8 Conference champion Stanford tomorrow in a battle of giants that could decide this year's Rose Bowl representative.

It may be a little early in the year to be talking about a New Year's Day assignment and maybe USC coach John McKay is right when he says no one will go unbeaten in the Pac 8 this year, but still Saturday's game is a very big one for both the Trojans and Cardinals.

A lot of adrenalin has been flowing in both camps week long but in the more professional betting parlors where everyone is a whole lot calmer and motivated only by past performances and other statistics, the top-ranked Trojans are solid 19 point favorites over 18th ranked Stanford.

It might seem an overlay and while the Trojans are playing it cool, perhaps remembering two consecutive losses to Stanford, down on the Farm the Cardinals are seething. It could be just the motivation they need for an upset.

How could Chris and his staff find a weakness on a team which has beaten the likes of Arkansas, Oregon State, Illinois and Michigan State and by such lopsided scores as 31-10, 51-6, 55-20 and 51-6.

Stanford crushed San Jose State, 44-0, struggled to nip Duke, 10-6, and last week exploded offensively to beat a good West Virginia team, 41-35. The final score of the third game doesn't tell the whole story. The Cardinals were ahead by 20 points going into the final quarter and then substituted freely on defense to give new men game playing time as a guard against future injuries.

While the two Giants tussle at Palo Alto, Washington, ranked ninth in the nation, hosts Oregon and is a solid 21 point favorite. It's the Huskies' and Ducks' first league venture.

Otherwise, Pac 8, teams are still involved in non-conference play with the big clash at Berkeley between Ohio State and California. The Bears are coming back, after a 34-27 loss to Missouri, against a team that once again features a ground game second to none. The Buckeyes are picked by 15 points.

UCLA, ranked 13th, hosts Arizona in a night game, favored by 30 points, while Oregon State is at Arizona State and Washington State hosts Idaho. Arizona State is favored by 23 points while there is no line on the Cougars game.

In the PCAA, action begins tonight with Long Beach State hosting Brigham Young. On Saturday, it's Pacific at Fresno State, San Jose State at San Diego State and Los Angeles State at home to the University of San Diego.

Martin isn't about to make any predictions.

"We'll let our playing tell the story," said the Tigers manager. "There are a lot of veterans on our club and in a short series there is no substitute for experience."

Neither game in Oakland will be a sellout. The best estimates call for a crowd of 25,000 on Saturday and 35,000 to 40,000 on Sunday. On Saturday the A's are in competition with college football. The Southern California-Stanford game is assured of a sellout 87,000 and the Ohio State-California tussle down the road in Berkeley should draw upwards of 50,000.

Both games here will be televised nationally as will the next three games —if necessary — from Detroit. The A's are 6 to 5 favorites to win the playoffs but Saturday's first game is even.

The day-long heavy rain and strong winds played havoc with most of the players and only six of the 84 competitors were able to turn under par scores.

Rodgers shot a three over par 37-37—74 and dropped into a fourth place tie with Graham Marsh of Australia, Dale Douglass of the United States, and Japan's Takashi Murakami with two under par 140s.

Lee Trevino, who shot a 71 Thursday, although he arrived late Wednesday night after an 18-hour plane fight, shot another 71 for a 142 total. He bogeyed the seventh hole for a one over par 36 on the front nine and birdied the 10th and 14th holes, but bogeyed the 13th for a one under par 35 on the back nine.

Trevino was irked by Japanese reporters who asked him about his prediction Thursday that he would improve his par score without practice in the first round by four or five strokes today.

"I think this question should not have been asked because of today's weather conditions," Trevino said. "Everybody was in the same situation, so I am not complaining. I am only disturbed by my score."

Trevino pointed out that Thailand's Sukree Oncham, who played with him both days, had fired a 72 Thursday but had an 82 today.

Geiberger soared to a four over par 38-37—75 for an even par 142 total, as did George Archer, who shot a three over par 74 after his three under par 68 Thursday.

"I think the rain bothered everybody today, but I was lucky I putted very well," Graham said. "I missed four greens but I made pars. I sank a 20-foot putt for par on the 14th hole where luckily my drive hit a tree and bounced back onto the fairway.

Raiders' Bob Brown To Play

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI) — Offensive tackle Bob Brown of the Oakland Raiders has a broken right hand but he'll start against the Houston Oilers Monday night.

Brown is wearing a cast on the hand he busted in Sunday's 17-17 tie with San Diego.

"I think I punched Deacon Jones in the face mask," said the 280-pound Brown.

Erving's Future In Limbo

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius Erving doesn't know what he will do about playing pro basketball.

"I haven't made a decision as to what I'll do," commented the former University of Massachusetts star after he learned the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday had upheld a district court ruling that he could play only for the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association, pending a hearing next week.

The hearing was set for Fiday, Oct. 13, one week from today.

Erving, who left college a year ago after his junior year, was a star rookie with the Squires last season. He jumped to the National Basketball Association after the season about the same time that he was picked in the NBA draft by the Milwaukee Bucks.

"I don't really have any comment," said Bill Putnam, president of the Hawks, when told of the Court of Appeals ruling. "It's just another one of those battles."

The NBA Board of Governors ruled Erving belonged to Milwaukee and the Hawks were directed not to play him in any exhibition games.

Erving did play in several exhibitions for which NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy fined the Atlanta club a total of $50,000. The Hawks have refused to pay and instead filed a $2 million antitrust suit against the NBA.

FISH AND GAME

Catching A Limit At Webber Lake

By AL GIDDINGS

Mary, my wife, and I are still at Webber Lake in the Sierra. The firehouse gang from Woodacre left with the one big buck that Clarence Nunes shot. I had described in an earlier column about serving coffee to those firemen while they were in bed. One of the boys said, "The only time that ever happened before was when the fire chief did it!"

Before leaving, Marty Medin filled me in on a spot where he had missed two bucks, so Mary and I, after giving the place a few days rest, figured those bucks just might be back. We planned a hunt around the "hot spot," and about noon, we routed a nice 3 pointer — not as big as Clarence's buck, but still a good one. As it jumped, I yelled to Mary and she connected with her first shot. She headed for the car, picking up three back packs and Judge and Tom Baty who were up to visit us. They got back to me about 4 p.m. In the meantime, I had the buck cleaned and about a mile closer to the road. When they arrived, we quartered the buck and packed it out. Tom and the judge both did their share of packing. We reached camp at 6:30 — pretty beat, but happy.

A COUPLE OF DAYS passed with everyone going home last Sunday morning in the middle of a thunder, lightning and hail storm. What a din that was!

Mary and I sat around wondering just what to do. We finally decided to give Meadow Lake a try for trout. It had been slow with the mountain temperatures too high. We drove the four-wheel drive to the lake about eight miles above Webber Lake. We drove down to the beach, putting up two forked sticks in the gravel at water's edge to hold the rods. We baited the one hook on each rod with a whole night crawler, using a small sinker on two-pound test monofilament lines. Then after strip casting out 20 yards or so, we sat in the car while it rained to beat the band.

DID THOSE fish hit? Oh brother! We landed 20 rainbows between 10 and 15 inches in about three hours while we listened to the Giants beat the Braves, 6-2.

It was a kick! Those fish would really hit, sometimes taking the rods almost into the lake. One time it was raining so hard that Mary, when she got a hit, cussed the fish: That's the way it went. She hated to leave the car's warmth.

Monday, Russ Ild of Marin and his dad, Jim, came up to stay for a couple of days. We told them about the fishing, so you know where we spent this afternoon. The fishing wasn't as good as yesterday's but we managed to land 12 beauties between us. We arrived at camp to discover that Jim had left the creel with the fish at the lake. Russ and Jim headed back to get them because those fish were our dinner.

MARY WENT to Truckee for the news and the mail. One of the clerks at the sport shop there told her about a buck weighed in that tipped the scales at 265 pounds. It had 6 points on each side, and was taken near Sage Hen Creek, which is just out of Truckee. That's some buck for California.

There are so few people in the mountains that it's hard to believe. They all come the first weekend of deer season, then leave, tired and beat; most of the time with little to show for their efforts. If you decide to come up, stay for at least two weeks. You'll enjoy every minute of it, and you will get to know a little bit of this great outdoors. I've done it every year since 1945 and it's been worth every minute.

TV Plans For Games Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company will televise virtually all of the American and National League baseball playoff games beginning Saturday.

An NBC spokesman said that the first NL playoff game, Cincinnati at Pittsburgh Saturday, would be nationally televised at 10 a.m. PDT, followed at 1 p.m. by the opening AL game between Oakland and Detroit at Oakland.

Sunday, only the Detroit at Oakland game will be televised, starting at 1 p.m.

On Monday, with the AL teams idle, game No. 3 in the NL series will be televised from Cincinnati, starting at noon.

Tuesday, the AL game at Detroit will be televised at 10:30 a.m., and if the best-of-five NL series is not yet settled, game four will be televised at noon. However, the spokesman said that only portions of the NL game would be shown until the AL game is completed, then the rest of the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game will be shown.

The same procedure will be followed Wednesday if both series have not been decided. And if a fifth AL game is needed, it will be televised at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in Detroit.

A'S PLAN FOR SERIES

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's announced yesterday that tickets for the World Series — if the A's make it through the American League playoffs — will go on sale at the Oakland Coliseum starting Friday.

Should the A's get into the World Series their home playing dates would be Oct. 17-18-19.

The A's said tickets will be sold in strip form only. That means for all three games. First deck tickets will be priced at $45, second and third deck at $30 and bleachers at $12. No personal checks will be accepted.

Dodgers Retain Manager Alston

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

LOS ANGELES — The third place Los Angeles Dodgers, who spent much of this season juggling rosters, won't be making any major changes in leadership positions for ext year.

Dodger president Peter O'Malley announced Thursday that Walt Alston will be returning for his 20th season as manager and will be bring his coaching staff with him. Alston signed a one-year contract.

Alston has led the Dodgers to four world championships, six pennants, and this year only a percentage point out of second place behind Houston. His term as Dodger manager is the longest in the history of the team.

More Baseball

SAN FRANCISCO — Despite a curtailed schedule — forced by the players' strike at the start of the season — and the lack of a stimulating pennant race in either division, the National League attracted 15,529,123 fans to its games in 1972, according to official figures announced Thursday by president Charles S. Feeney.

The New York Mets again led the way with a total paid attendance of 2,134,185. At the bottom were the San Francisco Giants and San Diego Padres with 647,744 and 644,273, respectively.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Frank Lane, baseball's legendary trader whose career spans more than half a century, was removed Thursday as director of baseball operations for the Milwaukee Brewers and named a special assignments scout.

Tennis

VIENNA — Romanians are eyeing the Davis Cup Trophy as if it were already theirs.

Agerpres, the Romanian news agency, said today "thousands of Bucharesters passed, in the course of nine hour, to see the prestigious trophy."

The trophy is on display at the Bucharest Dalles Sports Hall. It will remain there until Romania meets the United States in the Davis Cup final on Oct. 13, 14, and 15 at Bucharests's Progresul Tennis Court.

Tennis experts here predicted today an "almost certain win" for Romania in the final against the Americans.

SPORT SHORTS

Basketball

LOS ANGELES — The Golden State Warriors visit the Los Angeles Lakers here tonight in a National Basketball Association pre-season contest.

The Warriors, who had their best season ever last year with 51 victories, will be fielding veterans Nate Thurmond, Jeff Mullins and Cazzie Russell.

Surfing

Out of a 16-member Hawaiian contingent, 15 are still in the competition as the survivors among the 89 contestants get ready for today's men's quarter-finals and tomorrow's men's and women's semi-finals.

Qualifying for men's quarter-finals yesterday were Craig Wilson, Larry Bertleman, Mark Sedlak, Ben Aipa, Michael Ho, Rick Hoopi and Jeff Hakman of Hawaii; Mike Purpus, Cheer Critchlow, Larry Miniard, Dru Harrison and Dale Dobson also of the United States; Shaun Thomson and Johnathan Paarman of South Africa, Ian Cairns of Australia; Oscar Malpardeede of Peru and Ricardo Souza of Brazil.

Olympics

DENVER — Colorado voters are so confused about an Anti-Olympics question on the Nov. 7 general election ballot that there is no way to predict the outcome, a supporter of the Games said Thursday.

Hank Kimbrough, executive director of Coloradans for the 1976 Olympics, said the wording of the proposal — barring further tax expenditures on the Olympics — has created the confusion.

Kimbrough said opponents to the games must vote "yes" on the issue, while persons supporting the Olympics must vote "no."

Hockey

BOSTON — Harry Sinden, who shocked the sports world by quitting the Boston Bruins after coaching the team to the Stanley Cup championship in 1970, is returning to the National Hockey League club as managing director, a newly appointed position.

Games Approach To Squaw Valley Aides

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Officials here say they have been approached about hosting the 1976 Winter Olympics. But although they admit interest, they are not actively soliciting the games.

Hans Von Nolde, director of public relations for Squaw Valley Lodge, said Thursday a group called Citizens for Colorado's Future had contacted him about holding the Olympics here.

"They asked us if we would be interested. Of course we're interested," he said. "We'd like to help out and keep the Olympics in the United States."

But he said Squaw Valley, site of the 1960 Winter Olympics, would do nothing to take the 1976 games away from Denver, Colo., presently the scheduled host city.

"At this point I don't think it's fair to take something away from a neighboring ski resort," he said. "We have not gone out and stirred up anything."

The Environmental Protection Agency said earlier this week that Squaw Valley and Lake Placid, N. Y. should be considered as alternatives before Congress appropriates $15.5 million to help build facilities near Denver.

Also, Colorado voters are scheduled to consider a referendum Nov. 7 on whether to host the Olympics at all. If it fails, another site must be found.

Injured Oilers To Play Monday

HOUSTON (UPI) —Quarterback Dan Pastorini and running back Hoyle Granger, both injured in the Houston Oilers victory over the New York Jets, should be ready to start against the Oakland Raiders Monday night.

Pastorini suffered a bruised knee in the second quarter, but came back to complete 14 of 26 passes for 278 yards and one touchdown.

Granger, who suffered bruised ribs, carried the ball nine times for 32 yards. He also caught three passes for 30 yards.

Seals Set Start In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI)— The California Golden Seals are here, getting ready for Saturday's National Hockey League opener at Vancouver.

The Seals were 2-4-1 against NHL foes in exhibition play to rate fifth in the seven-team Western Division in pre-season figures.

But only a 9-1 loss to Philadelphia was a rout and coach-general manager Garry Young insists this year's team is a better squad than last year's.

Willard Considers Rams 'Tough' Sunday

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) —Ken Willard, who will start his first game for the San Francisco Forty Niners this season against Los Angeles, believes the Rams will be "tough as nails."

"They're going to come at us trying to knock our heads off," said Willard. "They know if they lose, they'll be pretty far down. They'll be tough as nails."

Willard has been brought along slowly this season while recovering from a knee injury suffered in August. Last season he gained 855 yards.

"The knee feels pretty solid," said the veteran fullback. "I may not be 100 per cent but not many guys are or they haven't been playing football."

San Francisco has not won a regular season game in Los Angeles since 1970. The Forty Niners are 2-1 in the National Conference West while the Rams are 1-1-1 after being humiliated 31-3 by Atlanta last week.

Orinda Golfer Fires Ace In Reno Tourney

RENO (UPI) — Cliff Seagraves, a 12-handicapper from Orinda, Calif., scored a hole-in-one Thursday in Harrah's Reno Invitational golf tournament.

Seagraves, in the last foursome on the last day of the 54-hole tourney, won a Ferrari automobile by holing out on the 147-yard third hole at Hidden Valley.

Golf Crown Is Up For Grabs

SANTA CRUZ (UPI)—It's still up for grabs moving into today's second round of the California State Open golf tourney.

Bottle Brush Wins Horse Race

SAN MATEO (UPI)—Bottle Brush ran off to an easy four and a half length triumph Thursday in the $20,000 added San Bruno Stakes at Bay Meadows to wind up the 25-day portion of the Tanforan meet.

With veteran Don Pierce in the saddle, the two-year-old Bottle Brush battled Bold Tut in the early stages of the mile and one-sixteenth test and then pulled away to win with room to spare.

The time was an excellent 1:42 2-5.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

Owner Of Zack's Purchases Litchfield's Liquor License

Irving (Whitey) Litchfield, who launched a building contracting business in San Rafael 32 years ago and then branched off into the entertainment field (Bermuda Palms) 20 years ago, is ready to go into semi-retirement.

Litchfield is selling his liquor license at Bermuda Palms on Francisco Boulevard to Sam Zakessian, owner of Zack's in Sausalito.

Bermuda Palms Motel will continue as in the past and the other buildings will be used for concerts and shows a couple of nights a week and on weekends, said Litchfield. "The main building in front is for sale or lease," he announced. "It is adaptable for business use.

"I've been active and busy all of my life and I now want to retire and relax," he explained.

Zakessian will use the liquor license for a country style French restaurant he will open next year at 1219 Bridgeway, corner of Turney Street, where Rico's was formerly located.

Zakessian plans extensive remodeling and renovation, including stone facing for the front wall and imported antiques for interior refurbishing to create the French restaurant atmosphere. He will increase seating from 64 to 80 seats. "It will take five or six months to remodel," said Zakessian. "It won't be open until April or May of next year."

VILLAGE FLORIST at 117 Town and Country Village (Strawberry Shopping Center) will be sold next Tuesday to veteran San Anselmo florist, Edna Maggi, who was in the business for 37 years before her retirement last June.

"I retired but I'd been in the business so long that I just couldn't stay away," said Mrs. Maggi. She owned Maggi Flowers, first in San Francisco, and then in San Anselmo since 1941. For the past three years, she had the shop at Redhill Shopping Center which she closed in June.

The Village Florist is open 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. six days a week. It has fresh and cut flowers, dried arrangements, corsages, dish gardens, terrariums, and flowers for all occasions.

Mrs. Maggi bought the Village Florist from Robert W. Dean, Leon B. Alvey and Miss Joeen M. Arnone, all of Greenbrae, who had the shop for one year. Alvey managed Village Florist for about eight years before he and his partners bought it last October.

They now plan to go back into the restaurant business. Alvey, Dean and Miss Arnone owned Redwood Restaurant in Mill Valley until they sold it last month. "I'm not sure where we'll open the restaurant," said Alvey. "We're looking around for a suitable place."

Ongaro Daniel

ERNEST ONGARO, who founded Ongaro plumbing in Marin 40 years ago, has retired from the business at age 65. Ernest Ongaro and Sons Inc. is now operated by his three sons, Donald of Fairfax, Ernest Jr. of San Anselmo, and Richard of Woodacre.

Joining Ongaro Sr. in retirement is Willie Daniel, 67, of Sausalito, a laborer who worked for Ongaro for 27 years. The two were honored at a retirement dinner held on Sept. 29. Ongaro grew up in Fairfax, worked on farms since age 8, learned the plumbing trade in San Francisco, and opened his own shop in Fairfax in 1932. In 1939 he moved the firm to its present location at 243 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo. The firm now handles plumbing, heating, sheet metal, air conditioning, and some appliances.

Ongaro Sr. and his wife, Anita, live in San Rafael. He described Daniel as one of his most faithful and dependable employees. Daniel spent his boyhood on farms in Louisiana and came to Marinship yards in Sausalito to work as a boilermaker in 1943. When Marinship closed in 1945, Daniel went to work for Ongaro.

RALPH B. PRIESTLEY, long-time Marin architect associated with Carl F. Gromme in San Rafael, now owns and operates TuTuTun Lodge on the Rogue River, seven miles upstream from Gold Beach, Ore.

A luxury fishing and vacation lodge, it was designed by Priestly and operates on the American Plan, with basket breakfasts and lunches available for dedicated fishermen. He is closed from Dec. 1 through March 31. Priestley reports a steady stream of customers from Marin County. The TuTuTun name comes from the Indians who first inhabited the banks of the river where the lodge now stands.

GRUBB & ELLIS Co. has moved its Tiburon office into larger quarters. The office, which was in the lobby of the Tiburon Lodge for the past four years, has moved next door into a new addition built by Fred Zelinsky, at 1647 Tiburon Boulevard.

The new facilities more than double the space, allowing for an increase in the sales staff. The Tiburon staff members are Dan Hart (branch manager), Kent Allen, William Austin, Barbara Egoian, Bari Frohlich, Brooke Halsey and Judith Kautz.

JOHN W. KABAKER of San Anselmo has been appointed a vice president of Albert M. Bender Co., San Francisco insurance brokers. Kabaker began his insurance career in 1964 and has had both insurance company and insurance brokerage experience. He is active in Marin YMCA and San Anselmo P-TA.

Albert M. Bender Co. Inc., established in 1881, specializes in commercial accounts, employee benefit, estate planning and pension programs.

ROBERT T. GREIGG of Novato was elected president of the architectural and engineering planning firm of Benham-Blair & Affiliates of California Inc. He replaced Robert W. Kite, who left to enter private architectural and planning practice.

A retired colonel, Greigg joined Benham-Blair after 30 years of design, engineering and construction experience in the U.S. Air Force and the Army Corps of Engineers. Benham-Blair & Affiliates, formerly known as Benham-Kite Associates, is based in Century, City, Los Angeles County.

ALDO J. CROVO of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant auditor, San Francisco audit department of United California Bank.

He joined United California Bank in 1955 as an inspector in the auditing department and was appointed to assistant cashier in the San Rafael office in 1958.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Accept The Profit On Gulf Oil Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I can still make a profit if I sell my 150 shares of Gulf Oil (NYSE) now. What do you advise? — W.S.

A. By all means accept the profit now available in these shares. Three quarters of declining profits have reflected, among other things, pressures on Eastern hemisphere operations. Politically motivated production curtailments by the Kuwait government, a reduction in price for crude oil sold to the Royal Dutch/Shell Group and lower European prices on refined products have been the major causes of the squeeze on profits. Prospects for 1973 are uncertain in view of the Kuwait situation and declining production in the U.S.

Q. I am employed by a division of Reliance Electric and am participating in the stock purchase plan. Should I continue with this in spite of the poor dividends? — J.C.

A. New York Stock Exchange-listed Reliance manufactures automation systems and equipment for industry. As a supplier of capital goods, the company's outlook is enhanced by the reinstated investment tax credit on such equipment and the improved business climate. To be sure industry has been in no hurry to take advantage of the tax credit as yet, an upturn in orders is probable before the year end. Longer term, the gradually accelerating trend toward full automation enhances the company's prospects.

Sharp Fall In Light Turnover

Volume in the first two hours came to around 5.8 million shares.

Stock market observers looked upon the decline as an indication of changing trends among traditional market leaders. Those issues with high price-earnings multiples have fallen into disfavor, analysts said. Reports from London concerning alleged broad settlement of the Vietnam war were denied by the North Vietnamese and were said to be "speculative" by White House sources. The report appeared in the London Times. The market generally responds to any news concerning the conflict.

Levitz Furniture was the most active stock and was off 1-2 to 23 5-8 on 146,900 shares.

Prices also were lower in light trading on the American Stock Exchange. Overseas Shipholding Group was the most active stock, down 1 1-4 to 22 34 on 62,400 shares.

On the Big Board, steels were lower in fractions while rails moved up. Missouri Pacific was 7-8 higher and Burlington Northern picked up 1-4.

Chemicals were generally soft but Eastman Kodak, a big loser Thursday, managed a 7-8 gain. Dow lost 3-4, Dupont 5-8.

General Motors dropped 3-4, Ford 1-2. Jersey Standard fell 1, Superior 1 1-2 and Kerr McGee 1 1-4. Natomas was up 1.

Airlines and aircrafts generally were easier. Northwest Airlines lost 1, Delta 1 1-4.

New York Shows Marinite's Film

By JEFF GREER

A young Fairfax man who spends his days working in the Sausalito Post Office and his evenings and weekends creating motion pictures, has suddenly vaulted into the big-time of the experimental film world.

Robert Brennan's first completed film, "An American Liaison," was shown Saturday at the New York International Film Festival in the Lincoln Center.

Brennan, 24, said seven months of effort and frustration, some $1,200 and the cooperation of three young Marin actors went into the film, a 16 millimeter, color production with a sound track.

"An American Liaison" is a far cry from a slick big-budget Hollywood production made with large crews, many cameras and much coordination. Brennan owns one camera. He was his own "grip" (studio laborer), light man, cameraman, director, film editor and everything — assisted by his actors, John McDill of Kentfield, Karen Cuneo of Fairfax and Jack Sanderson of Woodacre. The three have been seen in Marin County stage productions.

Where Hollywood studios use special techniques to control the light (Brennan's story concerned a commuter's drive to the city at dawn) the Marin producer had to tailor his shooting schedule to the sunrise hour which kept changing as the weeks wore on.

Both Hollywood and Brennan sometimes must postpone shooting dates because stars had other commitments. But Hollywood doesn't have scenes involving a rented car delayed in reshooting because the same type of car may not be available again for weeks.

Brennan had to convert the dining room of his home at 165 Bolinas Road into his film editing shop. There he also worked out the soundtrack, blending sounds occuring while the film was being shot in Marin and San Francisco with pop records and special sound effects.

Brennan said he doesn't want to go to Hollywood. Instead, "I'm hoping that my film's showing in New York will attract some backer's attention so I can produce some other ideas. I want to make some more short films to develop my own style."

He's working on a film "using all abstract image" based on Marin's shorelines.

Short experimental films are to the feature length movie as a poem is to a novel, Brennan explained. The producer must use his few minutes of film to "create one image, leave you with a single thought" while the feature length film or a novel "will take you way out" through an involved story line.

The young bachelor producer said he was interested in drama since high school days, but decided to concentrate on filmmaking about two years ago. He started with a fancy amateur home movie camera "with all the buttons and gadgets" but abandoned it because serious films are all in 16 or 35 millimeter format.

A native of the Philadelphia area, Brennan settled in Marin after military service six years ago, to begin preparing for some sort of theatrical career.

Brennan studied drama at the College of Marin "so I could learn about actors and staging." He reads voraciously what other filmmakers say of of their art, and studies painters such as Andrew Wyeth to learn how they translate what they see into an image for others' eyes.

He said he's gearing himself for a future that sounds like science fiction — the day when every home will have wall-sized television screens. Home viewers will be able to buy videotape cassettes much as they now buy audio tapes or records, he said.

There will be a demand for films such as his coupling pictures and sounds ("a synthesis with an abstract relationship") that will provide "a mood or a setting for the home as background music records do now," he said.

Growing Interest

EAST LANSING, Mich. ((UPI) — Mounting student interest in law enforcement and related careers has made Michigan State University's school of criminal justice the fastest growing academic program on campus. Enrollment has nearly doubled from 620 students to 1,086 in the past 18 months.

Porsche Owners To Get Refunds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Volkswagen of America, Inc., has agreed to refund about $200 to each of 1,247 persons who purchased Porsche 911 model cars in the United States between January and March.

The Price Commission said Thursday the agreement is part of a price reduction plan submitted by the company. The commission ordered the plan after determining the company marked up its selling price higher than allowed under federal price control regulations.

The refund will total $250,809.61.

Demo HQ-Bug Lawyers Ask Clarification On Gag Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Democratic lawyers asked a federal judge today to clarify his order restricting comment in the Watergate bugging case, and said they would continue talking about the affair unless specifically told to stop.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign chairman, said, "We are going to continue what we have been doing ... to discuss all aspects of the case." McGovern had said immediately after issuance of the order Wednesday that he would not stop discussing the case.

O'Brien said the order handed down by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica —banning public comment by anyone directly concerned with the case —was a "gag rule" that violated the Constitution.

"These tactics are approaching the totalitarian," he told a news conference. "They indicate clearly that the administration has something it desperately wants to hide until the elections are over. I shall not tolerate —and the American people should not be expected to tolerate —these dictatorial tactics."

O'Brien said lawyers would pursue the question to the Supreme Court if necessary.

• In a letter to Sirica, the Demo$lv47$vising all Democrats involved in cratic National Committee's chief lawyer, Joseph A. Califano Jr., said he and other lawyers for the party were advising all Democras involved in the case to proceed on the assumption that Sirica's order did not apply to them. He asked the judge to state if that was not the case.

The Los Angeles Times said there were indications that Sirica's order was an attempt to prevent it from publishing an account of the Watergate incident by one of the participants.

The Times published Thursday a lengthy story based on an interview with Alfred C. Baldwin III, who has said he transcribed conversations from bugging equipment placed in Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate building.

The Times published an even longer account of Baldwin's story today, under his name. The Washington Post at the same time published a story saying Baldwin had told FBI investigators that memos based on the bugged conversations were addressed to William E. Timmons, a presidential assistant.

The Post said Baldwin also had said Robert C. Odle Jr., a former White House aide now with the Committee for the Reelection of the President, and J. Glenn Sedam Jr., general counsel of the committee, were among others on the list to receive them.

Jean Westwood, Democralic Party national chairwoman, said that like the party's presidential nominee, McGovern, she would refuse to obey the gag order.

She said the interview published by the Times Thursday challenged the credibility of President Nixon in denying that he or his chief lieutenants were connected with the bugging of Democratic party headquarters in Washington.

Froehlke Hopeful Draft Will End

ATLANTA (UPI)—Secretary of the Army Robert H. Froehlke said Thursday it is hopeful that the draft will end by July 1, 1973, but that he "can't categorically say" the United States can begin using an all-volunteer army by then.

To achieve the goal of an all-volunteer Army, Froehlke said, the Army will need the support of the American public. "The Army deserves the support from the public but I know it's not getting the support, especially from the young people," he said.

A Depressing Search For Work

RICHARD A. HARRIS
"All the handicapped are asking for is help.

By NELS JOHNSON

On a sunny day in January, 1969, a land mine exploded near the Mekong Delta tidelands in war-torn Vietnam. The blast left one American dead and three wounded.

Among the wounded was Cpl. Richard A. Harris of Terra Linda. Shrapnel had blown away a six-inch section of his leg.

After 18 months of hospitalization and rehabilitation, Harris began looking for a job. Although he's held several posts for brief periods, he'd had no luck in finding permanent work.

"I've put in applications left and right, but get no answers," he said. "As soon as you tell an employer you've got a missing leg, it's 'Don't call us, we'll call you.'"

"It gets pretty depressing," said the 25-year-old Harris of his fruitless year-long search for work.

Harris said he could do "just about anything" an employer could offer, adding that he's taken up scuba and sky diving since his leg was amputated.

"My only limitation is that I can't run or sit for prolonged periods," he said. Harris logged six months of clerical and heavy equipment operation experience with the federal Bureau of Land Management before he was drafted in 1968, but has found that "with a missing leg, it just doesn't matter."

"When I see a big 'cat' or 'belly dumper' (construction equipment) my heart goes out for it. But I can't get the job. It breaks my heart," he said.

"No one wants to hold out a hand to the veteran - especially the handicapped veteran," he said.

Harris said he has dozens of handicapped friends who have experienced the same difficulty in finding work.

Discouraged but no less determined, Harris recently registered with the California Department of Human Resources office in San Rafael. On the waiting list in the office are 475 jobless Vietnam veterans, including 44 handicapped veterans. There are also 363 veterans of other wars on file, 32 of whom are handicapped in some way, according to Robert Beebe, veteran employment representative.

Beebe said his office registered 98 job seeking veterans last month, and found work for 33.

"Most employers are interested in hiring veterans, and sympathize with the handicapped, but rarely hire them," he said. Beebe said that a government program is available that pays an employer for up to half of a veteran's salary during the initial training period.

Harris has high hopes that the office will be able to place him in permanent work, but meanwhile says he is losing sleep over the lack of a job. "I've lost weight. I go days without eating. Sometimes I can't sleep," he said.

Harris said the government pays him $280 a month for his disability, and added that his wife - whom he met while in the hospital - has a job in San Francisco. "But we can barely make ends meet," he said.

The couple lives at 155 Nova Albion Way, Terra Linda.

"All the handicapped are asking for is help. Lord knows they need it," he said. "We're bright young people willing to work."
